GERMANS REACH VERSAILLES, TREATY TO BE SIGNED TODAY; WILSON SAILS FOR HOME TOMORROW TO FIGHT FOR LEAGUE; OPPOSES ALL RESERVATIONS AND THE FALL RESOLUTION

PROHIBITION ACT PROBABLY HELD UP UNTIL JULY 7

WILSON IS DUE HERE THEN

REPEAL POWER QUESTIONED

Representative Hoch, in House, Says President Has No Right to Act.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON June 27.—Action by the House on wartime and national prohibition enforcement legislation will probably be delayed until Monday, July 7, following the return of members of Congress who will be away from Washington over the Fourth of July.

Chairman Andrew J. Volstead of the House Judiciary Committee today reported the text of the enforcement bill as agreed upon by that committee yesterday, with certain minor amendments adopted at another session of the committee today. He has also asked the Rules Committee for a special rule to bring up the bill for consideration on Monday or Tuesday of next week, but it seemed probable tonight that no such rule would be granted prior to July 4.

Strong pressure has been brought to bear by members desirous of going away over the Fourth against consideration of the enforcement legislation until July 7. By that time President Wilson will also probably be in Washington and will probably have indicated whether he intends to take any steps toward halting the enforcement of wartime prohibition on July 1, either by nullifying the act because of the signing of the Peace Treaty or by announcing that he will lift the ban by Aug. 1, when demobilization will almost have been completed, or whether he will take no action.

Despite the absence of any announcement from the White House regarding the President's attitude, there continued to be apparent among the wet leaders at the Capitol today a feeling that the President would soon declare mobilization ended and indicate a belief that there was no longer a need for wartime prohibition.

The legislative situation, demanding the passage of the conference reports on appropriation measures by July 1, makes it almost impossible to take up the prohibition measure and dispose of it in the two calendar days remaining before July 1, when wartime prohibition becomes effective. Many members are scheduled to make speeches out of the city on Independence Day, and a great exodus of Congressmen is expected after Monday. Because of this and the fact that the Judiciary Committee saw fit to place not only legislation to enforce wartime prohibition but also national prohibition in one bill, it is not thought that it will be possible to obtain the consent of the Rules Committee for right of way for the Volstead bill until the Monday immediately following the Fourth.

Liberal members of the House, pledged to prohibition legislation, have made their position plain to the dry leaders—that they do not care to consent to hasty consideration of so important a measure while so many members are absent, since the drastic features necessary for the enforcement of national prohibition, and which do not apply to the enforcement of wartime prohibition, have been carried in the same bill. They have informed Representative Volstead that they favor prompt consideration of wartime prohibition legislation and urged the reporting of the enforcement legislation in two separate bills.

Acting on the suggestions made to him last night, Chairman Volstead introduced a separate bill for the enforcement of wartime prohibition, but the Judiciary Committee today decided by the overwhelming vote of 17 to 2 against separating wartime enforcement from Constitutional enforcement. The bill introduced yesterday was slightly amended today by inserting between Sections 38 and 39 a new section, which will be called Section 39, which will permit the manufacture of near-beer with more than one-half of 1 per cent. of alcohol, provided the excess over one-half of 1 per cent. is sweated out of the product before it is put on the market. This new section reads:

"Section 39. A manufacturer of any beverage containing less than one-half of 1 per centum of alcohol by volume may, on making application and giving such bond as the Commissioner shall prescribe, be given a permit to develop in the manufacture thereof a liquid containing more than one-half of 1 per cent. of alcohol by volume, but before any

Won't Await Senate Action Before Lifting Blockade

LONDON, June 27.—According to a statement made in authoritative quarters, the blockade of Germany will not be lifted until the powers concerned have ratified the Peace Treaty.

It is understood, however, that owing to the delay of ratification inevitable in America, the powers have agreed that President Wilson's signature shall be regarded as ratification, pending that of the American Congress.

PLANNED NEGRO UPRISING

Evidence Before Lusk Committee Shows Reds Prepared to Meet Militia.

It was learned last night that Attorney General Charles D. Newton has begun legal steps to have the charter under which the Rand School of Social Science has been operating revoked. The Rand School was raided a week ago by agents of the legislative committee investigating seditious activities and propaganda.

The announcement was made after there had been produced before the committee at its hearing in the City Hall yesterday documentary evidence out of the great mass seized in the raid, sufficient to show that this institution had been teaching armed preparedness "to meet the militia" in the event that the social revolution, which it has been frankly advocating, should be accompanied by violence.

The Rand School has no charter of its own. It has been carrying on its propaganda under a charter, obtained on Sept. 23, 1901, in the Supreme Court for the American Socialist Society. The charter was issued by Justice James A. O'Gorman, who later left the bench to become a United States Senator. The incorporators were: Leonard D. Abbott, William Mailly, Professor George D. Herron, Carrie Rand Herron, Henry Slobodin, Algernon Lee, Job Harriman, Morris Hillquit, and Benjamin Hanford. The school was founded by and took its name from Mrs. Carrie Rand Herron, wife of Professor Herron.

Some testimony was introduced connecting the Rand School with the dissemination of printed matter which when read into the record was referred by Senator Clayton R. Lusk to the District Attorney for action. Attorney General Newton then asked that a subpoena duces tecum be issued calling on the United States District Attorney's office to produce the record showing the conviction of the American Socialist Society in the Federal courts for the circulation of Professor Scott Nearing's pamphlet, "The Great Madness." The record of this conviction was later produced and made part of the record. It showed that the American Socialist Society had been fined $3,000 and that the case has been appealed.

Deputy Attorney General Samuel A. Berger later in the day obtained from United States District Attorney Caffey the minutes of the trial with a view to determining the form of procedure to be used in having the charter of the society revoked. It is understood that

DR. WILKINS GUILTY OF FIRST DEGREE MURDER, MUST DIE

VERDICT STUNS PRISONER

JURY OUT FOR 22 HOURS

First Ballot Six to Five for Conviction—One Man Held His Ground Alone for Seven Hours.

Special to The New York Times.

MINEOLA, L. I., June 27.—Dr. Walter Keene Wilkins was found guilty of murder in the first degree at 3:34 o'clock this afternoon after the jury had deliberated for twenty-two hours and sixteen minutes on the evidence which finally satisfied them that he had beaten his aged wife to death at their home in Long Beach on Feb. 27 of this year.

The defendant appeared cool and collected while the jurors filed in and took their seats, although the expressions on the faces of the twelve men convinced all in the courtroom that they had decided upon conviction. Dr. Wilkins kept his composure when the foreman, Oscar W. Paries, said that they found the defendant guilty as charged. Paries hesitated for a moment, while the courtroom was in profound silence, and then added that the jury had decided also to ask for clemency.

"It pains me that I cannot comply with your request for clemency," said Justice Manning. "A verdict of first degree murder carries no other penalty than death. The only clemency that can come must be granted by the Governor."

Dr. Wilkins answered calmly the questions of the clerk, who took his pedigree. He said he was 67 years old and an Episcopalian. After other questions had been answered, he sat down heavily, but a few minutes later left the courtroom with a steady step.

Discussion of all phases of the case, which continued all through night, this morning, and well into the afternoon, brought the verdict of guilty from a jury which in the beginning was very nearly evenly divided. Jurors said afterwards that on the first ballot six jurors voted for conviction and five for acquittal, while one ballot was blank. This first ballot was taken approximately twenty hours before the verdict was brought in, and those twenty hours were spent, except for one interruption, in debating the case in the jury room. This interruption occurred when, to settle arguments that had arisen, the twelve men went back to Justice Manning shortly before midnight and had read to them the testimony of Dr. Wilkins before the Coroner, and the instructions of Justice Manning on circumstantial evidence.

One Juror Holds Out.

The reference to the record of the case fortified the position of the jurors who were for conviction, and by 5 o'clock this morning they had won four more jurors to their side. The jury then stood ten to two for conviction. Another juror was won over a little later on the four-

Non-Partisan League Vote Shows Loss, but Radical Laws Are Probably Approved

Special to The New York Times.

FARGO, N. D., June 27.—The Non-Partisan League, as a result of yesterday's referendum, is not so firmly intrenched in North Dakota as it has been. Its indicated majority on the laws that were voted on yesterday is far less than that obtained by the League last November when its candidate for Governor had a margin of 17,000. Returns from 1,306 precincts out 2,856 show 32,262 affirmative votes and 35,628 negative.

The most significant development of the election was the vote in Morton, Emmons, Logan, McIntosh, and Burleigh Counties, in which the group of insurgent State officials centred their activity. All of these counties, except Burleigh, went against the league, and in Burleigh the League suffered a loss of 200.

Throughout the Red River Valley, where the farmers are prosperous, the league has lost heavily, but it retained its strength in the northwestern section of the State, where the farmers have had four successive crop failures.

In connection with the turnover of the vote in Emmons, Logan, McIntosh, Morton, and Stutsman County, another that has swung into the opposition column, it is significant that German voters predominate. Last June, in the State primary, and last November, in the general election, they were nearly a unit in favor of the Non-Partisan Leageu program and candidates.

Yesterday's elections will decide for or against the State system of terminal elevators and flour mills, and upon the operation of a State bank. Seventeen million dollars in State bonds for that purpose is proposed, and the whole administrative machinery is ready to be placed in operation immediately. Five million dollars of the seventeen million authorized would be available for financing the terminal elevator and flour mill system; two million for capitalizing the State bank, and ten million for financing farm credits.

The five other laws voted on yesterday change the system of administering the educational systems; create a new system of taxation administration; create a new system of judicial districts; make an appropriation for immigration purposes, and govern publication of legal notices in newspapers.

The vote is not complete enough yet to indicate just what the final vote will be on each of the seven referred laws. The industrial laws, however, have been accorded a heavier vote than the five measures relating to State administrative matters, which also were referred. There is a possibility that the so-called newspaper and educational laws have been defeated.

COPENHAGEN, June 27.—The situation in Hamburg seems less serious to this extent that the Government troops are proceeding to occupy the Central Station and other public buildings seized by the Spartacides.

The Government troops arrived rather sooner than had been expected, and those detachments which have already entered the city did so without encountering any serious opposition. A proclamation is to be issued warning the people to keep off the streets, as it is expected that further fighting will ensue when an attempt is made to disarm the rebels.

What the relative strength of the opposing "armies" is it is impossible to say, but the Hamburg correspondent of the Berlingske Tidende says that there is still extreme tension in the city.

Things look rather bad in Berlin, too. Railway traffic in the city is practically at a standstill, owing to the wage strike among the operatives, and there is the ever present danger of this local movement becoming general throughout the country.

Minister of Defense Noske has issued a proclamation to the effect that the country's resources will be used to the utmost to prevent any spread of the outbreaks, as the Government considers these movements purely political. Noske appears to be losing influence exactly in those quarters which such a proclamation is intended to impress, as it is now being held generally that he is falling more and more under the influence of the agents of militarism.

Fruitless negotiations between the Prussian Home Office and the railway men's representatives have led to the statement that the Prussian State railways already show a large deficit, and therefore any increase of wages must be out of the question.

A house inspection carried out against several workers' officials revealed the existence of some half a million pamphlets signed by Spartacide organizations calling for a general strike and the overthrow of the Government. Several officials were arrested, but later were set free, as it was found they were not responsible for the existence of the pamphlets. This morning, however, a large number of arrests is being effected in and around Berlin.

BERLIN, June 26.—I learn from the Ministry of Defense here that the German Government intends to proceed with all the necessary force and severity against the Hamburg insurgents.

Upon the entry of the Government troops into the city all persons found carrying arms and not entitled to do so will be summarily dealt with by court-martial. Forty thousand Government troops are now on the outskirts of the city.

Last night the rowdy elements which were at large in Hamburg did much damage and created alarm everywhere. The police and People's Defense Corps are now trying to lay by the heels all those prisoners whom the enthusiastic insurgents had released from jail, for, no doubt, those rowdies were keeping up a carnival of disorder.

Though yesterday my correspondent wired me from Hamburg that the Commission of Twelve thought they were safely installed in the saddle, it is rather another story today. The city had a very disturbed night, and in order to prevent a repetition the commission, to which had been given the duty of arming the proletariat, was changed into a disarming committee. Then the Hamburg Senate appeared on the scene, and claimed that it still had at least the power of sharing in the discussions. The Commission of Twelve agreed, for had not the People's Defense Corps some time earlier proclaimed that they would not, under any circumstances, fight against the Government troops?

So it was thought well to begin re-

PARIS, June 27, (Associated Press.)—The stay of President Wilson in Paris will end tomorrow when he starts howeward following the signing of the Peace Treaty. Arrangements for his departure have been completed, and his special train will leave at 9:30 P. M.. It will arrive at Brest Sunday morning, when the President will board the steamship George Washington, which sails about noon.

PARIS, June 27.—President Wilson is returning to America full of hope for the future of the world—hope born of the treaty of peace with Germany which, according to all expectations will be signed by the allied and enemy plenipotentiaries tomorrow afternoon.

The President feels that it is to be a good peace—a peace based on justice and right. If it seems severe on Germany to some they should keep in mind that Germany, like the individual criminal, had no right to expect to escape the consequence of her crimes, which in the case of an individual offender is punished by law to the extreme of forfeiture of his life.

These are the ideas that are in the President's mind in the closing hours of the most important international gathering in history. He is returning home with the intention of making a report of his stewardship to the American people and to that end will start as soon as possible on a nation-wide tour so as to be able to see and talk to as many of his fellow-countrymen as the time at his disposal will permit.

He believes that the German treaty was negotiated among the allied peacemakers in a liberal spirit and seems filled with confidence that the American people will approve its terms in the assurance that whatever its imperfections may appear to be, it was the best that could be devised under all the circumstances of international and national complications and embarrassments.

President Wilson intends that his swing around the circle, which he expects to take him to the Pacific Coast, shall be free from any semblance of political purpose—political in a partisan sense. He regards the tour as educational—designed, according to the view he is understood to hold, to tell the people what he did in Paris and what was accomplished there by those entrusted with the gigantic task of rearranging the affairs of the world.

Of course his great interest is in the League of Nations, and it is within the limits of propriety to say that he regards the league covenant as so bound up in the treaty itself that any change in the covenant would not merely endanger the success of this constitution of the world peace but also the treaty itself.

Strongly Opposed to Changes.

There seems to be no doubt that the President is convinced that if any change whatever was made in the treaty or the covenant by the United States Senate, even in the form of reservations such as those proposed by ex-Senator Root, the Unitde States would remain out of the league for an indefinite period and for this period be constructively, at least, at war with Germany.

Adoption of Senator Falls' resolution, the President, it is understood, would regard as a national disgrace. He feels too deeply on this whole subject of the efforts of the Senate to amend th treaty or the covenant or to separate one from the other or to

Chinese Will Not Sign Peace Treaty Today; Private Assurances on Shantung Inadequate

PARIS, June 27, (Associated Press.)—The Chinese delegation announced tonight that China would not sign the Peace Treaty with Germany because China would not be allowed to make reservations concerning the Province of Shantung, and the privilege had been refused her of making a declaration at the time of the signing of the treaty.

The Chinese delegates have been making efforts in the last few days to secure the consent of the council to insert in the treaty their reservations concerning the settlement of the Kiao-Chau and Shantung questions.

M. Pichon, the French Foreign Minister, informed them yesterday in behalf of the council that this would not be allowed. The delegation then requested that an opportunity be given them to make a declaration on the signing of the treaty. Refusal of this request was announced to them this afternoon, whereupon the delegation declared that if the Chinese delegates refused to sign the treaty the responsibility would rest upon the council.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Until very recently it was thought possible here that China might sign the treaty in view of private assurances, said to have been given to her representatives, that Japan's tenure of Shantung would not be long. China, it also had been believed, would probably assent to the treaty and leave the Shantung question to be worked out by the League.

The Chinese decision is believed here to be based on these points:

First—That the delegation was unable to obtain definite assurances that Japan would give up the Shantung Province within a short time, and that the Japanese tenure would not be permitted to run for the remainder of the ninety-nine-year period under which Germany held the territory.

Second—That assurances were lacking that Japan would relinquish control of the railroad from Tsing Tao to Tsin Auru, the Tsing Tao-Shanghai-Chefoo cables, and facilities at the port of Kiao-Chau.

Failure of China to sign the treaty, officials say, will probably exclude her from the League of Nations, including certain rights of redress under that covenant, as well as work to her detriment in the resumption of trade.

HITCHCOCK SURE TREATY WILL WIN

Predicts That Senate Opponents Will Not Muster More Than 16 Votes.

REPUBLICANS ARE AT ODDS

Borah-Johnson Group Angered by Hays — Root's Adherents Hint at Coup in Their Favor.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock of Nebraska, Administration spokesman in the Senate on the League of Nations, today confidently asserted that every effort to attach amendments or reservations to the treaty would fail, and that not more than fifteen Republican Senators would vote against the ratification of the treaty with the League covenant included in it.

While Senator Hitchcock in making this prediction was calling attention to the discord in the ranks of League opponents, and comparing Senator Lodge, the Republican leader, to "a hen with a brood of chickens," force was given his words by the statement of Senators of the Borah-Johnson group that they had notified Senator Lodge "in the plainest language possible to use" that they resented the presence of Will H. Hays, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, at the Capital in an effort to harmonize Republicans.

Mr. Hitchcock opened his discussion of the Senate situation by repelling with great emphasis a suggestion, heard today in Senate corridors, that a compromise might be accepted by the supporters of the League to prevent its absolute rejection.

"No compromise whatever is possible on the League of Nations," said the Senator. "The Democrats will not consent to any proposal of that kind. It has become perfectly apparent that the Republicans will accomplish nothing by their opposition. They will go up and down the fence trying to pull off the pickets, but will be unable to remove any of them. They canot obtain a majority for the Knox resolution, the Fall resolution, the Sherman resolution or the reservations of Mr. Root. These will be voted down by Democrats, with substantial assistance from Republicans. It is certain there will be more than two Republicans who will aid us in accomplishing this result.

"When all efforts at amendment or reservation have failed, the question will then be 'yes' or 'no' on ratification, and the treaty will be ratified. In my opinion not more than fifteen Republicans and one Democrat will vote against ratification.

"The Democrats are solid. I never saw them so enthusiastic about anything. There is no division of counsel on our side.

"The opposition is evidently disturbed by the division of counsel. Senator Lodge has announced that he favored the Knox resolution, but that he was going to lay it aside for the present.

Dispatches from the chief German cities received here, and also letters from business firms, say that there has been a revival in Germany in favor of William. ## TREATY SIGNING AT 3 P. M.

Momentous Event Fixed on Word of the Germans' Departure.

LEAVE BERLIN SECRETLY

ALL ARRANGEMENTS MADE

Foch to Witness Ceremony as a Member of the French Delegation.

PARIS, June 27, (Associated Press.) —Dr. Hermann Müller and Dr. Bell, the German plenipotentiaries to sign the Peace Treaty, arrived at Versailles this evening.

Paul Dutasta, Secretary of the Peace Conference, went to Versailles at 8:30 o'clock this evening to submit to the German delegates a letter from Premier Clemenceau, President of the Peace Congress, certifying that the treaty to be submitted to the Germans for signature tomorrow conformed in all points to the text of the document submitted June 16.

Plans were completed by the Council of Four today for the signing of the treaty at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. No official statement, however, was issued by the Council.

Those holding tickets of admission to the ceremony in the Hall of Mirrors have been notified that they must be provided with identification papers. Each ticket must carry the photograph of the person to be admitted. Ticket holders are requested to be at the Palace by 2 o'clock

Italy will be represented in the signing of the treaty by Baron Sonnino, Marquis Imperiali di Francavilla, and Dr. Silvio Crespi. The new Italian Peace Conference delegation, headed by Foreign Minister Tittoni, will not arrive in Paris until Sunday morning.

President Poincaré, who had failed to get a ticket of admission to the Hall of Mirrors to witness the signing, has received several cards for tomorrow's ceremony, It is reported that the cards will be distributed to some former Premiers who were in office during the war and were overlooked by the Government.

The Temps says that MM. Briand, Ribot, Viviani, and Painlevé, former Premiers, will be present at the ceremony, but not as guests of the Government.

Marshal Foch, not being a delegate to the conference, will not sign the treaty, but he will attend the ceremonies Saturday, being seated with the French delegation.

The original of the treaty which will be signed by all the plenipotentiaries will be on Japan parchment, according to L'Intransigeant. It will cost 15,000 francs to prepare the document.

COBLENZ, June 27.—According to advices received by the American authorities here Foreign Secretary Müller and Colonial Secretary Bell left Berlin for Versailles in the greatest secrecy on a special train, fearing an attempt on their lives.

A Berlin dispatch to the Coblenz newspapers says that the German delegates know that they are to sign the treaty Saturday afternoon.

BERLIN, June 25.—I learn that the German Government, on receiving the Entente's reply early Sunday morning notifying it of the rejection of the German proposal to agree to sign the Peace Treaty with two reservations, made a final appeal to the army authorities to see if it was in their power to "save the situation."

General Gröner, Chief of the General Staff, was telephoned to by President Ebert, who told him that the Majority Socialist and Centrist Parties were likely to be in favor of the unconditional signing of the treaty. The President asked Gröner what would be the attitude of the troops in that event, and said that after statements by General Lüttwitz, commanding the National Defense Corps, and other high officers he feared untoward happenings.

In reply, General Gröner said that he spoke not as a responsible officer, but as a German, and declared that he regarded a fight in the east to be doomed to failure. He insisted that Noske should issue a statement to the army pointing out that unconditional signature was necessary to save the Fatherland, and that it was the duty of all officers and men to remain at their posts and perform their patriotic duty. Only that, he said, could save the situation and prevent war in the east.

As already known, Noske did so. Appeals were issued to the military and naval forces, and though the trouble in the army may not be quite at an end, I believe that there is little chance of the reactionary element achieving anything.

Hindenburg, following his resignation and retirement in what may be termed a blaze of Bengal fire, has undoubtedly done something to strength the reactionaries. In his farewell to the troops under his command, he reiterates his belief that it would be better to have honorable disaster than agree to a dishonoring peace. He refers to the "great victories" and tireless "work for peace" of the German Army during the war, and gives thanks for its loyalty during the "sad days of disaster." He declares that each soldier may think as he likes about the Peace Treaty, but adds that it is the duty of all to stand by the Fatherland in this time of tragedy.

Both Hindenburg and Gröner informed the President that a great number of officers and men of the army must refuse service if the "insulting paragraphs" of the Peace Treaty were agreed to. Gröner said he would like to resign, but declared his willingness to remain at his post until matters in the east were definitely settled.

PARIS, June 26.—What is described as another act of trickery by the Germans at the eleventh hour before signing is indicated in a complaint received by the Council of Four this afternoon from Denmark. The grievance is that Germany is already disposing by sale of State property within territory the future ownership of which is to be determined by a plebiscite.

There is a difference of opinion in Paris as to whether Germany has the right to do this. There is nothing in the stipulations concerning that region which, as in the case of Alsace, definitely declares that all State-owned property shall pass to the new sovereignty without compensation to the old.

SERAJEVO ANNIVERSARY TODAY

Treaty Signing Just 5 Years After Event That Caused War.

Signing of the Peace Treaty at Versailles today will, by a remarkable coincidence, mark the fifth anniversary of the murder of the Austro-Hungarian heir presumptive, Archduke Francis Ferdinand at Serajevo. Seven days after that date, June 28, 1914, the German Kaiser at Potsdam is said to have prepared for the war, which was brought about later through the instrumentality of the Austro-Hungarian ultimatum to Serbia.

On Monday, June 29, 1914, THE NEW YORK TIMES published eighteen columns of news, special articles, biographies, and interviews concerning the Serajevo tragedy and seven portraits. One article, commenting on the political crisis produced by the assassination, ended with the words: "The situation caused by the revolver in the hand of the Serbian student is one of infinite possibilities."

Among the news stories were a description of the tragedy, written by a reporter of the Vienna Neue Freie Presse and sent by special cable to THE TIMES, and a few words from the German Kaiser as he landed from his yacht at Kiel. He had been following the regatta, but departed at once for Berlin.

GERMAN WRITER FREED.

French Not to Proceed at Present Against Correspondent.

PARIS, June 26.—William Scheuermann, correspondent of the Deutsche Tageszeitung, who was arrested at Versailles Wednesday evening, has been released from custody.

A report made today to Premier Clemenceau by M. Ignace, Under-Secretary of Justice, says that a warrant was issued in the regular way by the War Council of the Second Region for the arrest of Scheuermann on a charge of larceny of property of a French officer at Charleville. The arrest was duly carried out, says the report, since the correspondent, as a journalist with the German delegation in nowise enjoyed diplomatic immunity.

The Minister of Foreign Affairs, however, points out that it is inexpedient to proceed with the charge, although admitting that there was a case against Scheuermann. To avoid difficulties, therefore, Scheuermann was discharged, and the department has reserved the right to take judicial action later.

FOCH KEEPS STRICT WATCH.

Urges Vigilance at Coblenz—German Recruiting Agent Punished.

COBLENZ, June 26, (Associated Press.)—Marshal Foch arrived here yesterday for what may be his last visit to the Coblenz bridgehead, during its occupation by American troops. He was accompanied by his aids and several members of his staff, and called upon Lieut. Gen. Hunter Liggett at headquarters.

Marshal Foch expressed to Gen. Liggett his admiration for the Americans. In reference to peace, he said:

"Peace terms have not yet been signed, and until they are actually signed we must not relax our watch on the Rhine in the least."

The Marshal spent a half-hour with General Liggett, and then proceeded on his journey by automobile. He is planning to return soon to his advance headquarters at Kreuznach.

Frederick Ketterman, an under officer in the German Army, was convicted today by an American military commission of recruiting civilians within the American occupied area. This was held to be a violation of the armistice terms and an infraction of regulations published by American military authorities in German newspapers in February.

Ketterman was sentenced to six months' imprisonment and fined 5,000 marks.

Letters from Berlin authorizing Ketterman to enlist men for the German Army were found in his possession. Other papers among his effects showed a general knowledge of the American troop movements and the location of their forces. He also had a report on the recent burning of ammunition dumps near Coblenz. The original copies of these papers evidently had been forwarded to Berlin.

Ketterman admitted having recruited more than fifty men.

GENEVA, June 26.—An attempt to overthrow the Budapest Soviet is described by Bela Kun's Press Bureau as a "monarchist coup," but it was in reality, according to reliable information received here, a spontaneous rising of citizens of all classes driven to desperation by the famine caused in the Hungarian capital by Bolshevist misrule.

A grave crisis within the Soviet itself preceded the outbreak. Two Commissaries of the People, Food Minister Erdelyi and the Minister of Justice, resigned, declaring they could no longer countenance the criminal and suicidal methods of Bela Kun, which must result in absolute ruin.

Their resignation was the signal for the revolt. While some officers seized one of the Danube monitors and trained guns on the Soviet headquarters, soldiers and citizens stormed the artillery barracks, hauled down the red flag, and publicly burned it. Shooting soon became general in the streets between Bela Kun's bodyguard, known as "Lenin Boys," and the desperate citizens. Three shots were fired by the monitor, but the rebels were handicapped by lack of ammunition.

As Bela Kun was passing through the streets to seek refuge in the barracks of the Red Guards a man of the working classes shot at him twice with a revolver but missed both times. His assailant was immediately cut down.

When the insurgents had exhausted their ammunition the Lenin Boys organized a murderous hunt after the "bourgeois" throughout the city, killing and bayonetting many citizens supposed to have fired from windows or made signals to the monitor. Over 500 arrests were made.

The same night Bela Kun reorganized his Soviet. Food Commissary Erdelyi was replaced by four "Economic Councillors," and a proclamation was issued stating: "The proletariat had risen as one man and crushed the counter-revolution." The truth is that many workmen took part in the rising, while the remainder observed an attitude of pathetic indifference.

The situation remains critical and Hungarian communism appears doomed, for Budapest is starving and the peasants are determined to resist the confiscation of their crops ordered by Bela Kun.

BUDAPEST, June 23, (Associated Press.)—"The allied policy toward Hungary should be one of noninterference in our internal affairs and the Allies also should raise the blockade," Bela Kun, Foreign Minister of the present Hungarian Government, told The Associated Press correspondent today in discussing assertions that Hungary had been interfering with the affairs of the Austrian Republic, which he characterized as untrue.

"Austria is seeking with this allegation to deceive the public so that it may be enabled to continue the domination of Hapsburg capitalism," he said. "It is also untrue that we bought guns and rifles from the Italians. Our policy is peace. Sooner or later our frontiers, now impossible, will be altered, when the Allies understand the situation better, and when they realize that the best policy is peace dictated by reason. So far, the policy of President Wilson has not been adopted because of French opposition. For the present, we are not going to stand on a question of political frontiers, but of economic ones, which alone make life possible for us.

"Premier Lenin of Russia is not dictating our internal policy. We are merely following his idea that principles should be altered to meet changing circumstances."

"Yes, communism will succeed here," he said in answer to a question. "We are now in a period of transition, going back toward socialism." Asked if Hungarians wanted communism, he said: "The majority is passive, but the minority is active. Anyway, it is impossible for us to work under capitalism, even with the latter passive.

"I know the Germans will sign the peace terms, and I am glad of it, for it means a revolution in Germany. After such a peace capitalism will be incapable of organizing production there. Nor would it pay, politically, to try to do so. Peace is the last resort of capitalism, but it will bring class war and revolutions in other countries, as foreseen by Lenin, who is the greatest man in the world."

THE HAGUE, June 26.—Ever since the commencement of the war there has been a constant espionage of governmental telegrams at The Hague and Amsterdam telegraph offices which has resulted in various arrests and trials.

The Social Democrat Troelstra, closely allied with the German Social Democrats, appears to be involved in the latest telegraphic espionage case. The Dutch Social Democrat leaders have decided to put questions to the Government and oust Troelstra as leader if the charges are true.

Troelstra is a firm friend of Scheidemann, who has doubtless found Entente Government telegrams from The Hague useful data.

GERMANS USE BIG GUNS AGAINST THE POLES

Paderewski Appeals to Allies for Ammunition — Gets Free Hand in Galicia.

PARIS, June 27, (Associated Press.)—Movements of the Germans against the western Polish boundary at three points are giving great uneasiness in conference circles, and Ignace Jan Paderewski, the Polish Premier, is making earnest efforts to obtain ammunition from the Allies before the Germans get the principal railways, which is now feared.

Heavy artillery attacks upon Czenstochowa from the south and west threaten to cut the railway connecting Warsaw with Cracow and the Teschen coal fields. Czenstochowa is a city of 40,000 persons and an important railway junction.

The Germans are also advancing at Krotoschin, fifty-four miles southeast of Posen and directly west of Lodz, and there is fighting on the River Netze, west of Bromberg. Polish staff officers stationed in Paris regard the Czenstochowa action as most critical, as the Germans are within twenty miles of the city at some points.

A decision of the Council of Four to permit the Polish Army under General Haller to establish order in Galicia, east of Lemberg, carries with it temporary recognition of the River Brucz as the eastern boundary of Poland, pending the decision of the League of Nations. This decision was especially gratifying to M. Paderewski and his associates, as the interallied commissions which visited the region supported Polish reports that the district was being terrorized by bandits connected with no recognized army or organized government.

GERMANS PLOTTED TO ATTACK ALLIES

Scheidemann Had Scheme Not to Sign and Turn on Foch's Forces After Advance.

BERLIN, June 27, (Associated Press.)—The German Government, headed by Philipp Scheidemann, had planned to refuse to sign the Peace Treaty and to permit the allied troops to march into Germany as far as the Elbe, where it would be attacked by strong German forces, says the Danzig correspondent of the Tageblatt in a dispatch describing the details of a secret plan to create a separate State in Northeastern Germany.

The plan failed because of jealousies and differences of opinion between the Government and the army leaders, the correspondent says. (A report from Geneva Thursday night said that Herr Scheidemann had arrived in Switzerland after crossing the frontier on foot.)

The last proposal made by the conspirators planning to oppose the Allies, it is said, was to ask Poland to combine with Eastern Germany in the formation of an independent republic. The offer, it is stated, was rebuffed by the Poles, who asked why it had not been offered ten years ago.

The correspondent says it was the intention to co-operate with the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg in the establishment of a republic or a monarchy to include East Prussia, West Prussia and Posen. The plan, he says, was supported by Adolph von Batocki, President of East Prussia; Herr Schnackenburg, President of West Prussia, and Herr von Bülow, President of Posen.

Mathias Erzberger, head of the German Armistice Commission, and Herr Hörsing, Commissioner for Upper Silesia, also were involved. Gustav Noske, Minister of Defense, the correspondent asserts, had a difficult task in persuading Erzberger to give up the plan.

Herr Wig, the National Commissioner for Posen and the two Prussian provinces, the correspondent asserts, was to head the movement and be in charge of the military forces, which were to make an attack as soon as the Peace Treaty was signed.

The plan was disclosed, it is added, when various Generals interested had a conference with the Government leaders at Weimar. Gen. Groener, now the chief commander, it is said, was the first to decide to abandon the plan.

The Government, it is further stated, feared that Hörsing, instead of operating against the Poles with the troops under his command, would turn about face and march on Berlin, in an attempt to re-establish the former Emperor on the throne.

A message of warning from M. Clemenceau to the German Government in regard to plotting against Poland was made public in Paris Thursday. In it reference was made to an intercepted German dispatch wherein it was definitely stated that while the Berlin Government would sign, nevertheless unofficial support would be given to any movement looking to preventing Polish authorities from occupying the German districts allotted to the new nation under the treaty.

FRENCH ELECTORAL REFORM

Senate Passes Measure Already Adopted by Chamber of Deputies.

PARIS, June 26.—The Senate passed the Electoral Reform bill by a vote of 129 to 4 today.

The French Electoral Reform bill, providing for the election of members of the House of Deputies by departments instead of by arrondissements, passed the Chamber of Deputies on April 10. Besides the provision for the election of the members of the Chamber of Deputies, the bill also carries a number of other reform measures applicable to French elections.

Later Senator Knox comes out and says that the Republicans favor the Knox resolution, and that he will take it up as soon as possible. Then Senator Fall introduces his resolution and announces that he has secured a majority of the Foreign Relations Committee in favor of it. Then Mr. Root comes to town with his amendments, and Senator Lodge gives his indorsement to the Root program. Thus there are three divisions among the opponents of the League, not counting those who follow Senator Borah in opposing any league. We could not have better encouragement than this.

"Not only are the League opponents divided in their councils, but there has grown up among them much personal feeling as a result of their differences. Senator Lodge in trying to keep them together favors them all. He is like a hen with a brood of chickens. He cannot keep them together and make them follow him, and he cannot follow each of them."

Mr. Hitchcock and other leading Democratic Senators conferred today with Hamilton Holt, editor of The Independent, who recently returned from Paris. Mr. Holt furnished Senator Hitchcock considerable information concerning the extent to which the suggested amendments of ex-President Taft and Mr. Root had been embodied in the treaty, and also as to the probable effect upon the treaty of Mr. Root's latest proposals. Mr. Holt said that in his opinion the original suggestions of the two had been pretty thoroughly covered. He also gave Mr. Hitchcock data on the time consumed in making other treaties, and declared he regarded the period of negotiations at Versailles remarkably short. This material Senator Hitchcock plans to lay before the Senate.

In the meantime Republican Senators favoring the Root program declared that as a result of new efforts, presumably the result of suggestions by Mr. Hays, they would within seventy-two hours "be ready for an explosion that will blow the League out of the water, or for the more leisurely processes of pulverizing and grinding it to powder."

Specifications concerning the "explosion" were withheld. It was learned, however, that efforts are being made to line up Senators on the Root program. Some Republican Senators expressed the greatest confidence that a surprisingly large number of pledges for such a program would be obtained.

The dissatisfaction in the camp of those who demand the extreme penalty of absolute rejection was outspoken and emphatic. Senators of this group said they would continue to attack Mr. Hays because he had declared the league question an American issue.

"It has become an issue between Americans and the great international bankers," said one Senator, "and we strongly suspect that these bankers have been able to impress their views on Mr. Hays."

Senator Borah plans to deliver within a short time a speech regarding the interest of New York financial interests in the league, following it with other addresses on kindred lines.

An interesting feature of the situation today was that both sides asserted with the greatest assurance that Senator Gore, Democrat, of Oklahoma, would be found with them on the final vote.

Senator Hitchcock predicted that Mr. Gore would vote for the treaty unamended. The Oklahoma Senator has been generally regarded as likely to stand with Senator Reed against the treaty.

Opponents of the league at the same time said they had most emphatic assurances from Senator Gore of his entire dissatisfaction with the league and his determination to oppose it.

Senator Gore himself declined to make his position known for publication.

WILSON RESTRAINED BRITISH PREMIER

Opposed Concessions He Had Himself Urged That Would Have Reopened Terms.

PHILIP KERR A COMING MAN

Ambassador Davis Talked Of by Americans in Paris as Democratic Nominee for President.

By CHARLES H. GRASTY.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, June 25.—There is now no harm in gossiping about an interesting English situation which a few weeks ago almost caused a reopening of the peace terms. As it was, only President Wilson's determined stand prevented Lloyd George from getting so deeply committed that he could not have backed tracked, as he did after a few days.

The funny part of it was that the things which Lloyd George proposed were precisely the things that President Wilson had originally advocated and in regard to which he had to yield to Lloyd George and Clemenceau. But it is against Mr. Wilson's habit to undo things that have been done. Moreover, he was too sagacious to make eleventh-hour concessions to Germany which would have a demoralizing effect.

It is said that the immediate reason for Lloyd George's action was pressure put on him from England by a faction for which he has a peculiar respect. One of the leaders of this group is Philip Kerr, one of the Premier's Parliamentary Secretaries. Kerr has been at Lloyd George's elbow throughout the whole conference. His hand has been in nearly all writing and he wrote practically the whole of the covering letter that accompanied the treaty. He was probably responsible for a certain tone of liberalism in the last document that has been much criticised.

Those of Kerr's group of associates who have stayed behind in England and not been obliged to shoulder responsibility as he has, have been much more extreme in their liberal ideas than Kerr. The latter is a sensible man and knows that reformers must be fairly practical in order to be successful. He has been willing to sup with the devil occasionally, but always carries his long spoon. For the last three or four months his group and many of their followers in London have been hammering Kerr for his share in the compromising tactics at Paris—for "losing his soul," as some of them call it.

Undoubtedly Kerr afforded these English influences a channel through which they could reach Lloyd George, who was momentarily impressed in a way peculiar to him. This led to Lloyd George's efforts to persuade Clemenceau to moderate some of the treaty terms. The effort collapsed through Lloyd George himself again changing his mind, probably in response to pressure from other political quarters in London, and a standpat policy was adopted and adhered to by the Council of Four.

Kerr made a fine record in the conference and will be heard from in English politics. His groups are composed of able young men of Conservative background and Liberal tendencies. It includes Major Waldorf Astor, also Parliamentary Secretary to Lloyd George, Lord Eustace Percy, Alfred Zimmern and Lionel Curtis. These five run the Round Table, the well-known quarterly, and furnish a sort of leaven to British politics.

Kerr himself is a very interesting figure. While democratic in his political convictions, his antecedents are aristocratic. He is a direct descendant of the Plantaganet kings. His mother was a sister of the Duke of Norfolk and while thus a member of the oldest Catholic family in England, he is himself a Christian Scientist. He is heir to the Marquisate of Lothian. Insofar as he can be classified politically, he is a Wilson Democrat and was probably more influenced in his hours in the Peace Conference by President Wilson than by his own chief. It is doubtful if any other man has so great an intellectual influence with Lloyd George, and Kerr is very useful to the Premier in the latter's effort to run with the hare and ride with the hounds in British politics. There will probably be whirlwind-like developments within the few months on the other side of the Channel, and Kerr may be among the leaders, while his coworker in Conservative Liberalism, Eustace Percy, will probably head the Foreign Office.

Discussing the prospects of British changes, an American said to me:

"The British system under which the services of such men as Kerr and Percy can be made readily available is better than ours. For example, America is looking about for a successor to Wilson in 1920. Many people who have been in the position to ascertain consider that Ambassador John Davis is excellent Presidential timber, but because his name is not known in every country school house, and there will probably be no means of making it known in the next twelve months, the party leaders will probably consider him unavailable."

On all sides here Davis is mentioned as the Democratic nominee. His recent work in drawing the Constitution under which the Allied Commission is to administer the left bank of the Rhine during the fifteen years of military occupation has drawn renewed attention to Davis. He is a remarkable combination of lawyer and publicist, to which may be added the rare gifts of oratory and personality.

Even among the warm admirers of President Wilson there is little third-term sentiment. Those who believe Wilson's work in Paris was absolutely essential to bringing the powers together in peace, and that the agreement as reached is a great historic achievement—as Americans in Paris generally hold—say the President can best preserve and increase his influence in world affairs by retiring at the end of his term. He would undoubtedly wield great influence at home and abroad as an independent constructive critic and leader.

MAKE DAVIS SENIOR WARDEN

British Grand Lodge Masons Honor American Ambassador.

LONDON, June 27.—John W. Davis, United States Ambassador to Great Britain, was appointed today Senior Warden of the Grand Lodge of England, Freemasons, at a session held in Albert Hall. This honor, unique for a foreigner, was conferred upon Ambassador Davis by the Duke of Connaught, Grand Master of the lodge. Ten thousand persons attended the ceremony.

Twenty American Grand Lodges were represented at the meeting. Among the Americans in attendance were Frederick W. Hamilton of Boston and Leon M. Abbott, representing Massachusetts; W. S. Farmer of Syracuse, R. J. Kenworthy, and Judge Townsend Scudder, New York City, representing the State of New York, and Robert C. Travis and Raymond Daniel, representing Georgia.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, June 27.—The Council of Four appointed this afternoon a general commission to take over the work of creating fifteen or more other commissions which are to handle the conference matters still pending.

PARIS, June 27, (Associated Press.)—The Council of Four this afternoon appointed Lord Milner of Great Britain, Colonel Edward M. House of the United States, M. Simon of France, Signor Crespi of Italy, and Viscount Chinda of Japan members of a Committee of Mandatories for the colonies and territories detached from the enemy powers.

It is now expected that it will be possible to hand over to the Austrians on Monday the terms reserved in the original draft treaty on reparations and the military and naval clauses.

The work of the conference will not be interrupted by the signing of the treaty with Germany, although President Wilson will leave Paris tomorrow and Premier Lloyd George will return to London on Sunday. Foreign Secretary Balfour and Secretary Lansing will take the places of the British Premier and President Wilson in the work yet to be done.

AUSTRIANS STILL PROTEST.

Object to Allowing Czechs Any of Klagenfurt.

PARIS, June 27, (Associated Press.)—The Austrians have protested to the Council of Four against the division of the Klagenfurt district between Austria and Jugoslavia, as recommended by the Special Commission which investigated the matter.

According to the Havas Agency, a dispatch from Vienna that reached that city from St. Germain, states that Dr. Karl Renner, head of the Austrian peace delegation, delivered to the Peace Conference a note, requesting the suppression of Article 49 of the Peace Treaty, which authorizes the States that were formerly part of the Austro-Hungarian Empire to pay their share of the war indemnities from private Austrian properties in those States.

The note demands the formation of a special commission under the supervision of the Entente Powers to settle the question without a decision based on might.

bodies, but we expect the magnanimity of the Dutch to spare us this final and most humiliating disgrace.'"

The advertisement is signed "The German Officers' Alliance." No papers appearing in the American-occupied area have been permitted to print the advertisement, which is addressed "to all Germans."

A telegram suggesting to the ex-Kaiser that he surrender to the Allies was sent to him today by a Coblenz civilian. The message, which was read while passing through the censorship, was:

"Kaiser Wilhelm, Amerongen:

"I venture to submit to your Majesty that the proposed disgrace of the German people might best be met by the voluntary surrender of yourself and the military and political leaders and advisers, thereby showing the point of view that you have done your duty to the Fatherland without any blame being attached to you, and that God alone is witness and judge of your actions."

Ex-Crown Prince Still in Holland

THE HAGUE, June 27.—Frederick William Hohenzollern, the former German Crown Prince, whose escape from Holland to Germany had been reported, was still at his residence on the Island of Wieringen in the Zuider Zee this morning, it was officially announced here this afternoon.

The fact that the former Crown Prince was still at Wieringen was disclosed by an official investigation made by the Dutch Minister of the Interior.

PARIS, June 27.—The report of the escape of the former German Crown Prince from Holland was explained today as follows:

The announcement was made to the American Peace Delegation by the British Intelligence Department. It was then sent to the Council of Four, which at the moment was in session, and was announced to the newspaper correspondents by an American press official.

No statement has been made as to the source from which the British Intelligence Department received the original report.

The Council of Four, the newspapers state, has decided to ask the Dutch Government that the watch over the ex-Kaiser be increased in vigilance.

LONDON, June 27.—"After peace is signed I will return to Germany to live on my estates in Silesia and perform my duties as a landowner," said the former German Crown Prince in an interview last week at Wieringen, according to a Brussels dispatch to the Daily Mirror.

The Prince is also quoted as saying: "East Prussa and Silesia will never consent to be governed by Poland. There will be another war in ten years."

PRINCE UNPOPULAR AT HOME.

Allies Attached Little Importance to His Reported Escape.

By RICHARD V. OULAHAN.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, June 26.—Interest more than concern or anger expressed the feeling produced in Peace Conference circles by the report of the escape of the former German Crown Prince from Wieringen Island to Germany.

While it was conceded that his presence among his own people might furnish a foundation for plotting embarrassing to the Allies, the first view of the possibilities growing out of his reported escape was that he was not in a position to command much influence or obtain any considerable following.

The report of the Prince's escape came to the council of the powers from British official sources. With it was coupled the assurance that the information was believed by the British Government to be absolutely reliable.

Advices that have come to the Allies since the signing of the armistice have indicated that the Prince was held in contempt by the German people generally. Stories of his excesses, his reputed lack of ability, and the belief that he was a wastrel and a dilettante all seem to have had their effect upon the minds of Germans.

There has been a disposition in Germany to hold him accountable in part, at least, for mistakes which gave the Kaiser's armies fatal setbacks. His obsession that he must eat that dinner in Paris as soon as possible is believed to have led to errors for which he was responsible, through the effort to reach the French capital when strategic considerations dictated another program of operations.

One of Them to be Removed from Public Schools of Nuremberg.

BERLIN, June 26, (Associated Press.)—After a discussion at Nuremberg about the removal of the pictures of the former Emperor and former Crown Prince from the schools, it has been decided that the pictures can remain, with the exception of one of the Prince, which is "too immoral" for children to see, according to the Neue Berliner Zeitung.

make reservations regarding league provisions, to permit him to discuss it without a show of anger. It is obvious from what is known of the President's attitude (and I think I am justified in saying I know it) that he wants the treaty and covenant passed without reservation. He will not only feel a deep sense of humiliation, but also be depressed by the idea that the Senate's action is a distinct setback in the effort to preserve the world from repetition of the terrible catastrophe which came upon it nearly five years ago through the imperialistic arrogance of those who then ruled Germany.

Any change by the senate in the treaty text (and this includes the League covenant) will be regarded by the President as placing the United States beyond the pale in its dealings with the nations which, as all did, looked to America to lead in the endeavor that dominated the exchanges of the allied peacemakers to make it impossible or as near an impossibility as circumstances would permit, that there should be another world conflict.

The words "beyond the pale" are my own, but I am sure that nothing less emphatic would express the feeling in the President's mind. However, in spite of the indignation the President is understood to show whenever he discusses the efforts in the Senate and elsewhere to prove that the treaty or the League covenant are not in the interest of the United States, he is leaving Europe for America in a happy frame of mind, due to his confidence that the American people, once they fully realize what the treaty and the covenant mean for the good of the world, will give their verdict in favor of ratification of these momentous documents without change.

Called a "Colossal Business."

PARIS, June 27, (Associated Press.)—President Wilson goes back to the United States more than satisfied with the net results of the conference, and, all things considered, it is his opinion that the conference has been a wonderful success. Outside of the results in regard to Germany, the conference is viewed as liberating peoples who never before had a chance of liberty, such as Poland, Jugoslavia, and Czechoslovakia. The conference is also credited with banding together the people of the world to make the peace régime enduring. Other large results, according to the Presidential view, are the giving of a charter to labor, removing restrictions on international intercourse and many other international results, which can be summed up as "a colossal business, such as the world never dreamed of before."

The treaty should be ratified without amendment, according to the Presidential view, for definite reasons, namely, that if any one power seeks to make amendments then the war will not be over until every one of the twenty-one associated nations learns the results of the amendments. This can only be done through processes of negotiation and it is held that it would be a hopeless process of delay in restoring peace.

The question has arisen whether reservations amounted to amendment, and Presidential circles are understood to hold that reservations, such as the proposed Root reservation to Article X. of the covenant, are equivalent to amendment.

Feeling is said to be particularly strong in Presidential quarters against the resolution of Senator Fall of New Mexico to declare a state of peace with Germany, which is characterized in responsible quarters as having the effect of allying the United States with Germany and placing the country in a position of contempt that no nation ever suffered.

The length of the Peace Conference is regarded in Presidential quarters as beneficial on the whole, as the long discussion brought about a fuller understanding among the nations. There is special pride in the fact that the views of the American experts usually prevailed, probably because the United States had no selfish interests involved in the difficult questions settled.

Factors Favoring Turkish Mandate.

Concerning the mandate of the United States in Turkey, the President is known to hold that he had no right to make any promises and that the most he could do was to present the subject to the people at home with the idea that they think favorably of Armenia, owing to the great interest always shown toward that country, and probably also concerning Constantinople.

One of the main reasons, according to Presidential circles, for the American mandate in Constantinople would be that it would keep Constantinople out of European politics and be a worthy international effort, similar to constructing the Panama Canal, by which the Black Sea would be kept open for the world's commerce.

Relative to the President's Fourteen Points, the view is taken that the treaty adheres to the points more closely than had been expected, owing to the difficulties and complications which arose during the course of the negotiations.

Besides signing the treaty and the protocol tomorrow, the President has made it known that he is ready to sign the treaty carrying out the arrangements whereby the United States and Great Britain will come to the assistance of France in case she is menaced by Germany, if this treaty can be prepared for signature before his departure. Otherwise he will authorize Secretary Lansing to sign the treaty after his departure. The triple undertaking has already been communicated in the form of a letter which will be sent to the American Senate, but the treaty is the formal carrying out of the engagement.

The American newspaper correspondents were received by President Wilson at the Hotel de Crillon this afternoon, and the President bade each of them farewell.

The President also went to American Headquarters to meet the other members of the American delegation and General Pershing, the American Commander in Chief, for a final conference and to say farewell.

GENEVA DEGREE TO WILSON.

Prof. Rappard Presents Diploma of the University.

PARIS, June 27, (Associated Press.)—President Wilson has received another University degree—that of Doctor of Laws, Honoris Causa, conferred by the University of Geneva.

Dr. William Rappard, Professor of Political Economy at the University and Secretary General of the League of Red Cross Societies, who arrived from Geneva this morning, presented the diploma.

President Wilson said that he was deeply touched by the homage paid him, and asked that Professor Rappard convey his warmest thanks to the Faculty of the university.

gotiations with the commander of the Government troops at Wandszek. At the same time Noske was wired to and told that if the Government troops entered the city there would be heavy fighting, and that the only way to maintain peace was to leave matters in Hamburg alone, but Noske has other ideas, and it now appears that the city, which aped Budapest, will share the fate of Munich, and that fate will come upon it very rapidly.

Soviet Leaders Arrested, but Freed.

BERLIN, June 27, (Associated Press.)—The Independent Socialist and Communist members of the Executive Council of the Greater Berlin Soviet were arrested Thursday night by order of Minister of Defense Noske. They are charged with having been in collusion with the leaders of the uprising in Hamburg.

The arrests followed the interception of a telephone message late Wednesday night between Hamburg and Berlin in which the insurrectionists at Hamburg informed the Berlin radicals that the time for another revolution was at hand and urged them to take active steps immediately. The local leaders are said to have advised the Hamburg leaders to arm their partisans for the purpose of opposing the Government troops being mobilized against Hamburg.

The Independent Socialists and Communists in the Soviet are facing charges based on treason. Among those said to be implicated are Richard Müller, the Chairman of the committee, and Herr Daumig. Müller is known by the sobriquet of "Over My Dead Body."

The casualties in the Hamburg rioting are estimated to have been 20 killed and from 150 to 290 wounded.

The greatest anxiety is felt here for the food ships. The Communists, it is reported, announced that they would seize and destroy the ships if the food situation in Hamburg did not improve at once.

The authorities said they expected that the Spartacide element would attempt an uprising here today.

Soviet Prisoners Released.

LONDON, June 27.—Reuter's Berlin correspondent says that the Independent Socialist and Communist leaders of the Greater Berlin Soviet Executive Council who were arrested Thursday night by order of Gustav Noske have been released.

It was impossible to prove that they were concerned in the telephone conversation between Hamburg and Berlin on Wednesday night with regard to the beginning of a new revolution.

Plundering commenced Thursday evening in the western suburbs of Berlin, beginning at Schöneberg and extending quickly, the correspondent adds. There was also looting at Fridenau, which continued until early this morning. Troops have been sent [illegible] the resident guard to restore [illegible]

Riots Laid to Impure Food.

HAMBURG, June 26.—The Commission of Twelve which has been on control of the city issued a statement regarding disorders here, which reads:

"Again blood has flowed in Hamburg. Out of spontaneous disgust at shameful adulteration of foodstuffs there has grown a stormy movement of protests which the Hamburg Government thought to choke in blood. It was volunteers from Ahrenfeld, a suburb of Hamburg, who, in conjunction with Hamburg police, brought about the bath of blood.

"Throughout Germany in the last few days there have been spontaneous tumults that have not been political in character, but have been born of desperation on the part of starving people forced to pay money for the spoiled, uneatable, horrible foodstuffs sold in order to poison those who retained their health to a certain extent during the fearful world's murder.

"The occurrences at Hamburg, Lübeck, and other cities were only possible because private capitalistic profiteers have been able to exercise control over the working people. Meantime there has been setting in a reaction that will operate spontaneously for the benefit of workingmen. We urge you to remain cool and to undertake nothing that might cause difficulty among Hamburg industries, and thus immediately establish some basis for action.

"Out of Hamburg with the troops! Down with Senators who shoot workingmen!"

Americans Continue Relief Work.

PARIS, June 26, (Associated Press.)—The American Relief Association here has received a dispatch from Colonel Ryan, sent from Hamburg on Wednesday. It says:

"There was considerable street fighting last night and this morning between Government troops and civilians. Machine guns were used on both sides and a number of persons were killed and wounded.

"Rumors indicate that the Government troops are temporarily losing ground. Additional troops are reported coming from outside the city.

"The American destroyers Bernardu and Upshur are here, and the foodship Ellut is also in Hamburg harbor. The Roma, another foodship, is coming up the river."

The dispatch says that the American relief workers are not disturbed and will continue work.

Allies' Duty Is to Stand Together and Prevent Peace Being a Fugitive Hope.

NEED TO WATCH THE FOE

Their Violation in Advance of the Treaty Pointed Out—Tribute to America's Work.

PARIS, June 26.—Discussion of the Allies' duty to be vigilant in enforcing the peace terms with Germany and a tribute to American participation in the war were features of a speech by President Poincaré at the dinner which he and Madame Poincaré gave to President and Mrs. Wilson and delegates to the Peace Conference at the Presidential Palace tonight. President Paincaré's speech preceded that of President Wilson, who bade a formal farewell to France and the French people and gave as his thought the belief that the work of the Peace Conference had created a friendship that would make for an increasingly more intimate sympathy between the peoples and greater co-operation, economically.

President Poincaré in giving a toast to President Wilson asked that he be allowed, at the moment when his guest was preparing to leave Europe, to render homage once more to the high spirit of justice in which President Wilson had prepared, with other representatives of the allied and associated powers, "this great laborious peace in which the justice saved by our victory is going to definitely inscribe its will in favor of reparation."

After paying tribute to American participation in the war, reviewing the work of the Peace Conference and outlining what still remained to be done, President Poincaré said:

"The treaties, once signed, must be wholly applied, and persistence on our account will be no less indispensable to their execution. The delegates of the victorious countries have not met during these long months and have not convoked to Versailles the delegates of conquered Germany in order to retain in their hands nothing but a simple piece of paper.

"We want, all of us, as you do, Mr. President, that this peace be not vain words; that it be not a fugitive hope, and that it be not a passing flash of joy appearing for one evening in blood-stained Europe. We want, as you do, that the Society of Nations shall become a beneficent reality. We want, as you do, that all the clauses to which our enemies are going to subscribe be loyally observed.

"The disposition shown by violations in advance of a treaty that one is going to undertake to respect, makes it our duty to watch carefully to see that criminal bands do not rekindle sooner or later the conflagration which we have smothered.

"German ships sunk by their crews, French flags burned, and demonstrations before the new Polish frontier are not signs of repentance.

"We must remain together, firmly united, to gather the fruits of the victory that we obtained together."

President Poincaré concluded by raising his glass and proposing, in honor of President and Mrs. Wilson, a toast to the immortality of Franco-American friendships and the indestructible union of the allied and associated powers.

NEW YORKERS AT COURT.

Presented to British Sovereigns by Ambassador Davis at Buckingham.

LONDON, June 27.—King George and Queen Mary gave a garden party this afternoon at Buckingham Palace which took the place of the presentation court function, held before the war. The party was attended by John W. Davis, American Ambassador to Great Britain; Mrs. Davis, members of the Embassy staff and their wives.

Mrs. Davis presented Mrs. Frances M. Wolcott of Buffalo, Mrs. Felix D. Doubleday of New York, Miss Mabel Gerry of New York, Miss Catherine Wendell and Miss Dorothy Hibbard.

REDS FEEL "HOUR HAS COME."

German Situation Becoming More Critical, Swiss Hear.

BERNE, June 26.—The general situation in Germany is becoming steadily more serious, according to the latest dispatches.

The railroad strike, it is reported, is about to extend throughout the country. Spartacides do not conceal their belief that their hour has come, in view of the transportation strike and the poor food supply. Some reports state that famine appears imminent.

On the other hand, it is said, a counter-revolution seems to be brewing in the East, and the news from that region is increasingly alarming.

WILSON'S TRIBUTE TO KING

BRUSSELS, June 24.—When the Belgian newspapers received "flashes" from Paris about 8 o'clock headed "Peace! Peace! Peace!" the editors on duty believed that the long-delayed treaty had been signed and issued bulletins to that effect. The burgomasters in big cities like Brussels, Antwerp, Ghent and Cambrai had posters printed announcing the final victory of the Allies, and these were pasted on walls in many public places. Hundreds of rounds were fired by anti-aircraft and other available guns, and the bells in the cathedrals and churches were rung continuously. By 10 P. M. Monday the news had reached the cabarets and cafés and the playing of pianos and dancing by allied soldiers and sailors continued throughout the night.

In Antwerp an American soldier attached to a transport on which were 750 officers and 2,000 men became so excited over the news that the war was really ended that he got his revolver and wounded a civilian and a woman and a soldier who tried to disarm him, and then killed himself.

On Tuesday the local newspapers printed the news from Paris that the Germans had promised to sign the treaty and the Belgian officials decided to go on with the festivities. The inhabitants were requested to hang out all the Belgian and allied flags they had in their possession; so there was a good display of the Stars and Stripes, especially in this city and Antwerp, where all automobiles carried small American flags in token of appreciation of what the United States had done in winning the war, and also of the news that the first loan had been made to Belgium, and that two more loans were being arranged.

Belgians Love for the King.

King Albert is most popular with his people and moves about freely among them without any armed guard or secret service men. The leaders of the Socialist Party openly declare that they are against all Kings, but that they are pro-Albert and attend functions at the palace, which they never entered before the war. The Republican members of the Chamber of Representatives do likewise.

I saw the King and Queen land at La Panne on June 17, on the sandy beach in front of the Hotel Terwinck, when they came to meet President Wilson, who was expected to arrive the following morning. The affection of the Belgians for their King is shown by the fact that they do not like him to take the risk of flying to various parts of the kingdom instead of traveling by automobile. The war is over, the people say, and there is no longer any necessity for him to fly over the country.

When the King walked along the beach after dinner in the hotel he was followed by an escort of fishermen and their families. Every few minutes some sunburned boy with big wooden shoes would doff his cap in front of the King and shout "Vive le Roi!" which would be taken up lustily by the boys and girls around. Then King Albert would stop and talk with them for a few moments, and Queen Elizabeth would shake hands with the girls. The King wore a military uniform and towered like a giant above his consort, who was dressed in white.

During his drive with President Wilson he gave his guest the seat of honor, but all the people in the streets shouted, "Vive la Roi!" and then "Vive le President Wilson!"

The President noticed this, and in his speech at the palace Thursday night, when the King gave a banquet in his honor, he said:

"One of the things which gratified me very much during my tour through the streets today was that the crowds gave their first cheer to their King, and only afterward to the foreign guest, which shows that your power is solidly established in the consent of the governed. This is due to the fact"—turning toward King Albert—"that you are a real democrat;" and the King smiled at the compliment.

Max's Tribute to America.

I had an interview today with Adolphe Max, the able and fearless Burgomaster of Brussels, who suffered three years' imprisonment in Germany because he stood up against the invaders for the rights of the Belgian people. He is a middle-aged man, below the average in height, slimly built, with brown hair and a mustache and beard which show tinges of gray, due to the strain he has endured since August, 1914. He has an attractive personality, and speaks English fairly well, although he remarked that he spoke it far more fluently before the war.

The Burgomaster paid high tribute to America's work for Belgium, and remarked upon the great impression the President had made upon the people during his visit last week.

"President Wilson," he said, "has a wonderful personality, and made a profound impression upon the people of Belgium who saw him. America won the war for the Allies and saved the Belgian nation from starving. The names of Herbert Hoover and Brand Whitlock will never be forgotten, nor the gratitude that we have for America. When America declared war against Germany the Germans did not take it seriously, and did not believe that an army could come across the Atlantic. When the Germans discovered that America had sent 300,000 soldiers over in one month and landed them in France, they gave up all hope of winning the war, and their armies became demoralized. From the High Command down to the ordinary soldier, the Germans knew that the side that could endure the longest would win. With America's millions of trained soldiers, backed by unlimited wealth, on the side of the Entente, victory was certain."

Reconstruction Moves Slowly.

"How is this work of reconstruction going on?" I asked.

"It is moving slowly," he replied, "because factories have been demolished and dismantled. The machinery that was taken away by the Boche is being brought back very slowly because it is difficult to identify it. The marks were all obliterated by the Germans and the parts were painted a different color. The spirit of the Belgian workmen is good, and they are patriotic; but for four years and a half they have been practically idle. Before the war they were accustomed to work hard and were very efficient craftsmen. Now they are returning to work again, but it will take them some time to get back to their old thrifty, industrious habits.

"In my opinion, after careful consideration, it will take at least five years before Belgium regains her normal conditions in industry and commerce; but it will be many years after that before we reach the state of affluence and commercial prosperity the country was in before 1914. Other Entente countries will not want to give Belgium too much raw material to enable her to compete in their own markets, as they have also to regain their commerce.

"We do not want any one to reconstruct our ruined cities and towns, but we do need financial aid and friendship now. We have some great friends, and I am convinced that Belgium will retrieve herself as she has always done in the great crises of her history. She has been the battle ground of Europe for centuries, and this has served to make her people able to endure hardships with stoicism.

"The people of Brussels are not very emotional, but they showed their gratitude to America by the hearty reception given to President Wilson in the streets. When he went to the Grand' Place it was the leisure hour of the working classes, and it was from them that the President received his welcome.

"The war has brought the Belgian nation together in one common cause to fight for the country. Those who had food shared it with many who were hungry, and the rich gave their aid to the poor. There were some who made a profit out of the war, but they are not here now.

"The political situation in Europe is very delicate just now, with the determined efforts to spread Bolshevism, which would be very dangerous to the whole world if they succeeded. We have had some strikes in Belgium, but I do not think there is any chance of a revolution taking place. The Belgian workman will listen to reason and has more common sense, I think, than his confrères in France or England."

Must Trade with Germany.

"Do you think Belgium will have to resume trading with Germany?" I asked.

"I am afraid we shall be compelled to do so," replied M. Max, "because the people will require certain goods to carry on their business and have no factories ready to make them, so they will have to get goods from Germany. Then, again, there are seven billions of paper marks in the hands of the Government that are worth only about two-thirds of their face value, and unless some other provision is made it will have to be spent with Germany.

"This matter and the slowness of reparation by Germany for damage done in Belgium have caused some dissatisfaction against the delegates to the Peace Conference in Paris, but it has not stopped people from going on with their work of reconstruction."

When I asked the Burgomaster about his own sufferings in Germany during his long captivity he replied that they (the Germans) had treated him very harshly, and then he waved his hands and said: "That is all past now, and we must think of the future."

Other Belgian officials with whom I conversed on the subject of reconstruction were more optimistic than the Burgomaster. They said Belgium would regain her former position in the commercial world and in wealth in five years, and in ten years from now she would be richer than ever before.

Wants $300,000,000 Loan.

Emile Francqui, Director of the Société Générale Belge, which has one of the finest bank buildings in the world, in an interview which I had with him today, said:

"Belgium does not need foreign money for reconstruction purposes. We can do all that with Belgian capital. What we require immediately is exchange money to purchase raw materials—leather, rubber, wool, cotton, steel, &c.—from America cheaply. At the present rate of exchange every dollar costs us about 6 francs 70 centimes in Belgian money, which is a franc and a half above the pre-war rate. We want America to lend Belgium $300,000,000 for fifteen years. Then the work of the reconstruction of cities and factories will go ahead at full pressure, and in three years I predict that Belgium will have recovered her export trade to what it was before the war. Already we have exported 40,000,000 pounds of coal in the last month from Charleroi and Mons to Italy, Spain, and France, and 1,000,000 pounds of glassware. Belgium is a small country, but her people are full of energy and have the spirit of determination and patriotism which has carried them successfully through the war.

"The ordinary observer going through Belgium now cannot help being impressed with the activity of people everywhere, which is in such strong contrast with the 'delay, linger, and wait' attitude of workingmen in France and England. Men are busy brushing and painting stores and houses and sweeping up the debris left by the Germans. Houses are being rebuilt rapidly in Louvain, Antwerp, Malines, Dinant, Courtrai, Namur, and Liege.

President Wilson was impressed by this energy on the part of the Belgians, and it enabled him to recover from the sad feelings caused by the view of Nieuport, Ypres, and the other ruined cities which he saw when he arrived in Belgium. American business men who have spent some time in London, Paris, and Brussels, studying conditions and reconstruction work, are unanimous in their opinion that Belgium will be the first of the Entente nations in Europe to recover her pre-war trade and prosperity. When they get back to their normal conditions Belgian workmen are second to none in efficiency, industry, and thrift.

500,000 Belgians Now Idle.

Colonel Percy G. W. Mitchell, General Manager of the Red Star Line, who was in Belgium soon after the armistice was signed, said that when he came the people of Brussels and Antwerp were in a dazed condition, as if they were just emerging from a terrible nightmare. Life in the cities was dead, and many of the largest stores and restaurants were closed.

The Belgians did not revive, Colonel Mitchell said, until March of this year, when refugees began arriving in thousands from England, carrying large sums of money which they had earned in munition factories during the war. They began to put this money into circulation, and things began to brighten up at once and have gone on improving ever since.

At the beginning of May there were 800,000 workmen idle, and now there are barely half a million idle, and the number is being reduced daily by the opening up of all kinds of industries which need reconstruction. In addition, thousands of men are being employed by the Government in rebuilding bridges and railroad tracks destroyed by the Germans in their retreat from Belgium.

American officers in Brussels tell me they like this city much better than Paris because it is brighter and gayer; and so do the doughboys, since, in addition to the advantages named, everything here is much cheaper. The cost of living is at least 50 per cent. lower than in Paris, and 25 per cent. lower than in London.

Restaurants and cafés are all in full swing. There are half a dozen good cabarets going now, and music in most of the cafés like the Metropole, where citizens and their families can sit outside in warm weather and drink their cool glasses of bock beer, which costs about 10 cents a large glass. The opera, theatres, vaudeville, and motion picture houses all are doing good business. People throng the boulevards and tree-shaded avenues in the evenings, and in the famous Bois de la Cambre automobiles whiz by and bicycles come from every direction, now that tires are once more obtainable.

Looking at them in the streets, it is difficult for the foreigner to realize that these are the same Belgians who were under the heel of the conqueror for four and a half years. That many of them suffered from lack of proper food is shown by the fact that doctors in Brussels and other cities daily have to treat cases of apoplexy brought on by overindulgence in good food after the system had suffered from malnutrition for so long a period.

LONDON, June 27.—There was a dramatic disappointment today for one of the season's prettiest brides, Dorothy Walpole, daughter of the late Colonel Horace Walpole, who was to have been married to Major Austin Scott Murray.

St. James Church, Spanish Place, was filled with distinguished persons, including the Duchess of Norfolk, the Earl of Eltham, Lady Beaumont, and Lady Mowbray and Stourton. The bride arrived, wearing an exquisite gown of silver tissue, accompanied by her bridesmaids, wearing mauve chiffon. The bridegroom was there, and priests were ready to officiate, but there was no wedding. At the last moment it was discovered that owing to an oversight by the Roman Catholic Archbishop notification of the marriage had not been sent to the Registrar, so the wedding could not take place.

Mr. Hamilton and Miss Standen, after their marriage today at Chorleywood, started on their honeymoon in an airplane, traveling to Fowey, a distance of 200 miles. Their luggage was stowed in the back of the machine, and the bride carried a book to read on the journey. Friends tied slippers and a horseshoe to the undercarriage of the airplane.

BERLIN, June 26, (via Copenhagen.)—General Wilhelm Hoffmann, who must not be confounded with General Otto von Hoffmann, commander of the voluntary division in Berlin, declared that he would not recognize the Versailles treaty but would defend every foot of German ground within the district which he commanded. Hoffmann, who was one of the leading aids of Hindenburg, is the General who became tired of von Kühlmann's diplomatic reserve during the Brest-Litovsk negotiations and told Trotzky that the Central Powers would find other means than diplomacy to obtain the treaty and, suiting the action to his words, struck the table fiercely with his fist.

Only one Berlin paper, the Deutsche Tageszeitung, has words of approval for Hoffmann's insubordination. It says:

"It is a great relief at last to find one General determined to express such views and ready to act upon them."

The Government, however, is determined to stand no nonsense. At Noske's office the officials were reserved. Noske had already made inquiries whether the statement was true. At the Chancellor's office it was believed Hoffmann spoke for himself only and a few other officers, and it was thought that he would soon find himself deserted by the rank and file.

Noske took a more serious view, fearing that Hoffmann's example might affect not only his men and officers, but influence other military leaders also.

General Wilhelm Hoffmann, it is said, believes himself that he is on the blacklist and is to be extradited, hence his objection to the so-called dishonoring clauses of the treaty.

THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent hears that several persons who believed that they were blacklisted by the Entente have already disappeared, among them Ludendorff and Tirpitz. At Bethmann Hollweg's Summer seat they are packing up.

DE LOMBOS WINS CASE.

British Citizenship of Painter, Interned in War, Upheld.

LONDON, June 27.—The British naturalization of Philip Alexius Laszlo de Lombos, a Hungarian portrait painter, was sustained today after a long inquiry by the Committee on Revocation of Naturalization Certificates. Justice Salter, who delivered the decision, said that although the painter had been guilty of breaches of law he had not been actuated by unworthy motives and neither had he attempted to persuade Winthrop Owen of New York to forward letters to Hungary for him. The Justice added that the painter had not shown himself by any act or by speech to be disaffected or disloyal.

De Lombos for many years prior to the outbreak of the war was a familiar figure in London society. It was by order of the Home Secretary of Great Britain that he was interned. Sir George Cave, Home Secretary, said there were grave reasons to suspect De Lombos of being engaged in activities which might prove dangerous to the public interest.

De Lombos married a Miss Guinness of Dublin in 1900. He has painted portraits of Theodore Roosevelt, the ex-Kaiser, King Edward VII., and Pope Leo. For the Pope's portrait he received the gold medal at the Paris Salon in 1900.

PARIS, June 27.—Objection has been made by some American members of the Jewish Committee at the Peace Conference to the selection by President Wilson of Henry Morgenthau as one of the three members of the American Commission to Poland to investigate conditions. The other two members are Colonel Warwick Greene, who has been on the Lithuanian Relief Commission, and Homer Johnson, a lawyer of Cleveland, Ohio, over here as a member of the Liquidation Board.

Colonel Greene may not act.

It was reported that the objection to Morgenthau came from the Zionists, and was based on the fact that Morgenthau was not a Zionist. That is, not so according to the objectors themselves. Louis Marshall and Cyraus Adler, who are not actively in the Zionist movement, think it is a mistake to have any Jew on the Polish Commission, for fear his report on the pogroms would be considered as prejudiced, and therefore less effective. There would be objection for a similar reason, they say, to having a Pole on the Commission.

PRESIDENT CALLS GIBSON TO CONFER ON POGROMS

Advises Senate He May Send Another Commission to Poland to Investigate.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—President Wilson advised the Senate today through the State Department that he was considering sending another commission to Poland to investigate reports of Jewish massacres. He said a decision would be reached after he had conferred at Paris with Hugh Gibson, American Minister to Poland.

The President's plans were outlined in a letter from Acting Secretary Polk in response to a Senate resolution of May 26 requesting information regarding reports of pogroms. It was the first announcement here that Mr. Gibson had been summoned to Paris to discuss the matter with the President.

In recent reports to the State Department which were transmitted to a House committee by Assistant Secretary Phillips of the State Department Mr. Gibson said reports of mistreatment of Jews in Poland were grossly exaggerated.

Mr. Polk's letter disclosed that the President also had directed the American Minister to Rumania to investigate reports of atrocities in Rumania.

WANTS UP-TO-DATE CITIES.

Poland Invites American Experts to Report on Requirements.

PARIS, June 26.—Despite frontier troubles with her neighbors, Poland is already giving attention to better things and future development, even providing modern provisions for public health. Edward H. Bouton, city builder and planner of Baltimore, and Major Ezra B. Whittan, engineer, of the same city, left Paris tonight for Poland, where, at the request of Premier Paderewski, the Central Government and various municipalities they are going to see what the cities need to make them healthful places.

For example, they are to inspect Lodz, which has half a million inhabitants but no sewer system whatever and practically no water supply. Lublin, another city of a hundred thousand people, which has asked for inspection by Messrs. Bouton and Whittan, needs water, a sewer, electricity, and a street car line.

These two towns, with their needs, are samples of the whole country, which wants to modernize itself and become sanitary at the outset of its renaissance as a sovereign State. Millions of capital and much labor are needed.

Poland herself will furnish all the labor, and sees in the work on public improvements a solution of the unemployment problem. For financing prospects there is a tentative suggestion that bonds be issued by the nation and cities acting jointly, backed by the power, water, and sewer plants to be constructed.

BRITISH POWERLESS ON SCUTTLED SHIPS

Say They Lacked Authority, as Fleet Was Interned and Not Surrendered.

ADHERED TO ARMISTICE

Contend That Crews, Knowing Machinery, Could Have Sunk Ships Despite All Precautions.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—No effective measures could have been taken by the British Admiralty to prevent the scuttling of the German fleet at Scapa Flow without violating the terms of the armistice, said a statement issued tonight by the British Embassy. The fact that the ships were merely interned and not surrendered said the statement, prevented the placing of armed guards on board. Even had this been done, it was said, it would not have been a guarantee against the sinking of the ships because the German crews, with their expert knowledge of the complex valve machinery, would have found it a comparatively easy matter to open the valves without detection.

It was originally recommended to the Allied Naval Council by the naval adviser of the British Admiralty, the statement said, that the armistice terms provided for surrender instead of internment of the German ships, but the recommendation, it was said, was overruled by the council.

"It should be clearly understood," the Embassy statement said, "that the decision for the German ships to be interned and not surrendered was made by the heads of the allied Governments.

"It was originally intended that the ships should be interned in neutral harbors, in which case it is clear that it would not have been possible for the Allies to have placed armed guards on board. In view of the difficulties concerning internment in neutral ports, the Allied Naval Council agreed that they should be interned at Scapa Flow, and that the Commander in Chief of the Grand Fleet should carry out the necessary measures.

"These necessary measures were therefore intended to be of the nature as far as possible similar to those that would have been put in force in a neutral port, and for this reason the placing of an armed guard on board was not considered admissible.

Could Have Eluded Guards.

"Even if an armed guard had been put on board the ship, the presence of the German care and maintenance parties would alone have rendered it impossible to guarantee that the ships would not be sunk. Their size and the complexity of their machinery would make it a comparatively easy matter for a few men with the detailed knowledge which they possess to open the necessary valves or to take other adequate steps without the knowledge of their guards.

"In accordance with their status of internment, inter-communication between the German ships was authorized to the extent that the German Admiral was permitted to visit the ships, and correspondence with the sick, doctors and chaplains were distributed by the British boats. Coal, oil and water were supplied by British sources, but provisions and other supplies came from Germany. Mails, both outgoing and ingoing, were censored.

"The conditions of internment placed the internment of the ships under the surveillance of the Allies so that if hostilities were renewed the latter would be in a position to seize the ships. They still, however, remained German property with German personnel in charge of their upkeep, and accordingly facilities of inter-communication could not be denied to the German Admiral who was in charge of the discipline.

"If a British guard had been put on these ships it would have been an unquestionable breach of the terms of the armistice.

"The care and maintenance parties on board had been reduced, from 1,700 to 1,800 men being sent back to Germany owing to sickness or breaches of discipline. No men were sent from Germany to take their places.

"Admiral von Reuter stated verbally that on his own responsibility he had given orders for the ships to be sunk, being under the impression that the armistice had ceased on Saturday.

"Great Britain acted in this matter as she has acted on every other matter in this war. She has adhered to the terms of the armistice, and has obeyed the laws of war and the laws of humanity."

RADICALS ACTIVE IN JAPAN.

Authorities Move to Prevent Spread of "Dangerous Thought."

TOKIO, May 23, (Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—Japanese authorities are somewhat disturbed over what looks like an organized effort to start a Socialist movement of an extreme nature in this country. Several secret meetings have been held at which speakers have proclaimed radical doctrines, clothing their remarks in menacing though veiled language. A number of agitators are reported to have circulated in the crowds at the industrial city of Osaka during a recent celebration of the attainment of majority of the Crown Prince.

The police and gendarmerie are actively engaged in the search for "dangerous thought" propagandists. Recently postcards propagating radical socialistic principles have been sent out from Tokio to petty officers and men of all army divisions throughout the empire.

Urgent instructions were sent to all gendarmerie stations and sub-stations to start searches for the offenders and take strict measures for the prevention of the spread of "dangerous thought" among the army. Domiciliary searches were carried out in all directions, but very few copies of the propaganda postcards were seized; despite the strenuous efforts of the authorities.

The postcards were printed in old style types and all bear the postmarks of Yotsuya and Koyama post offices in Tokio. No trace of the authors has so far been found.

Mr. Homma, Chief Secretary of the Metropolitan Police Board, in a statement declared that so far there is no indication of Bolshevism or Nihilism having been introduced in Japan or as having affected the thought of the Japanese people.

Drummond of Montreal Corot's "L'Ile Heureuse" brought 6,800 guineas, Corot's "Evening," 4,800 guineas; Corot's "Ville d'Avray—the Boatman," 1,500 guineas; Daubigny's "Le Retour du Troupeau," 7,800 guineas; Daubigny's "On the Oise," 3,600 guineas; Degas's "Artist in His Studio," 1,100 guineas; J. Israels's "Age and Infancy," 4,800 guineas; Matthew Maris's "Girl with Goat and Kid," 3,600 guineas; Mauve's "Ploughing," 2,500 guineas. The total of the day's sale was $340,000.

"Le Retour du Troupeau" and "L'Ile Heureuse" were bought on behalf of Lady Drummond and Sir George Drummond by their son, Hartley Drummond, respectively, both for presentation to the Montreal Art Gallery.

MOONEY CASE IN THE HOUSE

Inquiry Ordered Into Alleged Labor Department Work for the Convict.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Secretary Wilson is asked in a resolution adopted today by the House to report the activities of officials and employes of the Department of Labor in connection with the case of Thomas J. Mooney, convicted in California of complicity in the Preparedness Day bomb explosions.

Committee amendments to the resolution under which the Secretary might exercise discretion in answering the questions were voted down by the House, and the measure, as passed, virtually directs his compliance. Mr. Wilson is said by his friends not to be opposed to sending the information to the House.

Must Return Baby to Asylum.

The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court decided yesterday that Mr. and Mrs. John Feinbloom must return James Bobby Ash, foundling, whom they sought to adopt, to the New York Nursery and Child's Hospital, pending the determination of the appeal by the Feinblooms from an order of Supreme Court Justice Tierney, directing that the foundling be returned to the custody of the institution because the authorities decided after an investigation not to consent to the adoption of the child by the Feinblooms.

the application for such action will be made to the courts within a few days.

Practically all the evidence produced yesterday before the Legislative Committee had to do with the Rand School. A document seized at the school was produced in which was outlined a complete plan of propaganda among the colored people, especially in the South. This was regarded as perhaps the most important piece of documentary evidence so far displayed.

Letters were also introduced to show that closest relation existed between the Rand School and the Soviet Russia Bureau, which already has been shown by evidence as an agency intent upon fostering and focusing radical and revolutionary sentiment.

Another feature was testimony showing that the Rand School of Social Science through its publishing department was disseminating the reddest kind of red propaganda, advocating the overthrown of the Government by force and violence if necessary.

A form of letter in response to questions regarding the school's widely advertised correspondence courses urged those seeking instruction to prepare for the revolution, and asked them if they were ready to "meet the militia."

Stubs in the check book taken from the safe of the school showed that some of its lecturers, far from working for the love of the "cause," had been in receipt of very ample remuneration. Professor Scott Nearing, for instance, had received for his services during a period of thirty days beginning in April and ending last month, $610 from the school funds. The school took a "commission" for its work in arranging lectures.

The plan for radical propaganda among the negroes, according to Archibald E. Stevenson, associate counsel of the committee, was taken from the desk of David P. Berenberg, director of the correspondence courses. Before this document was put in evidence, Mr. Stevenson had offered a letter from one Francis J. Peregrine, who described himself as a negro "with some education" and in quest of more, also to Director Berenberg, and the latter's answer in which he said that some of the negro workers had informed leaders at the Rand School that missionary work among their race was urgent lest the negroes "be formed by the capitalists into a mercenary army" for the suppression of the social revolution.

The startling plan for the organization of the negroes into radical units bore the signature of W. A. Domingo, a negro lecturer and writer, whose connection with the Rand School had been established by testimony already in the record. Domingo discussed the subject at great length. His discourse went into great detail.

It was read to the committee by Deputy Attorney General Samuel A. Berger. There was no testimony to show whether the leaders in charge of the Rand School propaganda work had taken definite action to carry the plan into effect, but before the Domingo plan was introduced there had been testimony to show that they were considering plans for more intensive and extensive work among the colored workers, and that in the Twenty-first Assembly District in Manhattan, for instance, which takes in a large colored section, the Socialist organization was controlled and maintained almost exclusively by colored Socialists.

"The negro has race consciousness, but no class consciousness," wrote Domingo. "We must transmute that race consciousness into class consciousness."

The detailed program for the work as outlined in the plan follows:

1. Condemn all acts of injustice to the negro.
2. Socialists must stress lynchings in the South and condemn them.
3. Give negroes more prominence in the discussion; they like that.
4. Do everything to attract negroes to our meetings. Report and denounce all cases of racial discrimination that come to our knowledge, especially by the labor unions.
5. Launch a special propaganda among negroes to show to them the benefit they will derive from the economic changes we propose.
6. Subsidize radical negro newspapers.
7. Send radical white speakers to spread radical propaganda among the negroes, especially in the South, where the black hosts are most likely to be organized into a "mercenary army." Show them the "sham of our democracy" by emphasizing the discrimination practiced in elections. Show them that Christ, William Lloyd Garrison, the Abolitionist, and Abraham Lincoln were denounced as radicals in their day, while today they are regarded as great benefactors of the race.
8. Induce intelligent negroes to attend radical meetings of whites and impress upon them that the Socialists are their friends.
9. Avoid stressing problems of race and emphasize the advantages to all of the co-operative commonwealth.

Mr. Domingo urged that it might be well "to subsidize a few negro orators." He said that the church was the agency in the South that exerted the greatest influence on the nego and stressed the difficulty of whites—especially Socialists—in reaching the negroes through that forum and recommended that no effort be spared to win over some negro preachers. He characterized the negro preacher as owned body and soul by the capitalist class and as the "most parasitical of celestial navigators."

Members of the committee who listened to the reading expressed amazement. Senator Lusk said that he regarded this evidence of a detailed plan for the spreading of Bolshevist propaganda among negros in the South as the greatest menace the evidence before the committee so far has disclosed.

Just as the hearing was drawing to a close Mr. Stevenson put in evidence a stub from the check book taken from the safe of the Rand School.

"I simply wish to call the attention of the committee to check stub No. 92," said Mr. Stevenson. "It is dated Aug. 13, 1917, payable to the order of A. A. Heller, transfer of deposit, $5,000. I do not know exactly what it means, but it is rather interesting, because Mr. Heller is chief of the Commercial Bureau of the Soviet Russia Mission to the United States."

Clarence L. Converse, one of the special agents of the committee who conducted the raid on the Rand School, occupied the witness chair practically all day. Mr. Converse described the premises and the activities, including the courses, of the Rand School to the committee. He said that the teaching staff included Alderman Algernon Lee, director; Scott Nearing, A. L. Trachtenberg, Harry Dana, David P. Berenberg, Herman Epstein, Benjamin Glassberg, Ludwig Lore, editor of the Volkszeitung; Louis P. Lochner of the "Ford Peace Mission," and the Rev. Norman Thomas.

The first exhibit from the Rand School offered in evidence by Mr. Stevenson was a copy of The Communist, the official organ of the Left Wing Socialists, of which John Reed is the editor. Mr. Converse identified at as having been seized in the raid, and read in evidence an article beginning with the question: "Do we hold that the revolution must come by violence?" and continuing:

"To answer the question by yes or no would be asinine. It may, again it may not. The Left Wing, all the protest of the Right Wing to the contrary notwithstanding, repudiate socialism by assassination. The Left Wing hopes that the proletariat will conquer its enemy, the capitalist class, with as little bloodshed as possible."

"Who is the publisher of that?" asked Chairman Lusk of the committee.

"John Reed is the editor, Eadmonn McAlpin, associate editor, and Benjamin Gitlow, business manager," said Mr. Stevenson. "On the editorial board appear N. I. Hourwich, B. D. Wolfe, M. Zucker, and J. Wilenkin. It might be proper to call attention to the fact that Mr. Zucker has been convicted under the Espionage act and sentenced to fifteen years in prison for utterances made in this city."

"This article," Chairman Lusk said, "indicates that they are not going to use any more violence or commit any more bloodshed than is necessary to bring about this forcible violent revolution."

"That appears to be correct," said Mr. Stevenson.

"I would suggest," said Senator Lusk, "that a copy of this paper be turned over to the District Attorney's office, together with the facts in reference to its circulation and publication. This paper, in my opinion, is a clear violation of the penal law of this State."

Commenting on a letter that was read, Chairman Lusk said: "It is clear that for over two years the Rand School has been advocating armed preparedness to take over the Government. And then they complain of an investigation of their activities."

A letter to M. E. Rabb, Rural Route 7, Xenia, Ohio, from the Rand School which was read into the record called attention to an attachment against the Molders' Union by the employers in Connecticut as a result of damages caused by a strike.

"What are you going to do when the State robs you and your union and so makes you helpless to strike?" the letter stated. "There is only one thing to do: Take over the State. Are the members of your local prepared to take over and conduct wisely and well the affairs of your town and county? Are you ready to meet the militia when the powers of the State and courts are against you?"

The last question was asked in pretty nearly every answer from the Rand School to requests for literature or inquiries regarding its correspondence courses. Almost a score of such communications were put into the record.

"Have you any way of identifying the writer of this?" asked Senator Lusk of the associate counsel.

"I think we might call Mr. Berenberg and ask him if he wrote it," said Mr. Stevenson. "These replies are carbon copies on which the signature does not appear."

The requests for literature or the quest for instruction in some of the courses taught by correspondence came from all parts of the country. The Rand School charged a small fee to each student. Testimony introduced later at the hearing showed that agents who were sent to drum up trade in California were paid 25 per cent., and in one instance 50 per cent., commission on the money they brought into the school.

In striking contrast to the letters to revolutionary "comrades" was the reply to a letter received by the Rand School from Joseph Shaplan, a Socialist lecturer. The letter was taken from the files of Mr. Berenberg, according to Agent Converse. Mr. Shaplan had offered his services as a lecturer on conditions in Russia under the Bolshevist régime.

"I have not heard a word in reply," wrote Mr. Shaplan to Comrade Berenberg. "I appreciate that the Socialist movement in America, unlike the Socialist parties of Europe, has allied itself irrevocably with the Bolshevist régime, but it seems to me that an institution like the Rand School might not object to having the anti-Bolshevist view, the view of Kautsky, Eisner, and others presented in a scientific manner. Or has the handling of the subject from this point of view been included in the official Index Expurgatorium?"

In the reply sent to Shaplan, which was dug out from the files by the agents of the committee, he was told bluntly but "fraternally" that "as a course on Russia has already been planned and advertised, the school cannot back your course of lectures."

An interesting exhibit identified by the witness as having been taken from the Rand School files showed that Joseph M. Coldwell, formerly State organizer of the Socialist Party of Rhode Island, had been accepted as a lecturer by the school. The memorandum read by the witness showed that Coldwell had been convicted of violation of the espionage law and sentenced to three years in Atlanta, and that he was out under $25,000 bonds pending appeal.

Mr. Stevenson a little later offered in evidence the check book of the Rand School taken out of the big safe which the raiders were compelled to force open even after they had presented a search warrant calling for the seizure of its contents.

"In looking through the various pamphlets and leaflets which were on sale at the Rand School book store I found one by Upton Sinclair with the title 'The Profits of Religion.' And that made me think that the committee might be interested in looking into the profits of agitation."

Reading from stubs, Mr. Converse, prompted by the counsel, told off amounts paid to Scott Nearing during the thirty days from April 28 to May 29 this year:

"April 28, $100; May 3, $100; May 3, $95; May 10, $95; May 17, $95; May 24, $35; May 29, $35. In addition to these items, totaling $555, there were other items shown which brought the total for the thirty days up to $610.

"I want to call the attention of the committee to the fact that if Mr. Nearing had had continued as an associate professor in the University of Pennsylvania, he would probably today be earning not more than $200 a month," remarked Mr. Stevenson. "I think it is a rather interesting commentary upon the self-sacrifice of those who are agitating for the 'despoiled' and 'oppressed' of this State."

The committee at the close of its hearing yesterday adjourned to meet again on Tuesday, July 9.

The Communist, Recently Raided, Not Published This Week.

The Communist, the official weekly newspaper published at 43 West Twenty-ninth Street, by the "Left Wing" section of the Socialist Party, was not published this week. At the Rand School of Science bookstore, in East Fifteenth Street, near Fifth Avenue, it was said that the paper had ceased publication. At the Twenty-ninth Street address it was said that the paper will be combined with another radical paper known as The Revolutionary Age, and that the new combination weekly will appear the latter part of next week.

The offices of The Communist, the editor of which was John Reed, were raided a week ago today by State agents acting on a search warrant secured at the instance of the Legislative Committee which is investigating Bolshevism and kindred radical movements in this State.

The Wardens of St. Mark's Protestant Episcopal Church, in Stuyvesant Square, are investigating a report that one of the most radical of the Bolshevist papers published in this country is occupying offices in a building owned by that church. The paper in question is printed in Russian, and its former editor is now a member of the staff of Ludwig A. C. K. Martens, the unrecognized Bolshevist "envoy" to this country. The lease is in the name of a son of another member of the Martens "embassy" staff.

GREET MEN OF NC'S REACHING HOMEPORT

Seaplanes and Blimps Welcome Aviators Coming Up the Bay.

NAVY GIVES ITS PRAISE

Read, First to Cross Ocean in Aircraft, Happy Over "Glorious Homecoming."

Greeted down the bay by five seaplanes, two blimps, and a score of naval and private water craft, bearing their families, official committees, and hundreds of well-wishers, Lieut. Commander Albert Cushing Read, U. S. N., and the crew of the victorious NC-4, first air machine to cross the Atlantic, returned to New York yesterday afternoon on the transport Zeppelin. On board the Zeppelin were also Commander John H. Towers of the NC-3 and Lieut. Commander P. N. L. Bellinger of the NC-1 and members of their respective crews. Leaden skies and a steady downpour interfered with the success of the aerial demonstration planned in their honor, but the enthusiasm of those who braved the elements to welcome the aviators was not lessened. Outside the piers at the Port of Debarkation, Hoboken, a crowd waited for the appearance of the aviators and gave them a sendoff as they rode away in automobiles.

When word was received that the Zeppelin had reached Quarantine, the official boats started down the bay. The submarine chaser Herreshoff, carrying the wives and relatives of the returning aviators, the Manhattan with a delegation from the Aero Club of America, and the Patrol, with officials of the Mayor's Committee of Welcome, all got under way at about the same time.

When the Manhattan got as close to the Zeppelin as safety would allow, the wives of the airmen scanned the decks of the transport, which was crowded with several thousand soldiers. The calmest of the wives was Mrs. Towers, whose husband was adrift at sea for sixty hours after he was compelled to descend. An Ensign, familiar with the wigwag code, volunteered to send messages and personal greetings were exchanged between the two boats.

The several welcoming committees gave the airmen a noisy greeting, while a seaplane descended low enough to drop an invitation from the American Flying Club asking Commander Read and his men to be their guests at a dinner at the Hotel Commodore on next Wednesday night. The Zeppelin did not stop in the lower bay, as is usually the custom, but continued up the river with its escort of welcomers. The seaplanes did not continue all the way to the piers.

As the Zeppelin slipped into Pier 4 at the port of debarkation a military band broke forth into the tune of "Hail, hail, the gang's all here," while the group on the pier cheered the men who were lined along the railing of the top deck. With Commander Towers leading, the flyers walked off the steamship and lined up in single file, the NC-1 men having the place of honor at the extreme right. Salutes were exchanged between the commanders and Rear Admiral James H. Glennon, representing Secretary Daniels, following which the latter said:

"In the name of the Secretary of the Navy I welcome you home and congratulate you upon your splendid achievement which has reflected so much lustre on yourselves and the United States naval service."

Admiral Glennon then shook hands with each of the airmen, telling them that they were free to do as they pleased until Monday when they have to report to Washington for further orders. The officers and crew of the three NC boats then walked to the end of the pier, where their wives and friends were waiting in a room set aside for them. E. H. Howard, former chief machinists mate of the NC-4, whose hand was cut off by a propeller on the eve of the flight from Rockaway Point, was one of those who greeted the aviators. He told them that he was glad the accident had not happened before it did, for then he would not have had the opportunity of working on the seaplane which made history for this country. Howard, who is regarded as one of the best mechanics in the naval air service, is still under treatment in the hospital.

The first remark that Commander Read made when questioners surrounded him was:

"Well, we went over in a seaplane and came back in a Zeppelin!"

Wearing the ribbon of the Royal Air Force Cross, which was first awarded to Hawker, and the emblem of the Order of the Tower and Sword, which was bestowed on him by the Portuguese Government, Commander Read talked briefly of the flight to Europe.

"I regret that the operation was not entirely successful," he said. "By that I mean that all of the three seaplanes did not get over. We have had a wonderful reception everywhere, but I am beginning to realize that the receptions are only just starting. If today's greeting is to be any criterion it will be a glorious homecoming."

After gathering in the office of Brig. Gen. G. H. McManus where they were congratulated by Colonel Archie Miller, commander of the army aviation field at Mineola, L. I., Colonel Frank Andrews, Inspector General of the Air Service; Captain King Snell, and other representatives of the army's air service, the entire party was taken in automobiles to Manhattan.

The navy's Committee of Welcome, in addition to Rear Admiral Glennon, included Captain P. Dymington, Lieut. Commander W. F. Frost, Commander R. W. Cabaniss, in charge of the naval station at Rockaway Point, from which the NC planes started on their flight, and Lieut. Commander Robert Donohue.

The piers at Hoboken were guarded by four hundred men of Companies C and D of the 13th Infantry, under command of Major Barrett. While the reception to the returning fliers was in progress the soldiers stood at attention along both sides of the pier.

The personnel of the NC-4, which returned on the Zeppelin, was as follows: Commanding officer, Lieut. Comm. A. C. Read; pilots, Lieutenant E. F. Stone and Lieutenant W. Hinton; radio operator, Ensign H. C. Rodd; engineer, Chief Special Mechanic E. Rhoades, and reserve pilot Lieutenant J. L. B. Reese.

The members of the crew of the NC-3 who returned were: Commander J. H. Towers, commanding officer of the squadron; Commander H. C. Richardson, pilot; Lieutenant D. H. McCullogh, pilot; Lieut. Comm. R. A. Lavender, radio operator, and Lieutenant B. Rhoades, reserve pilot.

The officers and crew of the NC-1 were: Lieut. Comm. P. N. L. Bellinger, Lieut. Comm. M. A. Mitscher, pilot; Lieutenant L. T. Barin, pilot; Chief Machinists Mate C. I. Kesler, engineer, and Machinist R. Christensen, reserve pilot.

On the evening of June 21 Commander Read spoke in the dining hall of the Zeppelin to the army and navy officers on board. In his address, portions of which appear in The Dirigible, the ship's paper, he said among other things:

"Crossing the Atlantic by seaplane will not be profitable commercially soon. The dirigible will accomplish more along this line within the next few years."

In telling of his flight to the Azores, Commander Read said that the NC-4 had been flying through a thick fog when suddenly he and his men looked through a hole in the fog, and to their keen surprise saw the surf breaking against the shore. Then they realized, he said, that their journey had been completed, and that they were at the Azores.

Among the invitations extended yesterday to the fliers was one from Glenn H. Curtiss, who asked them to be his guests at a dinner at the Commodore on the evening of July 10. At this dinner Mr. Curtiss will present to the commander of each of the NC boats a model of the plane. Secretary Daniels has promised to attend, and invitations have been sent to the Governor General of Newfoundland, Brig. Gen. L. E. O. Charlton of the British Air Service, and scientists.

The historic flight overseas was begun from the Naval Air Station at Rockaway Point, L. I., on the morning of May 8, when the three NC planes left on the first leg of their journey to Trepassey Bay, Newfoundland. On this trip the NC-4 met with a mishap, and her arrival at the destination was delayed until May 14. The "hop-off" to the Azores was made on May 16. Ill-luck befell both the NC-1 and NC-3, both of which were compelled to alight at sea.

The NC-1 came down eighty miles from the Azores, and her crew were taken aboard a navy boat in the vicinity. An attempt was made to salvage the plane, but she was a total loss in the heavy seas.

After having wandered eighty miles off her course, due to a heavy fog, Commander Towers's plane, the NC-3, alighted on the water. Buffeted about for fifty-two hours, Commander Towers and his crew succeeded in "taxiing" the plane into the harbor of Ponta Delgada.

The NC-4 finished this stage of the trip successfully. After many delays due to bad weather the NC-4 on May 20 continued alone on the flight to Lisbon. On the following day Commander Read and his crew reached Plymouth, England.

HOPES TO START FLIGHT OVER OCEAN TODAY

Vice Admiral Kerr Believes the Weather Will Be Favorable for Handley-Page Dash.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., June 27.—Vice Admiral Mark Kerr announced tonight that he hoped to start his transatlantic flight in the Handley-Page biplane tomorrow.

HARBOR GRACE, Newfoundland, June 27.—Transatlantic flight weather is improving somewhat, so Major Geoffrey I. Taylor, meteorological officer of the Handley-Page expedition, reported today, adding that what now is needed principally is an improvement in local conditions.

Today's bright sunshine makes the fog, mist, and rain of the past week or more seem almost unbelievable, and unless the light westerly wind now prevailing shifts, Major Taylor's wish seems about to be fulfilled. Major Gran, charged with the responsibility of navigating the four-engined biplane on its Newfoundland-England flight, who was so pessimistic yesterday that he predicted a possible two weeks' delay in starting, changed today into a lively optimist. He was almost ready to wager that the Handley-Page will sail away tomorrow.

Whether or not that prediction is fulfilled, Gran, in the absence of Rear Admiral Mark Kerr, and Major H. G. Brackley, who have gone to St. John's, took charge of the Handley-Page, and did the last possible bit of making ready. He had her wheeled into the sunshine, hopeful that the heat and the breeze together would dry her out before morning, for he figured that she had absorbed between two and three hundred pounds of water during the past week's exposure, and that she would have just that much useless dead weight to carry should she be flown in her present condition. Gran also set the two-bladed tractor propellors, and the four-bladed pusher propellors on the front and rear engines twirling so that should the attempt be made to start tomorrow a stiff and balky power plant may not delay the going.

Orders have been given to turn over to Gran every bit of weather information which reaches here over the wires, and he is in intimate touch with Kerr and Brackley, who are prepared to race back here the moment conditions are propitious. Not only are all the members of the expedition daily more eager to depart, but they feel that Sunday, being a holiday, would be an ideal day to reach home, whereas on Monday, according to the reports received here, the world's attention may be so fixed upon the coming of peace with the signing of the treaty by the Germans that their flight would not get the attention it deserves.

The extreme need for brisk and favorable winds all the way across if the Handley-Page is to reach London and better the Vickers-Vimy distance record, however, is just as acute today as it was ten days ago, and only a spanking breeze with them can justify a departure tomorrow.

So upon tomorrow morning's report from Major Taylor really rests the decision whether to go or to face another day's disappointment and delay.

ARMY HAS 3,414 PLANES AVAILABLE FOR SERVICE

Gen. March Reports Enough Machines in the Country to Form 136 Squadrons.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—There are at present in the United States 1,340 planes belonging to the United States Army in serviceable condition, or enough to make approximately fifty squadrons. Beside these there are 862 other battle planes in storage, with motors taken out, or enough to form thirty-four squadrons.

This is part of the information which the army air service today laid before General March, Chief of Staff of the Army, in response to a request from him for a complete, detailed statement of the service plane resources of the aviation section. General March wanted to know how many planes were at this time available for use by the army.

Beside the battle planes, sufficient in number today to form eighty-four squadrons, General March was informed today that the advanced training planes, of the type now being used by the army for forest patrol, could, if necessary, be used for observation planes. Of these, he was informed, there are 653 in commission at the fields and 156 in storage, enough to form fifty-two squadrons, or enough of both kinds to form 136 squadrons.

This is quite a different showing from that of the army on March 1, 1916, when the total resources in planes was thirteen airplanes, four hydroplanes, and one flying boat. On March 19, 1916, the first army aero squadron went into Mexico with eight Curtiss JN-3 planes, a type now considered inferior to the primary training planes. After these planes had been in Mexico two months four more planes were shipped to them.

The resources of the air service in planes are given in the report submitted to General March today as follows:

DH-4 Type.—Designed for observation and day bombing; 1,191 in commission; 842 in storage with motors taken out; total, 2,033, or enough to make 81 1-3 squadrons.

Spad Type.—Designed for pursuit; 27 in commission; none in storage; enough to make one squadron.

La Pere Type.—Service planes; 18 in commission; none in storage; enough to form two-thirds of a squadron.

Handley-Page Type.—Bombers; 4 in commission; 20 in storage with motors out; total, 24; enough to form one squadron.

SE-5 Type.—Advanced training planes; 46 in commission; 57 in storage with motors out; total, 103; enough to form four squadrons.

JN-6H Type.—Advanced training planes; 653 in commission; 156 in storage with motors taken out; total, 809; enough to form 32 squadrons.

S-4C Type.—Advanced training planes; 400 in commission; none in storage; enough to form 16 squadrons.

Total.—2,339 in commission; 1,075 in storage with motors taken out; total planes, 3,414, or enough to make 136 squadrons.

WETS STILL HOPE WILSON WILL ACT

Liquor Dealers in a Quandary in Face of Conflicting Laws and Legal Opinions.

APPEAL SENT TO PRESIDENT

Bill Before Congress Stirs Interest of Club Members and Householders.

Hoping for an eleventh-hour reprieve in the shape of a proclamation by President Wilson, suspending the operation of the War Prohibition act, which becomes effective next Tuesday, proprietors or restaurants and saloons continued yesterday to plan for the sale of liquor after July 1.

A long cable message to President Wilson was sent from this city yesterday urging that the attitude of Congress and the decision of the Court of Appeals upholding the constitutionality of the War Prohibition act, made the President the last resource of those opposing prohibition.

Representatives of liquor interests, who had during the week expected such action by President Wilson, began to despair of a proclamation by him before July 1, declaring demobilization at an end, and to pin all their hopes on such legal battles as will be undertaken to test the validity of the War Prohibition act. Although the Court of Appeals in the "2.75 per cent. beer" case held the act to be constitutional, this will not prevent further suits to test the power of Congress to pass and enforce the act. William H. Hirst, counsel for the Society of Restaurateurs, said yesterday that further suits would probably be brought to test the constitutionality of the act, which he said had not been passed upon decisively by the Court of Appeals.

While neither the retailers of liquor in restaurants, saloons or retail liquor shops, nor their counsel, were fully decided yesterday upon the course to be pursued after Monday, it is probable that most such places will continue to do business. The more cautious will sell only "2.75 beer," while others will sell beer and light wines, standing ready to be arrested for the sake of testing the issue, if need be.

The maze of laws, threatened further legislation, the possibility of action by the President, the questions of constitutionality, and doubt as to the policy of the Government in enforcing the war prohibition act prior to the passage by Congress of an enforcing bill, have left men in the liquor business somewhat dazed and uncertain what to do next. While hoping they will have a respite before July 1, most of them are playing safe, under the advice of counsel, by selling out their stocks as fast as they can.

Emory R. Buckner, who is associated with Elihu Root and William D. Guthrie in the "2.75 per cent. beer case," said that the proposed enforcing bill, the full text of which was printed in THE NEW YORK TIMES yesterday, would be proved unconstitutional, so far as it attempted to define an intoxicant, as a liquor which contained "one-half of one per cent. or more" of alcohol.

"You cannot make a hard drink of a soft one by legislation," Mr. Buckner said. "As fas as '2.75 per cent. beer' is concerned, the issue will still be whether it is, as a matter of fact, intoxicating or not."

William H. Hirst, counsel for the Society of Restaurateurs, who read the text of the proposed bill in THE NEW YORK TIMES yesterday said:

"I have not had a chance to study this bill, and I don't want to be understood as speaking as counsel for these interests, but as a student of this question for years, I will say that Congress cannot without rhyme or reason declare a substance which is non-intoxicating to be intoxicating, any more than it can arbitrarily call a mushroom, which is innocuous, a toadstool, which is harmful. A legislative body may define an article or a subject within reasonable limits, but when it transcends what is natural and possible it is exceeding that authority."

Mr. Hirst said that the hotel and restaurant men would meet on Monday again to determine finally what steps to take. He said that the only sure thing was that there would be no action in concert and that each proprietor would drop alcohol entirely, restrict himself to "2.75 beer," sell beer and light wine, or sell liquors of all descriptions, according to his individual opinion on the situation. Mr. Hirst said, however, that he would advise no one to go further than selling light wines and beer, by way of conforming to the policy suggested by President Wilson in his message to Congress.

If passed as it stands and shown to be constitutional, the enforcement bill will make shipwreck of the plans of the majority of the clubs in this city and a few of the hotels to store liquor on the premises for the individual owners. Most of the clubs have either apportioned their liquor stocks pro rata, and allowed each member to buy his share, or auctioned off the contents of their cellars, allowing members the privilege of keeping the liquor on the club premises and drinking it there, if lawful. The proposed law, however, would make such a proceeding unlawful and would apparently make any club, which tempted to follow such a policy, liable to be raided and "abated" as a common nuisance.

Another feature of the law, which stirred great interest yesterday, is the passage which would make all possessors of personal liquor supplies confess their holdings in a statement to the Internal Revenue Collector, which is to be placed on file and opened to public inspection during office hours. Under this provision any man would incur severe penalties if he attempted to make a secret of the amount of liquor he had thought right to set aside for his personal consumption.

Plans for a wild windup of the "wet age" in Madison Square Garden received a check yesterday when the New York Life Insurance Company, which controls the Garden, sought to cancel the lease which had been obtained by the promoters of the so-called "Highflyers' Club," which planned the affair. J. R. Martin, Chairman of a committee representing the club, called at the offices of the company yesterday to make a payment of $1,200, in addition to a deposit of $600 already made for the hire of the property from 6 o'clock in the morning of the last "wet" day to 12 o'clock at noon on the first "dry" day. Officials of the company, however, declined to accept the $1,200, and sought to return the $600, arguing that they had leased the hall for a military show and entertainment, but that the lessees had been advertising a "bacchanalian revel" and "the greatest wake in history." The conference ended with both parties running from the office, calling on witnesses to observe that each had refused to touch the money. Ben H. Atwell, one of the promoters, asserted that legal steps would be taken today to protect the lease, and that the largest bar ever built would be in operation at the Garden on Monday and Monday night. Officials of the insurance company admitted yesterday that they had been deluged with protests by the Anti-Saloon League and by others against the proposed revel and wake.

PROHIBITION ACT PROBABLY HELD UP

such liquid is withdrawn from the factory, or otherwise disposed of, the alcoholic content thereof shall, under such rules and regulations as the Commissioner may prescribe, be reduced below such one-half of 1 per centum of alcohol. The alcohol removed from such liquid, if evaporated and not condensed and saved, shall pay no tax; if saved, shall be subject to the same law as other alcoholic liquors. Nothing herein shall prevent the storage in United States bonded warehouses, in the custody of a United States Collector of Internal Revenue, of all liquor manufactured prior to the taking effect of this act, or to prevent the transportation of such liquor for purposes not prohibited when the tax is paid."

A new paragraph was added at the end of the bill providing specifically that the war time prohibition and industrial alcohol provisions of the bill, as found in Titles I. and III., shall take effect from and after the passage of the act, and that Title II., which deals with national prohibition alone, shall take effect and be in force on and after January 16, 1920.

Section 40 of Title II. of the bill, dealing with national prohibition, as agreed on yesterday, provided for an appropriation of $3,500,000 for covering the expenses of enforcement. The committee today adopted a new Section 40, which provides for an indefinite appropriation as follows:

"Section 40. That the Commissioner of Internal Revenue and the Attorney General of the United States are hereby respectfully authorized to appoint and employ such assistants, experts, clerks, and other employes as they may deem necessary for the enforcement of the provisions of this act, and there is hereby authorized to be appropriated out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated such sum as may be required for the enforcement of the act."

President's Power Challenged.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The question of whether the President would have the power to repeal war-time prohibition by declaring demobilization complete was discussed in the House today by Representative Hoch, Republican, of Kansas.

"There seems to be a general belief," Mr. Hoch said, "that the President not only has the power to repeal the act, but intends to do so. The liquor interests in many sections of the country are openly defying the law and are taking out licenses for the next fiscal year, and newspapers are devoting much space to the publication of stories forecasting a repeal.

"Nevertheless, it is certain that the President has no moral or legal right to repeal the act. He lacks the moral right because both branches of Congress and the country at large expressed in no uncertain terms opposition to his request that the act should be repealed, insofar as it affects the sale of light wines and beer.

"Neither has he the legal right to repeal the act. That cannot be done until demobilization is terminated, and certainly he cannot state in good faith that demobilization is complete when hundreds of thousands of soldiers are still in the service."

Representative Barkley, Democrat, of Kentucky, interrupted to remark that there was no foundation whatsoever for stories which said the President would repeal the act.

"They are simply rumors," he added. "I will venture to say that not a single person in the country knows what the President's intention in the matter is."

To Test Law in St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, June 27.—John F. Pensa, President of the St. Louis Retail Liquor Dealers, announced today that he had advised the 600 members of the association to continue the sale of all liquor after July 1 in an effort to test the enforcement of wartime prohibition. The decision of the United States Court of Appeals in New York, modifying the injunction against enforcement by district attorneys, he said, would have no effect on the stand of local saloon keepers, as they expected only a few arrests would be made as a basis for test cases.

Approximately 600 saloon keepers have applied for new licenses to cover the last six months of the year, according to announcement of the Excise Commissioner. These applications, however, it was said, are regarded as conditional on the lifting of wartime prohibition.

Constitutional Test Promised.

HARTFORD, June 27.—United States District Attorney John F. Crosby today stated in a letter to counsel representing Connecticut liquor dealers that violations of the wartime prohibition law would bring prosecutions. He added that if the dealers should determine to file a bill in equity he would not agree to suspend prosecution pending the decision on the bill nor be governed by the bill unless an injunction was secured. The final statement of his position was that an injunction in one jurisdiction would not prevent the Department of Justice from making prosecutions in other jurisdictions.

Mr. Crosby expresses a willingness to assist in making a test of the law with all posible speed. He promised upon the first violation called to his attention to summon a Grand Jury and obtain an indictment so drawn as to make possible a demurrer to test the constitutionality of the law.

If the dealers enter a demurrer, Mr. Crosby agreed to urge a prompt hearing and decision by the United States District Court. If the District Judge upholds the dealers, "his ruling on the demurrer can be taken at once to the Supreme Court." He further stated that if this plan of action were followed he would "in all probability refrain from commencing other prosecutions until the initial case is determined."

It had been previously understood that the dealers intended to apply for an injunction on Monday to restrain Mr. Crosby from interfering with the business.

LOUISVILLE, June 27.—With the expectation that Congress will strike out of the Wartime Prohibition Enforcement bill the clause which prevents exportation of whisky, liquor dealers in Kentucky have under consideration a plan to ship their surplus stocks to Europe after June 30. For this purpose, it is learned here, a corporation would be formed to handle the exportation.

By this means, according to W. N. Cox, President of the Louisville Warehouse Company, all of the estimated 40,000,000 gallons of liquor expected to be left on hand in Kentucky after wartime prohibition becomes effective will have been disposed of before constitutional prohibition is established.

CHOATE DEFENDS DYE PROTECTION

Explains Chemical Foundation's Work, and Calls Congressman's Statements Inaccurate.

NOT FORMED FOR PROFIT

Nor Has the Organization Power to Manufacture Dyestuffs, He Declares.

Joseph H. Choate, general counsel for the Chemical Foundation, gave out yesterday a copy of a letter which he had sent to Congressman J. Hampton Moore of Philadelphia calling the Congressman's attention to what, he asserted, were inaccurate statements made by the former on the floor of the house on June 20, when Mr. Moore discussed the Chemical Foundation, which was formed to handle German dye patents for the benefit of the American industry. Mr. Choate also explained to Mr. Moore the connection of Alien Property Custodian Francis P. Garvan with the Foundation of which he is the President.

Mr. Choate first considered the statement of Mr. Moore that the Chemical Foundation was formed for the purpose of engaging in the manufacture of dyestuffs in the United States. "This is precisely the opposite of the truth," said Mr. Choate. "The Foundation has no power under its charter to do anything of the kind. It can only license others to manufacture under its patents. It must license by nonexclusive license up to the capacity of the market any competent and truly American manufacturer who may apply. Its main purpose is to prevent the monopolization of the inventions covered by the patents and to make them available to all, whether members of the Foundation or not."

Mr. Choate then took up the statement of the Representative that as a result of carrying out the plan of organizing a trustee corporation to purchase the patents "somebody" would make money. He said that if Mr. Moore intended to intimate that the trustees, officers or stockholders of the Foundation are going to make money, then he, the Representative, had not read the history of the Foundation which he had held in his hand while speaking. Mr. Choate pointed out that no trustee can ever own a share of the stock, and that no officer or director owned stock except the necessary qualifying shares. Mr. Choate continued: "The stock is being distributed widely and in such small allotments that ultimately the corporation will be owned in equal shares by 500 different concerns, none of which will own more than $1,000 worth of stock. The stockholders can never receive more than 6 per cent. on the cash at par paid for their stock."

"All surplus above this figure, 6 per cent. on $500,000, or $30,000 a year divided among the whole industry, has to be used for research and the advancement of science. Does this look like a money-making institution? Some return equivalent to a fair rate of interest obviously had to be provided for, if the money for the purchase and defense of the patents was to be raised. The smaller concerns in the industry were in no position to give money outright in aid of the project, nor was any philanthropist discernible who was so inclined."

"Either the people who put up the money had to be given a chance to avoid its loss or the small manufacturers had to be left out, leaving the enterprise tied up to the large concerns. The charter requires that if the Foundation succeeds, the preferred stock must be promptly retired by the return to the stockholders of their investment. That will leave the company with 1,000 shares of common stock, not more than two shares held by any one concern and limited to 6 per cent. dividends, if declared. Here, surely is an alarming display of avarice."

Mr. Choate then took up the criticism that the Trustees are not dye makers. It was necessary, he said, to so intrust the voting stock if the danger of having the Foundation fall into the control of any group of dye makers was to be obviated.

As to the criticism that Mr. Garvin's connection with the Foundation must detract from his work as Alien Property Custodian, and hereafter as Assistant Attorney General, when he assumes that office, Mr. Choate said that Mr. Garvin became President of the Foundation upon its organization, long before he became Custodian of Alien Property, and that he assumed the office unwillingly. Mr. Choate took occasion to say that there was no intention of fixing prices. After calling attention to the fact that Mr. Moore evidently failed to take into account the situation that called for the formation of the Chemical Foundation he continued:

"The patents could not be sold piecemeal, or they would not be worth defending. They had to be sold to strong concerns, because no weak firm could stand the expense of defending. Yet, if sold to any existing concern, the inventions would be lost to all others, and a monopoly would be created. The only way in which the patents could be made available to all, and at the same time used to fight the German trust, was the creation of a trustee corporation. That method was adopted, and I can confidently submit to the judgment of the country that the resulting institution, the chemical foundation, will prove one of the most beneficial forces in our industrial world."

DR. WILKINS GUILTY IN FIRST DEGREE

teenth ballot. The last man to hold out for the defendant's innocence, according to jurors, was J. P. C. Prince, a telephone tester. It was after 3 o'clock in the afternoon before the eleven men were able to argue away the last doubts which troubled the mind of Juror Prince. The last juror held the fort alone for seven hours. The plea for clemency is believed to have been a concession to Juror Prince before the agreement was finally obtained. After the adjournment Foreman Pairels said:

"It was a tough job. If every jury tried as hard as we did to reach an honest decision, there would be few cases of injustice in the land."

The following statement signed by Dr. Wilkins was issued from his cell after the verdict:

"I am absolutely an innocent man. I never injured a hair in her head. I could never have injured a woman who was universally so generous to me. We never had a steak that she did not insist that I have the tenderloin.

"There was never anything but love in our house. There has been an awful mistake made. The jury could not have understood the law when they rendered a verdict of murder in the first degree and then recommended mercy. I am stunned."

Charles N. Wylson, counsel for the defendant, said he would appeal the case at once, and if unsuccessful would carry the jury's appeal for clemency to Governor Smith.

"I am still convinced of the doctor's innocence," he said. "I don't believe that the jury understood, when they brought in the verdict with the recommendation for clemency, that the court was unable to grant clemency."

Dr. Wilkins was not at first suspected of the murder of his wife, after she was beaten to death on the night of Feb. 27. His story of an attack by burglars was at first accepted, and a hunt for the burglars started, but when nothing could be found to support this theory the physician's account of the crime was sifted a little more closely. Under further questioning, his story took on many variations, according to the police.

Dr. Wilkins was not arrested, the authorities confiding in a promise said to have been obtained from him by District Attorney Weeks not to run away. Dr. Wilkins, however, disappeared. A country-wide search for him started. By shaving his whiskers and using an assumed name, he escaped detection in Baltimore, where he went from New York, but about a week after his departure he returned voluntarily to this city and was arrested at the Pennsylvania Station.

HAMBY IN THE DEATH HOUSE

Murderer's Arrival Leaves Only One Vacant Cell.

Special to The New York Times.

OSSINING, June 27.—Gordon Fawcett Hamby, the bank murderer convicted in Brooklyn, was lodged in the death-house in Sing Sing today. With him there are twenty-two condemned men, the largest number ever confined in the deathhouse, which has one more vacant cell.

Hamby is the most distinguished arrival since Dr. Arthur Warren Waite was received four years ago. Many prisoners and employes tried to get a look at him. He appeared shortly after William Warmick, another murderer just received from Buffalo, for killing John Thomas.

Hamby stuck to his policy of keeping secret his family connections. "I don't care to have anybody notified," he replied when Chief Clerk James W. Evers asked, as the rules required, who he desired to have notified in case of illness or death. So Evers left the space for the answer blank.

Hamby surrendered what money and trinkets he had on his person and took prison number 70,292. When asked if he would permit the prison authorities to open his mail, he replied: "Yes, that's all right." He was told, of course, that unless he permitted the censor to open any mail he received, none would be permitted to reach him.

Dr. Amos O. Squire, prison physician, gave Hamby a physical examination and told how to give certain information about himself to the Rev. William E. Cashin, prison chaplain, who keeps the condemned men's records and censors the death house correspondence. Then, Hamby entered his cell. For supper he did not have a very sumptuous feast. His first meal consisted of a cheese sandwich, bread and butter, and tea. Hamby will have his measurements and photograph taken tomorrow by Bertillion Officer Powers for the Rogue's Gallery.

TELL OF DANNEMORA.

Witnesses Testify Regarding Alleged Ill-Treatment of Inmates.

The inquiry into conditions in the Dannemora State Hospital that is being conducted by George W. Alger, counsel for the Prison Survey Committee, was resumed yesterday at Mr. Alger's office at 71 Broadway. The inquiry grew out of a complaint made by Louis Greenspan, a lawyer of Jamaica, L. I., alleging that inmates of the hospital were insufficiently fed and brutally treated.

Mrs. Eltoka W. Schindler of 271 West Palisade Avenue, West Hoboken, testified that her brother, Ernest G. Sofleo, who was an inmate of the hospital, after being convicted of shooting his wife and attempting suicide, had become very emaciated, and that his hair had turned white. During two recent visits there, Mrs. Schindler said her brother asked her to bring him sandwiches and coffee because he was not getting enough to eat, and that the only prison fare that was fit to eat was the bread.

She said she asked Dr. Ross, the Superintendent of the hospital, to transfer her brother to a State prison, but was told that he was suffering from hallucinations. The witness said she then discussed with Dr. Ross the matter of obtaining a pardon for her brother, and that he had told her there was no good reason for keeping her brother in a hospital intended for insane convicts. The doctor, she stated, promised to help her get a pardon for Sofleo, providing he would consent to leave the country when he was freed. In reply to a question, Mrs. Schindler explained that her brother had been sent to the hospital after he had attempted to commit suicide in Sing Sing Prison.

Rabbi Edward B. M. Browne, who has taken a great deal of interest in convicts, told of his efforts in liberating a man named Philip Jacobs from the Dannemora Hospital. Rabbi Browne said that Jacobs is now free and supporting his family.

Mr. Greenspan, the complainant, testified that his brother, Larphy, had been badly treated while he was confined in the hospital, and that he had interested several influential citizens in his brother's behalf. The hearing will be resumed next Wednesday at 10 o'clock.

PRODUCE STRIKERS RETURN

Retailers Again Obtain Shipments of Fruits and Vegetables.

With the settlement on Thursday night of the differences between the fruit and vegetable commission merchants and the teamsters, chauffeurs, and porters, the strikers returned to work yesterday morning and before the day was over all of the accumulation of fruits and vegetables had been moved from the railroad and steamship terminals and the streets. Scarcity of foodstuffs for the last few days on account of the strike caused a strong demand with good prices prevailing, although in most of the stores and markets the retail prices remained virtually the same as before the strike. Shipments after Monday having been diverted to other markets, it is expected that the scarcity will be felt until early next week, when conditions will become normal.

Announcement was made yesterday at the office of L. J. Lippmann of J. and G. Lippmann, Chairman of the committee representing the produce men, that the commission houses would open this morning at 6 o'clock, the same as the last few days of the strike, but that beginning on Monday morning they would open at 1 A. M. as formerly. It was also said that a formal agreement between the dealers and the union would be signed today.

CARRIES GEMS IN UMBRELLA

Opens Umbrella, Drops Box, and Refuses It When Returned.

Mrs. M. W. Doolan of the Graham Court Apartments, Seventh Avenue and 116th Street, stepped from a dry goods store in Fifth Avenue into Thirty-sixth Street yesterday morning, opened her umbrella hurriedly, and started westward in the driving rain.

Before she had gone far a man accosted her, and holding out a small box inquired whether she had dropped it. Mrs. Doolan said "No," and the man turned to another woman, asking the same question.

After she had gone on a little way, Mrs. Doolan remembered that she had put a box containing her engagement ring and a diamond bar pin inside the umbrella and had forgotten them. A reward was been advertised in the hope that the man who picked up the box may again return it.

DE VALERA LEAVES FOR BOSTON TODAY

Gala Expedition Planned in Answer to Invitation from Massachusetts House.

O'LEARY TO FORE AGAIN

Offers to Take Sinn Fein Chieftain's Place in Debate with the Rev. Mr. Irvine.

In response to invitations to address the House of Representatives of the Massachusetts Legislature and a public meeting in Fenway Park, Eamonn de Valera, the Sinn Fein leader, will leave for Boston at 1 o'clock this afternoon. He may address meetings in Providence and one or two other places along the way.

In addition to the invitation of the Massachusetts House, de Valera received a telegram from Governor John H. Bartlett of New Hampshire, inviting him to that State, and the invitation was supplemented by a telegram from Mayor Moise Verrette of Manchester. The resolution of the Massachusetts House "ordered that the House hereby extend to Eamonn de Valera, the zealous and enthusiastic representative of the Irish people, a cordial welcome to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts upon his return, after many years, to the country of his birth, and the Speaker is hereby requested to invite Mr. de Valera to address the House, and to appoint a committee of seven members to escort him."

It was noted at the headquarters of the "Republic" at the Waldorf that the resolutions of the Massachusetts House apparently did not refer to de Valera as "President of the Irish Republic," but as the "representative of the Irish people," and the remark of those who spoke for Mr. de Valera was that he did represent a vast majority of the Irish people. Another telegram from the Mayor and City Council of Cambridge was directed to "President Eamonn de Valera, Republic of Ireland," and invited him to visit the city. The message reminded him that the town was the seat of Harvard University and was "abundant with historic Revolutionary spots, including the old Washington elm, under which General Washington first took command of the American Army."

In commenting upon an alleged assertion of Ian MacPherson, the Secretary for Ireland, that the Sinn Fein movement was losing ground, Mr. de Valera declared that the British were trying to give that impression by censoring the news.

Mr. de Valera received from the Board of Aldermen here an engrossed copy of the resolution extending him the freedom of the city. Harry J. Boland, a member of the party of the Sinn Fein leader, said that no answer had been received from the letter to Mayor Hylan asking for an audience at City Hall. This is the text of the resolution of the Board of Aldermen:

> We, the members of our city's municipal body, the Board of Aldermen, appreciating the spirit of the American Government which has ever extended its protection and sympathy to all lovers of democracy who have been compelled to seek either assistance or an abode of safety, and recognizing in the person of Eamonn de Valera the right to seek our appreciation as the legally and sovereignly elected President of the Republic of Ireland, and desiring to reciprocate the solicitude and comfort bestowed upon a foreign Ambassador from these shores in the person of Benjamin Franklin by the people of Ireland, hereby cordially and with deep concern for his Honor's welfare, tender unto him the freedom and welcome of our city and its citizens, and urge our fellow-citizens to join us in those our heartfelt felicitations.

Jeremiah A. O'Leary, who was charged, during the war, with violation of the Espionage act, gave to the newspapers yesterday copies of a telegram sent by him to the Rev. D. D. Irvine, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Richmond Hill, taking up the minister's challenge to de Valera for debate upon recognition of the "Irish Republic."

The Rev. Mr. Irvine had challenged de Valera to debate, and O'Leary sent his telegram after he had visited the headquarters of the Irish party at the Waldorf. O'Leary proposed that the debate take place in the Academy of Music in Brooklyn before July 10, and added:

"It must be quite clear to you that it would be impossible for President de Valera to answer your challenge. It shall be a pleasure for me to afford you an opportunity to present all that can be said in the negative on the above question, if there is anything to be said on the negative side."

SINN FEIN ASSAILS SIMS.

Admiral and Daniels Now Targets with Wilson and Taft.

The local Sinn Fein weeklies, issued yesterday, while devoting most of their space to the arrival in America of Edward de Valera, attack President Wilson, Admiral William Snowden Sims, ex-President William H. Taft, and Secretary of the Navy Daniels. The outburst against the Secretary of the Navy and Admiral Sims is based on the allegation that they are friends of Great Britain.

The attack on Mr. Taft and Admiral Sims is in The Irish World. It is captioned "Two of a Kind" and declares that Admiral Sims "should have been instantly dismissed from the navy" by President Taft for the famous London speech of nine years ago in which he predicted that the United States would go to England's aid were she seriously menaced in a European war. As to Mr. Taft, The Irish World says: "Unquestionably Taft is as pro-British in 1919 as he was in 1910, which explains why he is going up and down the country delivering speeches in favor of the English-made League of Nations."

The Irish World suggests in an editorial headed "The President's Main Reliance," that President Wilson "bases his hopes for the success of the English-made League of Nations on the alleged fact that 'big business' favors it."

John Devoy's Gaelic American, criticising Secretary Daniels and Admiral Sims, speaks "of the Canadian-born Admiral Sims, an out-and-out bootlicker of England and all things English."

A series of cablegrams printed by The Gaelic American as transmitted by ex-Governor Edward F. Dunne of Illinois and Frank P. Walsh, now in Paris, to Justice Daniel F. Cohalan here, contains this:

> Paris, 26.
> Daniel F. Cohalan, 51 Chambers Street, New York:
> Send L. S. Frigg, War Labor Board, Washington, to Paris to assist Secretary, quick. Work too heavy for Lee alone.
> WALSH.

In reply to the message Judge Cohalan cabled: "Congratulations upon splendid work. Keep at it. * * * Monster meetings being held. Country greatly aroused." He also cabled the text of the Senate Irish resolution.

BRITISH VIEW OF DE VALERA.

Irish Leader, It Is Believed, Will Only Strengthen Britain's Case.

Copyright, 1919, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, June 27.—New York reports of de Valera's activities and of the American newspapermen's searching inquiries have given great satisfaction in London, particularly in those Liberal circles where Ireland's legitimate and practicable aspirations have strongest support.

When the news of de Valera's visit to America first became known several Englishmen who had come in personal contact with the Sinn Fein leader expressed the confident prediction that his trip could only be productive of good results from the point of view of Anglo-American relations. It was sarcastically suggested that the British Government could not have selected a better emissary for the purpose of putting its case in regard to Ireland before the American public.

Punch today has a cartoon conceived in no unkindly spirit, entitled "The Philanderer." The Sinn Fein, depicted as a female revolutionary with a red cap and a gun slung over her shoulder, is seen appealing with outstretched arms to Wilson: "Be Mine." The President in a coy attitude of smiling deprecation is replying: "I do hope I haven't given you too much encouragement, but I can never be more than a brother to you."

IRISH ENVOYS RETURNING.

Peace Conference Turns Irish Question Over to Clemenceau.

PARIS, June 27.—The delegation here representing Irish societies in the United States has been notified that the Irish question, so far as the Peace Conference is concerned, has been left in the hands of Premier Clemenceau, the President of the conference.

Frank P. Walsh and Edward F. Dunne, the delegates remaining here, will sail for the United States on Saturday on board the liner Savoie.

Notification as to the disposition of the Irish question was given to Messrs. Dunne and Walsh by the General Secretary of the American peace delegation.

John A. Murphy of Buffalo, N. Y., has been added to the European section of the American Commission on Irish Independence.

IRISH DOMINION PLAN.

Island Under Plunkett Scheme Would Be Virtually a Republic.

LONDON, June 27.—Establishment of self-government in Ireland within the British Empire is proposed in a manifesto issued today by the "Irish Dominion League" and signed by Sir Horace Plunkett and other Irishmen.

The proposal, it is claimed, is a great advance over any previous proposed solution for the Irish question, except that the British connection is maintained. Under this plan Ireland would have virtually the same amount of home rule as if she were an independent republic.

The manifesto points out the disadvantages to which Irish products would be exposed if Ireland were a republic severed from the British Empire. Mention is made of possible hostile tariffs, and it is said that such a position might lose for Ireland her share in any imperial preference which might be established.

Irishmen are urged in the manifesto to unite and to let the British Parliament and people know what they desire. The manifesto then outlines what the political status of Ireland would be under the new scheme.

Ireland, it is declared, would not be represented at Westminster, but would be a member of the League of Nations and of the Imperial Conference Council or Parliament which may be established. Ireland would have complete control of her internal government. The naval and military defense would remain as at present, but no authority but the Irish Parliament would have the power to impose compulsory service on Irishmen, although Ireland would agree to make contributions to the naval, military, and diplomatic service.

In referring to Ulster, the manifesto says that with Ireland under the status of a dominion, the right of minorities would be constitutionally recognized in many ways. The Ulsterites are asked to state what special safeguards they demand, the manifesto adding:

"But if our appeal meet with no response the Irish Dominion League will be prepared to show that the Ulster difficulty can be met in the Irish Constitution as analogous difficulties have been met elsewhere in the empire."

In addition to Sir Horace Plunkett, the signers of the manifesto include Unionist candidates, members of the old Irish party, leading members of the Irish Convention of 1917, forty-five Irish peers and baronets, privy councillors, bank and railway directors, and lawyers.

BREWER DENIES INTEREST.

Feigenspan Says He Has No Part in Newark Newspaper Deal.

No formal announcement was made yesterday regarding the proposed purchase by Arthur Brisbane of an interest in the Newark Morning and Evening Ledger. Lucius T. Russell, the publisher of the papers, said that Mr. Brisbane had not returned from the country, and until he did and some definite agreement was reached no statement would be given out.

Christian Feigenspan, the brewer, President of the United States Brewers' Association, denied that he was backing Mr. Brisbane in the proposed venture. Mr. Feigenspan lent Mr. Russell money to finance The Ledger.

"I have absolutely no interest in the deals between Mr. Russell and Mr. Brisbane," Mr Feigenspan said. "I am a creditor of Mr. Russell, but outside of that I have no interest in The Ledger.

HANDS OFF RUSSIA TO BE LABOR SLOGAN

British, French, and Italians to Demonstrate Against Intervention in July.

BRITISH CONFERENCE ACTS

Calls on Trade Unions to Stop Russian Operations and Conscription by Industrial Action.

SOUTHPORT, England, June 27.—British, French and Italian labor representatives have decided to make a general demonstration on July 20 or 21 to protest against allied intervention in Russia. This announcement was made by Arthur Henderson, British labor leader, at the labor conference here today.

Mr. Henderson explained that the demonstration would be an attempt to prevent the Governments of Europe from adopting a reactionary policy throughout that continent.

It would be left to each country, he added, to decide whether the demonstration would take the form of political or industrial action. Resolutions, he said, would be passed protesting against any intervention in Russia, and demanding the abandonment of conscription.

The conference later passed a resolution calling upon the Trade Union Congress to take industrial action to compel the British Government to stop operations in Russia. There was a heated discussion over the resolution, which was passed on a card vote by 1,893,000 to 935,000.

Without a dissenting vote the conference adopted a resolution condemning conscription and recommending that the Trade Union Congress and the Triple Alliance take immediate industrial action to abolish it.

Another resolution adopted indorsed the six-hour day in all industries.

PARIS, June 26.—Deputy Jean Longuet, leader of the Majority Socialists, gave to the newspapers today a statement concerning the recent action of the British authorities in stopping him and M. Frossard, General Secretary of the French Socialist Party, at Folkestone. The two men were on their way to attend the British Labor Conference at Southport.

M. Longuet stated that Premier Lloyd George had told him that he knew nothing of the measures taken by the British authorities when Longuet and Frossard landed at Folkestone. He said those measures had never been considered by the Cabinet, and that he and Andrew Bonar Law, Chancellor of the Exchequer, had not received until Tuesday the telegrams of protest sent by the French Socialist leaders on Monday. He added that Premier Lloyd George stated he had telegraphed to London, authorizing M. Longuet and M. Frossard to proceed to Southport, but that the two men by that time had already started to return to France.

INTEREST ON RUSSIAN BONDS

Not Paid with Money Loaned by American Government, Polk Says.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—None of the money loaned by the United States to Russia has been used to pay interest on the $75,000,000 of Russian bonds issued for the former Czar's Government and held by private interests in the United States, the House Committee on State Department Expenditures was told today by Acting Secretary Polk of the State Department. The interest was paid, Mr. Polk said, by Boris Bakhmeteff, Russian Ambassador, from a fund of $20,000,000 obtained through liquidation of war contracts in this country.

Bonds to the amount of $150,000,000 issued by the former Kerensky Government also are held by private interests in this country, but Mr. Polk did not know how interest payments were being met. These bonds were to secure contracts for industrial supplies let in this country, and the witness said he understood certain New York banks had accepted the interest coupons.

Mr. Polk appeared before the committee during consideration of a resolution by Representative Mason, Republican, of Illinois, asking an investigation of press reports that American bondholders sought to keep American soldiers in Russia and Siberia in order to force recognition of the validity of the bonds. He denied that any American bondholder had asked that the troops be kept abroad and referred to the report as "a dead question," saying he believed any Government that might be established in Russia would have to recognize its international obligations.

REDS DRIVEN FROM ODESSA AND KHERSON

Omsk Reports Retirement of Siberian Forces on Ufa Front as Virtually Stopped.

PARIS, June 27, (Havas.)—The Ukrainian forces have reoccupied Odessa and Kherson, according to an unofficial dispatch from Berlin.

OMSK, Siberia, June 26, (Associated Press.)—On the Ufa front the retirement of the Siberian forces has been virtually stopped. Occasional offensives are reported with good success. The enemy, however, made a stronge drive in the direction of Krasno-Ufimsk in an effort to isolate the northern section. This resulted in a slight retirement along that front.

Whatever support the Allies may intend giving the Kolchak Government must come quickly if decisive results are to be achieved before Winter in the campaign against the Bolshevist forces. The armies of the All-Russian Government now have plenty of manpower but are confronted by forces greatly superior in equipment, according to Government circles. Recruiting is progressing satisfactorily. By the end of the Summer there will be no lack of troops and the only requisite for an offensive then will be much-needed materials.

The Foreign Office, in answer to questions, has stated that it still is awaiting further information as to what plans the Allies may have for rendering aid to the Kolchak forces. Meantime, however, the War Department has prepared a preliminary list of urgent necessities to be ready for any inquiry as to what help is most needed. It is stated that whatever material aid is to be given must arrive by August to be of use this year.

The list of supplies wanted includes many things, ranging from tanks and airplanes to compasses and cartridge belts.

"We have seen what America can do in an emergency," said M. Soukine, Acting Minister of Foreign Affairs. "We should feel little uneasiness if America seriously proposed to come to our assistance with war materials. We are convinced the needed supplies exist in abundance in America and only from America can we hope to receive them quickly."

FEED 50,000 LITHUANIANS.

American Relief Workers Follow in Wake of Victorious Army.

PARIS, June 25.—American relief workers are following the victorious Lithuanian army commanded by General Zukauskas, which has resumed the offensive against the Bolsheviki near Dvinsk, according to a dispatch received by Herbert Hoover, commander of the Interallied Food Commission, from Captain Howell Forman of the American Baltic Relief headquarters at Kovno.

In this region there are 50,000 Lithuanians still remaining, and most of them are starving because the country is stripped of all foodstuffs. The Americans are paying special attention to the condition of children in the district. Dr. Aldonias Slipupas, an American woman of Lithuanian parentage, and a graduate of Philadelphia Woman's College, who is assisting in child welfare work, says that within a week after American food has arrived children who when found were unable to stand have been strong enough to run about.

Typhus is reported prevalent in Dvinsk district.

$10,000,000 DIVIDED BY HOLBROOK'S WILL

BULK GOES TO THE WIDOW

State Will Collect $500,000 Inheritance Tax and the Federal Government a Larger Sum.

An estate estimated at $10,000,000 is disposed of under the will of Edward Holbrook, President of the Silversmiths Company, and the Gorham Manufacturing Company, who died May 19 last at his country place, Stamford, Conn. The State inheritance tax alone is estimated at $500,000, while the Federal inheritance tax will be more than that sum. The only public requests are $10,000 each to the Stamford Hospital and the Rhode Island Hospital of Providence, and $5,000 to the New York Polyclinic Hospital.

The will makes specific bequests of more than $3,000,000 to relatives and friends. Mrs. Frances S. Holbrook, the widow, of 65 East Fifty-second Street, gets the town house and the country place at Stamford, $1,000,000 in any securities she may select, and the residuary estate. Her bequest, exclusive of the residue, is valued at more than $1,250,000. John S. Holbrook, son, gets a trust fund of $150,000 which is to go to his children when he dies, and Mme. Lillian de Valincourt, the daughter, of Neuilly, France, receives a trust fund of the same amount. The son receives $750,000 outright and the daughter gets the same amount less $25,000 advanced to her for the purchase of jewelry. Her husband, Guillaume de Valincourt, gets $25,000, and Grace S. Holbrook, daughter-in-law, receives $2,000.

Mr. Holbrook left total bequests of $125,000 to other relatives and friends. Mrs. Ellen E. Holbrook, widow of the decedent's brother, Alfred, receives $5,000 and $3,500 with which to buy a house, and Mrs. Catherine Holbrook, widow of Gilbert Holbrook, a brother, gets $2,500. John A., a brother, receives $10,000 and his wife gets a house in Ashland, Mass., and $2,000. The will gives $25,000 to Mrs. Holbrook to be distributed among domestic servants. Bequests of from $1,000 to $2,000 were left to friends and business associates in the Gorham Company.

INVENTOR BRINGS SUIT.

His Discovery, He Says, Will Save Railroads $25,000,000 a Year.

Supreme Court Justice Hendrick reserved decision yesterday on an application by Charles F. Guggenbuehler of Newark, inventor of a babbit lining for bearing boxes on locomotives, which he alleges will save the railroads $25,000,000 a year, for an injunction restraining the disposition of stock in a corporation formed to exploit the patent.

The plaintiff alleged that after the invention had been tried out by Government inspectors in the yards in Jersey City, and they had expressed their satisfaction, C. V. Lutz of 27 Cedar Street induced him to assign his patent to Lutz to enable the latter to present it to the Government because it would not be accepted from Guggenbuehler, as an enemy alien. The plaintiff says he had learned that Lutz has formed a corporation to exploit the patent and has given him only 25 per cent. of the stock.

The Gimbel Idea in Clothes for Men is based on immense variety. Our contention is that few men know just what they want till they reach the store, and then they want, not only clever salesmen to tell them what's what, but a variety to back up the salesmen so big that any taste, however individual, may be supplied. At Gimbels the variety is so broad that it takes in nearly all the leaders of America.

THE ANSWER TO THE TURKS.

The answer of the Peace Conference to the appeal of the Grand Vizier of Turkey for what would have amounted to full pardon does not go into detail as to the disposition of the Turkish Empire, but it makes clear to all that the Empire is at an end. Turkey, says the reply, "has thrown upon the "victors the heavy duty of determin-"ing the destiny of the various popu-"lations in her heterogeneous empire. "This duty the council of the princi-"pal Allied and Associated Powers "desire to carry out, as far as may "be in accordance with the wishes "and the permanent interests of the "peoples themselves."

This courageous and sensible decision puts an end to a great fear which has persisted, that the Conference might be moved by the numerous and powerful interests which advocated leaving the Turk pretty much as he is. The Turks had asked that their Empire be left intact, and they had much support from somewhat surprisingly varied quarters. But the answer of the Conference exposes the hollowness of every Turkish argument.

The Turks made a grievous mistake when they brought in the religious consideration and tried to scare the Conference with the prospect of the resentment of 300,000,000 Moslems. They were unwise enough to try to have it both ways—to rouse religious susceptibility at one point and to lull it at another. For of course the great stumbling block is the Armenian massacres, together with the lesser outrages on Greeks and other Christians. The Turks are more realistic than the Germans, more thoroughgoing in their efforts to buy their way out; they have already tried and hanged some highly placed offenders against the Armenians, and they evidently hoped that knowledge of this, coupled with the throwing of the blame on their old Government, would help them out. But there remained the responsibility of the Turkish population in the Armenian districts, which, with some honorable exceptions, assisted in the atrocities with great enthusiasm. The Turks realized that some answer of a convincing sort had to be made to this indictment of a whole people, so they said that the outrages were political and not religious; that Christians were not the only sufferers; that the Young Turks had also condemned to death some 3,000,000 Moslems.

The Conference promptly found this weak point in the argument and called the Turks' own statement in as evidence that there was no religious question possible in a war where Protestant Prussia, Catholic Austria and Hungary, Orthodox Bulgaria, and Moslem Turkey united. Moslems of the world are not likely to rise to the defense of a Power which put 3,000,000 Moslems to death. Other Turkish arguments are equally fallacious. The Grand Vizier's memorandum asserts that Syria, Arabia, and Mesopotamia "are indissolubly linked with Con-"stantinople by feelings which run "deeper than the principle of na-"tionality." The successful revolution led by the King of the Hedjaz, which has liberated the Arabs of the Yemen and the Syrian Desert after a war of years, is sufficient answer to this; and when the Grand Vizier, looking back on the happy days of SULEIMAN the Magnificent, talks of the identity of interest of the different races in the Empire, the Conference reminds him, in language as delicate as possible, of the notorious ineptitude of Turkish government.

The Turks, as the reply says, have some excellent qualities, but capacity to rule alien races is not one of them. The language of the answer indicates that there will still be a Turkish State of some sort, perhaps under a protectorate or mandate, where the Conference hopes the Turks will devote themselves to the arts of peace; but the empire won by MURAD and MOHAMMED II. is at an end. At last the civilized world has gathered the courage to put an end to a scandal and a curse that had lasted centuries too long.

FIVE YEARS AGO.

On June 28, 1914, when the world was interested in such matters as the prospect of revolt in Ireland, the attitude of clergymen to the new dances, the international polo matches and tennis tournament, and the approach of the trial of Mme. CAILLAUX for murder, an imperial highness and his morganatic wife made a visit to the capital of an outlying province in the empire to whose throne he would soon succeed. Concerning this gentleman there had been more speculation than about any other royalty in Europe. The rest were more or less known in their propensities and possibilities; FRANCIS FERDINAND was something of a mystery. And he would inherit an empire which could not long go on as it had gone on for a century or more in the past; when old FRANCIS JOSEPH died, said the wise men, something would happen. What that something would be must depend largely on the new Emperor; so for years a good part of the political forecasts of Europe revolved around FRANCIS FERDINAND. He would break away from Prussia, he would form a closer alliance with Prussia; he would be a man of war, he would be a man of peace; he would liberalize the administration, he would strengthen the powers of the Crown; he would ally himself closely with the Vatican, and so on.

The diary of Count CZERNIN, one of the bright young men of the Archduke's circle, shows us how constantly ambitious Austrians were trying to influence him to support their ideas of what must be done in a country where it was evident that something had to be done very quickly. But what he would have done nobody knows. His friendship for the Slavs, which gave strength to the widespread belief that he would convert the Dual Monarchy into a triple monarchy, with the Jugoslavs at least as an independent member of the triad, had long made him obnoxious to the Magyar aristocracy, which was unwilling to give up its hold on the Slavs; but on the other hand there was a chance that his morganatic wife, debarred from the Austrian throne, might still become Queen of Hungary; and it was far from impossible that a man so devoted to his family and determined to carry them up with him would trade in his ideas of Slavic liberation in return for the elevation of the Duchess of HOHENBERG to a seat beside his own.

We do not yet know and may never know—though already interesting tales have come out of Budapest, and the whole truth may eventually be divulged—whether the assassin who shot the Archduke and his wife five years ago today was merely a hot-headed Bosnian Serb who feared that autonomy within the empire would hinder the unification of the Jugoslav race, or a member of a group secretly inspired by Magyars fearful of FRANCIS FERDINAND'S intentions. That it seemed an unparalleled piece of good fortune, an incredibly good pretext, to the Germans who were preparing an attack upon France and Russia, we do know. Austria-Hungary might have been reformed, after a fashion, by the man who was killed at Serajevo; but the whole structure of the Dual Monarchy was so thoroughly corroded that reform would not have been of much use. None of the speculations as to what would happen when FRANCIS FERDINAND came to the throne had gone to such fantastic lengths as to picture the situation today, when Austria-Hungary has been broken into pieces in a war begun on the pretense of revenging his death.

PRESIDENT OR COMMISSION?

Director General HINES gives convincing reasons why the President should have control of railway rates as well as costs, but they are superfluous. Everybody can see now that it is ruinous, and would be absurd if not ruinous, to put control of expenses and earnings in separate hands as Congress manages the national budget. But official comity prevented the Director General from making the stronger argument that the regulators have shown themselves impenitent as to the results of their theories. One Interstate Commerce Commissioner has argued recently that the rates are high enough, and that the railways are fortunate in being under the protective control that has brought them into a financial condition which would mean bankruptcy if the Treasury were not solvent. Another Interstate Commerce Commissioner has recently argued that rates should not be increased because it would inflate the general price level—as though the Interstate Commerce Commission were charged with the regulation of the price level, and not charged with the regulation of rates in a manner to keep the railways solvent. It is true that the Commissioners long had company in the idea that the solvency of the railways was not important, and that it was not particularly in the care of the Commission. But that idea is now dead and buried, outside of the Commission. That it should survive there is a good reason for intrusting the regulation of rates elsewhere.

If the Commission had not tried so hard it would have succeeded better. The trouble with the Commission was not that it was ignorant or malicious, but that it was too scientific and benevolent. It sought to extend its activities through society in general, and to make itself a national Providence, instead of a mere overseer of the railways in keeping their rates reasonable with regard to the cost and value of the service rendered, and the relation of the rates to each other. That appears from the solicitude of the Commissioner quoted regarding the price level. If that were the duty of the Commission it would better be performed by seeing that no more than was proper was added to the prices of goods, on the excuse of increasing rates sufficiently to relieve the Treasury of a deficit of hundreds of millions. The Commission could not well do that, but that is no reason why the rates should be kept too low.

There is no greater single interest of the nation than that the railways should be made self-supporting forthwith. The manner is of less consequence, and other matters are irrelevant. At the proper time the increase can be canceled, for rates should be reduced as well as raised, and raised as well as reduced. When the Commission has seen that its action should fit the occasion it will be restored to public favor, but not sooner.

MILLIONS FOR MUSIC.

The seeming vagueness in the terms of the Juilliard Musical Foundation is, in all likelihood, the result of a purpose which is as definite as it is wise. Worthy students are to be helped to an adequate education, here or abroad; concerts and recitals are to be given "appropriate for the education and entertainment of the general public"; the Metropolitan Opera Company is to be assisted "in the production of operas." That is all. No orchestra is founded, no musical school, no organic institution of any kind. A sum which will certainly amount to five millions, and which has been estimated as high as twenty millions, is to be set aside and the income applied to reinforce activities already in existence.

The temptation to found concrete and permanent institutions is very great—has too often proved irresistible. Sometimes the institution, though it holds forth the brightest of prospects, proves in actual practice to be fundamentally misconceived. The New Theatre set out to build up a repertory stock company on the model of the Comédie Française—and discovered that there is no adequate dramatic repertory in the English language; that there is not a sufficient number of actors among us capable of sustaining worthily the leading parts in the few great dramas which we do possess, and that even if the material for such a company were at hand, the scale of modern salaries would make it prohibitively expensive. After the event, it is easy enough to see that the New Theatre was predestined to failure. The money which was sunk in it, if put aside in the manner of the Juilliard Foundation, would have provided, through all time, for the adequate yearly production of two or three of the Shakespearean classics; and the reputation of these productions would no doubt have attracted the eager service of the best actors and producers of each generation.

Even when successfully launched an institution may be enfeebled or rendered obsolete by changes in the essential conditions of an art or by a shifting in the conditions of life in the community. The Metropolitan Opera itself might conceivably fall upon evil days, in which (as has happened with the drama at the Français) "star" performers have become so expensive and new works of interest so few that the economic basis of the institution would be rendered doubtful. If such a day ever comes to the Metropolitan, the Juilliard Foundation will be at hand, and pledged to render all justifiable assistance. Thus, though it gives us no permanent musical organization, it seems destined to become more deeply and truly conservative than any organization which has been or could be devised.

This is only one half of its promise. By the testator's will the Foundation is required to retain a detached attitude and an open mind. It is thus, or it should be, the most powerful of all factors favoring artistic freedom and progress. A young singer who cannot command an adequate education, a musician or composer who cannot command a hearing, should find it predisposed toward every novel and truly vigorous artistic personality. Operas too rare and too original for the repertory of an institution depending upon popular support should be rendered possible. Organic institutions tend, by their very nature, to become narrow and hidebound. The spirit of such a foundation should be, not that of the professor or master, but that of the friend—the enlightened lover of musical art.

Much will obviously depend upon the personnel of the "corporation" which is formed to administer the Foundation. The most enlightened lovers of art have their foibles, their blind spots in judgment and in temperament. But as between the faculty of an organic institution, the traditions of which are its life, and the chosen agents of a corporation, there can be no question as to which are the more open to new impressions, the more flexible in responding to the needs of the moment. That the Juilliard Foundation will have its ups and downs in enlightenment and efficiency is inevitable; but on the whole it can be trusted, better than most foundations, to change with the times and to gain strength with the successive generations. No benefaction for music of such scope and magnitude has ever before been known. Whatever New York may be today, it seems destined to become a true metropolis in the world of music.

AMERICA IN THE WAR.

Statistical summaries are not usually absorbing, but the American people will find the War Department's book dealing with America's part in the great European conflict intensely interesting. Such wonderful figures of achievement were never compiled before, for no other nation ever accomplished as much in so short a time. The United States was in the war about twenty-one months. It had made the slightest preparations for the part it was to play, and they were legislative for the most part, a looking into the future. Perhaps the passive or waiting attitude was not defensible, but what giant strides were made as soon as the tocsin had rung for war, and what a magnificent finish was made!

The figures march as if to the strains of the hymns of patriotism. More than 2,000,000 soldiers were carried to France in spite of the perilous enemy submarine campaign, and no less than 1,390,000 went into battle to save our allies from defeat. Altogether 4,000,000 men were organized and trained to fight in France. The strength of the navy, Marine Corps, and other branches was raised to 800,000, so that America was giving nearly 5,000,000 men to the cause. In the Meuse-Argonne offensive PERSHING commanded 1,200,000 men, compared with which the largest armies engaged in the civil war seem puny. In the war 50,000 Americans were lost in battle, 236,000 were wounded, and 57,000 died of disease. The number of officers commissioned in the army was 200,000, an increase of 191,000 over the complement of the regular army at the beginning of the war.

It is to be noted that the United States had only begun to register its strength when the conflict closed, for the sum of the draft was 24,234,021. Without unendurable strain the country could have put 10,000,000 into the field, and transported them across the Atlantic if necessary. In a single month 306,000 men were shipped to France. In the nineteen months that the American forces were in action 7,500,000 tons of supplies were sent to that country. The cargo fleet, by the way, was almost all American. British ships carried about half of our soldiers.

When it comes to the figures of the Quartermaster's and Commissariat branches, when those dealing with the job of the engineers in France are arrayed, the effect is bewildering. The number of men is many times multiplied to present the total of blankets, uniforms, shoes, and other articles they required, for it was a violent and wasteful war. Cost could not be considered. The engineers built eighty-three new ship berths in France and laid 1,000 miles of standard and 538 miles of narrow gauge railroads. The Signal Corps strung 100,000 miles of telephone wires, and 40,000 motor trucks were used. No less than 226,557 machine guns were manufactured, and 3,500,000,000 rounds of rifle ammunition produced. And the cost of all was prodigious, $22,000,000,000, "or nearly enough "to pay the entire cost of running "the United States Government from "1791 up to the outbreak of the "European war."

THE REVIVAL OF SPORT.

The reaction from war has brought about what is evidently going to be the greatest sporting season in the history of the country. Even now it has in some respects surpassed all previous records, and in all has surpassed all the years of the war. One has but to turn to the sporting pages of THE TIMES to be impressed with the way in which this country, anxious and depressed for so many years, is going in on a great scale for fun.

Horse racing, for instance, is enjoying greater prosperity than it has ever had, even in what they call "the good old days" when there were "open rings." Thirty-five thousand people at Belmont saw the Suburban; 20,000 saw the running of the Brooklyn Handicap, which is a record for that event during recent years. The daily attendance at all the tracks is greater than at any time since the season of open betting. At Jamaica the average daily attendance used to be 2,500; now it is 10,000.

In baseball both Yankees and Giants have played to larger audiences than in any other Spring games on record. Over 30,000 people saw the Yankees open the season. The Giants had from seven to eight crowds which averaged about 25,000 people. These are the greatest records of attendance in the history of baseball for a single club. The Brooklyns can tell a similar story.

But perhaps even more significant than this is the springing up of minor leagues all over the country, and the fact that they are all prospering. It is well known that it is harder for a minor league to maintain itself than for those from the big cities. During the war from twenty-five to thirty minor leagues went out of existence, and last year there was only one that finished the season. Now they are arising in all directions, and even in the smaller towns are doing as well proportionately as the big leagues.

More tennis has been played this year than at any time during the war. A significant indication is the fact that the West Side Tennis Club is enlarging its stand for the national championship tournament in August. Golf is more of an individual game, but the interest in it may be seen from the fact that there were 5,000 people at the opening championship game.

The revival in college sports is just as evident. At the Yale-Harvard regatta the attendance was larger than in any past year, even in the years before the war. The same upward bound is noticeable in all the other college sports.

A curious reason is given for the great increase in interest in track and field sports. It is that many men are taking part in them who never did before. Discharged soldiers, for instance, learned to take an interest in them in camp, and are now enthusiastic over them.

So it goes all along the line. The nation, released from years of gloom and suppression, is expressing the reaction by plunging into sport. It is a thing that has often been seen at the close of a great war.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

His Grievance Explains His Conduct.

Peculiar as has been the behavior of the man convicted under the name of HAMBY as the murderer of the two Brooklyn bank clerks, a fairly plausible guess at his determining mental characteristic can be made. Its basis is the brief protest he uttered when Justice FAWCETT, in pronouncing sentence of death, called him a "cold-blooded murderer." That appellation or description HAMBY declared was undeserved, and it is possible and even probable that he really thinks so.

"In reply to your charge of cold-blooded murder," he said, "I wish to state, from the standpoint of one who participated in the robberies, that they all had a chance." By that he meant that he had never killed except when instant and complete obedience to his commands as to the throwing up of hands or the handing over of money or other property had been refused. That he had no shadow of a right to give such orders was an element in these cases to which he is apparently incapable of giving any weight. He offered to his victims what seems to him "a chance," and as they did not take it, he does not think himself a cold-blooded murderer—perhaps does not feel that he is a murderer at all!

Now, illogical and outrageous as is this mental attitude, HAMBY is far from being alone in taking it. The Germans, from the Kaiser down, said and say, in effect, exactly the same thing in regard to the enormities committed by them in Belgium. The Belgians, too, had "a chance." Had they submitted quietly to invasion and to having their country used as the starting point for an attack on France, nothing serious would have happened to them. But they resisted, just as the bank clerks resisted HAMBY, and the world knows the consequences.

Responsibility Beyond Any Question.

A board of medical examiners has examined HAMBY and has reported that he is sane. So he is—in the same way and to the same extent as are the Germans who plead "military necessity" as justification for what they did in Belgium. In neither case is there any reasonable question as to legal responsibility for the acts committed.

As to moral responsibility, so called, the case is not quite so clear, though it is quite clear enough to warrant condemnation and punishment, if on no other ground than that society has a right to defend itself from its enemies. It could be contended that, from the standards of normally civilized humanity in the twentieth century, HAMBY and the ravagers of Belgium alike are examples of arrested development, or what are often called moral imbeciles, and that they could not help doing what they did. But, whatever of truth there may be in such a contention, it is quite irrelevant to a discussion of what should be done to and with criminals of their kind.

HAMBY'S declaration that he doesn't mind dying in the chair, because he will come back to earth again in some sort of transmigratory cycle in which he believes, opens another line of inquiry as to his mental condition, but it is hardly worth following, as such a belief is no evidence of irresponsibility and hardly of abnormality.

Reminders of Former Illiterates.

That the Treaty of Peace must be sealed as well as signed by the representatives of all the nations agreeing to its provisions is one of many proofs that men, even the most intelligent of them, cling lovingly to customs the utility of which has long passed away and not infrequently treat them as essential and even sacred for no better reason than that they are old.

When next to everybody, high as well as low, was illiterate, the seal served a useful purpose in the authentication of documents of all sorts. Now that inability to write is more than exceptional—is unknown among such people as will gather around and near the peace table—seals are mere survivals of the past, vestigial organs, as it were, proving nothing except their own survival of utility.

About the best that can be said for them is that they are interesting and harmless. In the second, though not in the first, of these qualities they are unlike the vermiform appendix, which has persisted through a still longer period of uselessness.

Hot Weather Is Not Unconquerable.

About this time, as the almanacs say, it is in order to raise again the old question why as much trouble is not taken and as much money spent in Summer for cooling houses, places of amusement, churches, and other places of human congregation as is taken and spent in Winter in warming those same places. In the way of attaining indoors a very desirable degree of relief from uncomfortable heat, there are no difficulties at all, for refrigeration is a well-known art, practiced successfully in almost innumerable depositories for wares and goods that will not long endure the effects of Summer heat, and it is really strange, especially in the case of the well-to-do, that aestival discomforts easily avoidable should be endured year after year, as if they were inevitable.

And for many there is more than discomfort in tropic weather that has no relief even at night. It often means death to the sick, and a few hospitals already are providing cooled chambers for some of their patients, having come to consider them as well worth saving as are apples and dressed meat.

The general negligence of available relief is particularly mysterious in the theatres. There is no reason why they should not all be pleasantly cool on the hottest nights—none, that is, except that it would involve the burning of some coal—and, if they were, patronage certainly would be increased enough to make the innovation a profitable one.

INTELLECTUALS' APPEAL.

Hamlin Garland Didn't Sign It and Calls It "Wildly Lyrical."

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Will you kindly give a little space to a statement concerning the harmless and rather hysterical call of the French "Intellectuals," to which my name is unwarrantably attached as one of the American writers who signed a reply? This paper came to me from a friend in Madison, Wis., and in my reply, which (if I recollect correctly) was merely a notation on the sheet, I registered the fact that I have no sympathy with any socialization schemes. I am an individualist and always have been. As one of the original "Henry George men" I have been at odds more or less with Socialists of the parlor and other varieties for thirty years, hence I am careful to define my position when called upon to sign any paper which aims at International Socialism.

As I did not sign this paper I can see no good reason why my name should be attached to it, although an amiable attempt at literary fraternization is not precisely a crime. I particularly hope to see a closer union between England and France and ourselves, but it will not come about by the signing of a wildly lyrical appeal of the sort which my friend Leonard sent to me. I rejoice in the noble national consciousness which we have developed in the last four years, and I would be the last writer in America to weaken it or permit it to be turned to foolish uses.

HAMLIN GARLAND.
Tannersville, N. Y., June 26, 1919.

War Prophecies.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Three or four years ago different predictions were made as to the outcome of the world war. Some affirmed that Germany might be altogether destroyed. You published a letter, "Germany Will Survive," dated June 2, 1915, in which it was stated:

"The German nation, counting some 60,000,000, cannot be wiped out. She may lose her Kaiser altogether, or his power may be reduced to that of a sovereign of a truly constitutional country like England. In either case Germany would immensely gain, as did France, on having lost Napoleon III. France was not destroyed, either by having lost two provinces or by paying $1,000,000,000 war contribution. Certainly Germany, too, will survive, returning some provinces to whom they rightfully belong, be it Denmark, France, or Poland."

This is what has actually happened. Germany has lost her Kaiser altogether and some provinces rightfully belonging to France and Poland.

In January, 1916, Hudson Maxim stated:

"It is my prediction that the war will last from three to five years yet, and that it is more likely to be seven years than three."

In a letter, "Length of the War," dated Jan. 12, 1916, and published in THE NEW YORK TIMES, it was said:

"The armies of Germany are yet terribly strong, and her economical resources are yet wonderfully great. But the moral prestige of Germany is irreparably gone, and the world at large is now against her. How long can such a situation last? Three, five, or seven years more? No; no nation, however materially strong, can fight so long, under the whole world's opprobrium, and against the foes whose moral force is constantly increasing."

The war lasted since then not three or five or seven years, but two years and ten months.

Flushing, N. Y., June 26, 1919.

Banish Poison Gas.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Now that the peace terms of the Allies have been accepted by the German Government, it seems proper to comment upon the one subject of great importance which has been passed by the peacemakers without action of any sort, namely, the use of poison gas in warfare.

Poison gas, the greatest horror in a war of horrors, should be condemned to the limbo of things unspeakable. The use of poison gas in the great war was the most terrible of Germany's deeds, and the shame of that act will forever be the foulest blot on the record of Germany and her rulers. Not the violation of Belgium, nor the use of the submarine against passenger vessels, nor the ruthless deportation and enslavement of captive peoples compares with the use of poisonous gas against human beings. When we see the physical wrecks who have come back from the battlefields of France and Flanders, men who are condemned to suffer through life as a result of gas poisoning, our minds are numbed by the thought that civilized men could have permitted the employment of such fiendish agencies of warfare. The allied nations through the League of Nations, now become a reality, should declare it to be their intention to banish poison gas warfare forever from the world.

MEN.

The snappy men, the happy men, who heard the bugle call—
Who reckoned not the reason—who gave their lives and all.

The swinging men, the singing men—the cadence of the road—
  lightness to the load.

The landing men, the standing men—the hours in the rain—
  transport or the train.

The striving men, the driving men, who put the business through—Relentless in their purpose, which was but to die or do.

The leaping men, the creeping men, the stealthy, stern patrol—
The star-shell in the darkness striking fear into the soul.

The flying men, the dying men, upon the battlefield—
The craven and the hero in the light of day revealed.

The broken men, soft-spoken men, who felt the cannon's breath—
Who trod the Vale of Sacrifice and touched the hand of Death.

The graver men, the braver men, back in our arms once more,
Bring brighter revelations than we ever knew before.

EDISON FOR SQUARE DEAL.

Sees New Order Appearing Based on Golden Rule.

"A square deal" as the cure for radicalism was advocated by Thomas A. Edison in his message read yesterday at the close of the Edison Dealers' annual convention at the Hotel Commodore. In his message, Mr. Edison said:

"A new order of things is emerging from the events of the last five years. Whatever may intervene, the ultimate result is going to approach more closely a square deal—for labor, for capital, for the merchant, for the farmer, for every one. The employer who is not square with his employes, or the employe who is not square with his employer, is going to be out of step with the times.

"Demagogues may muster a following of illogical radicals who advocate injustice as a means of gaining justice, and stiff-necked reactionaries may selfishly oppose the progress which destiny has decreed as humanity's reward for the sacrifices that have been made, but in the end there will prevail a just and honest basis for the relations between capital and labor.

"This new relationship cannot be legislated into existence. It will spring from the conscience and patriotism of the people. The time is coming when the unjust employer and the disloyal employe will share equal odium in the esteem of society at large.

"The square deal is fatal to radicalism. There can be no social revolution in the United States or Canada for the very simple reason that our Government and the Canadian Government are founded on the idea of giving everybody a fair show. There will be few disturbances of consequence if a majority of us adopt the square deal as our business creed and our social creed. One lone man who believes in the square deal and has the courage of his convictions might very possibly convert a whole community. Accordingly, the good citizen today, in addition to conducting his individual business in harmony with the Golden Rule, has the duty of raising his voice and using his influence in behalf of justice for all—justice as much for the railroad corporation as for its employes, and for the common laborer as well as for the highly skilled artisan. I believe that Edison dealers will recognize this duty and that they will not be found wanting in its performance."

FOR AN ARMY OF 325,000.

Senate and House Conferees Compromise—Senate Appropriations Cut

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Senate and House conferees on the Army Appropriation bill late today reached an agreement to fix the average size of the 1920 army at 325,000 officers and men. This total is 75,000 less than that proposed by the Senate and 25,000 more than the strength authorized originally by the House.

The agreement, reached after the members of the Conference Committee had talked with General March, Chief of Staff, means that for the last nine months of the year ending June 30, 1920, the army will be composed of 225,000 officers and men, this reduction being made necessary by the surplus above 325,000 during the next three months.

In announcing that 325,000 was the figure agreed upon, Chairman Wadsworth of the Senate Military Committee said that it was the lowest number that could be named while keeping the army within the limits prescribed by the National Defense act, which required the maintenance of an army of 225,000.

Efforts of the House conferees to reduce increased Senate appropriations in part were successful, the Senate appropriation of $15,000,000 for barracks and quarters being cut in half, while that of $3,500,000 for the Signal Corps was reduced to $3,250,000. The Senate appropriation of $430,000 for the Military Intelligence branch was reduced to $400,000.

Senate amendments fixing the salary of C. W. Hare, Director of Sales, and in charge of disposing of surplus war materials, at $12,000 a year, and the Senate appropriation of $140,000 for the Washington-Alaskan military cable, were accepted by the House managers.

ASKS FOOD INVESTIGATION.

Dr. Day Says He Believes Profiteers Fix Prices Here.

"It is my conclusion that there is a definite agreement and a common understanding among men who are powerful in the food control in this city to boost prices beyond reason," said Market Commissioner Jonathan C. Day in a letter sent yesterday to Dr. Eugene H. Porter, State Commissioner of Foods and Markets, in Albany, asking for a complete investigation of the methods of market men in receiving and selling foodstuffs.

"I believe that wherever foods are sold at auction or where prices are named on Exchanges they are being fixed in an unreasonable way, and I believe there has got to be a complete investigation, thorough-going and unrelenting, on the part of those of us who are in public office in order to get a free and open channel uncontrolled by selfish profiteers and speculators."

Commissioner Day said he thought Dr. Porter had authority to make the investigation.

RELAXING PASSPORT RULES

But State Department Still Restricts Travel to France and England.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Passport restrictions to foreign countries other than England and France are being relaxed a little, according to information from the State Department. It is believed that pleasure travel to France will not be permitted this year. The British and French Governments have requested the department not to issue passports to their countries except for urgent reasons.

There is not the same relaxation, however, in regard to the admission of foreigners into the United States from Europe, chiefly on account of the lack of tonnage for passenger carrying. The War Department, in addition to repatriating the United States Army now in Europe, has asked for first-class passenger accommodation, before Nov. 1, for 18,000 war workers, and this demand can barely be met.

NEWPORT ZONE STAYS 'DRY.'

Daniels Refuses to Rescind the Navy's Wartime Order.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—In response to urgent requests from the Mayor of Newport, R. I., asking that the navy's "dry" zone order applying to all naval training stations be rescinded before July 1, Secretary Daniels today telegraphed that the order would not be rescinded, and that no exceptions would be made in the case of Newport. Mr. Daniels said today that he had received two telegrams from the Newport executive, the last one "very insistent," as the Secretary expressed it, asking that the wartime measure be cancelled at once.

Mr. Daniels intimated that the order would not be rescinded until the President officially declared that a state of war no longer existed, and by that time, Mr. Daniels said, he "hoped that the measure would no longer be necessary."

Bill to Repeal Postal Zone Plan.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Repeal of the postal zone plan for newspapers and periodicals is proposed in a bill by Representative Mondell of Wyoming, the Republican House leader. Under the measure second class mail would be mailable at the flat rate in force before the War Revenue bill of 1917 was passed.

DENIES REPUBLICANS SAVED $1,500,000,000

House Leader, Replying, Asserts Administration Lobby Seeks to Increase the Items.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Representative Claude Kitchin, former Democratic floor leader, in a speech in the House today, denounced the statement by Republican leader Mondell that the Republicans in the House had saved $1,500,000,000 in thirty days as a "masterpiece of deception."

Mr. Kitchin asserted that the reductions so far made were not due to any wisdom on the part of Republican committees, but resulted from the fact that demobilization had progressed very rapidly, making large appropriations, such as were carried in the bills defeated by the Senate filibuster, unnecessary now.

In replying to one of Mr. Kitchin's allegations that the reductions made by the House were being eliminated by the Senate, Mr. Mondell declared that the Senate was listening to the "Administration lobby" and increasing the items over the amounts carried by the House. He expressed the hope that the House in conference would not sanction many of the increases made by the Senate to the appropriation bills.

"The majority leader," said Mr. Kitchin, "attempts to show, and in substance asserts, that the Republicans within the first thirty days during this session were able to pass six supply general bills, the deficiency bills, and the railroad deficiency bill which the Democrats at the last session of Congress, after three months' effort, failed to pass; in other words, that the Republicans in this House in thirty days have accomplished what the Democrats in the last session, after three months' effort, failed to accomplish.

"He attempts to show that the Republicans of the House, by their economy and retrenchment program, in the passage of these appropriation bills had saved to the people of the United States approximately a total of $1,500,000,000; that is, they saved, he claims, to the Government and the people, in the Army bill at this session $400,000,000, in the Naval bill $225,000,000, in the Sundry Civil Appropriation bill $385,000,000, and in the Railroad Deficiency bill $450,000,000, totaling in round numbers $1,500,000,000.

"Intentionally or unintentionally, it is a barefaced fraud upon public information. Intentionally or unintentionally, in all of its inferences and impressions it is a masterpiece of deception.

"Why did he not go further and tell the whole truth by informing the public that the Democratic House in the last session passed every single one of these appropriation bills, and that the Democratic majority in the Senate were ready and anxious and willing to put upon the statute books every single one of these supply bills, but was prevented from doing so by a plotted and deliberate filibuster of a few Republicans in the Senate in the last few days of the session?

Places Blame on Filibuster.

"No man knows that better than Mr. Mondell. No man knows that better than Dr. Fess, the Chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee, who made substantially a similar statement in a speech on the floor on June 14. Every intelligent man in this House—and that includes some Republicans—knows that every one of these bills would have been written into the statute had it not been for the indecent and unwarranted Republican filibuster in the last days of the last Congress."

Discussing the claim by Mr. Mondell that $400,000,000 had been saved in the Army bill, Mr. Kitchin said:

"I state here and now that this did not effect the saving of a single penny to the people of the United States."

Mr. Kitchin pointed out that when the Army bill was considered last session there was uncertainty as to what time would be required to demobilize the army and how much money would be required. The conclusion of all was there would be an average of 500,000 during the fiscal year 1920.

"So," he said, "they were in duty bound under these conditions to provide for an average army of 500,000. Every Republican on the committee and in the House voted for that."

Turning to the assertion that $225,000,000 was saved in the Naval bill, Mr. Kitchin said every Republican on the Naval Committee "knows that it is absolutely untrue." Chairman Butler's report, he continued, showed a reduction of but $119,000,000.

"But what matters a little difference of $106,000,000 when political advantage is sought to be reaped?" Mr. Kitchin asked. He added that the Administration had made it possible to reduce the size of the navy.

Denies Changes in Railroad Bill.

Mr. Kitchin said the estimated saving of $450,000,000 in the Railroad bill was a reduction of the estimates submitted last session.

"I have here our bill as it passed the House and failed in the Senate," he continued, "and I have the Republican bill as it passed the House. With the exception of the change in the number of the Congress and the name of the introducer of the bill, and the number of the bill, if these two bills are not exactly alike, in every word, in every letter, in every sentence, and in every figure, dollar for dollar, I will resign as member of the House."

With respect to the saving of $385,000,000 in the Sundry Civil bill, Mr. Kitchin said it was by cutting down the Shipping Board funds, and with that exception there was an actual increase of about $30,000,000 in the bill.

Mr. Kitchin said in the Sundry Civil bill the Republicans had reduced the amount carried in the bill last session, which every Republican voted for then, to the extent of $367,000,000.

"How did that come about? Because they made a large part of the appropriation available out of the Shipping Board or Fleet Corporation funds and reappropriated the unexpended balance in the hands of the board or corporation and not out of the Treasury, as we did. They provide for a construction program of $704,000,000. We in last session's bill provided for a construction program of only $649,000,000."

Replying, Republican leader Mondell said that he had accurately quoted the purport of the latter's statement summarizing the reductions made by the House in supply bills. He took exception to his conclusions and alleged that the departments affected by the reductions were busily "lobbying" on the Senate side to have the reductions restored.

Mr. Mondell denied that Representative Kahn had said that the reductions in the army bill were made possible by rapid demobilization. Most of these reductions were made, he declared, because of reduction in the army from 509,000, as recommended by the Secretary of War, to an army of 300,000.

"But, if it be true that the reduction in the army is made possible by action of this Administration, how does it happen that the Administration agents are knocking at the doors of the Senate, insisting that all these sums which have been lopped off should be restored?" added Representative Mondell.

Mr. Kahn interrupted to say:

"The Secretary of War is still demanding from the Senate an army of 509,000, and is making preparations to supply an army of that size."

"Not only the War Department," added Mr. Mondell, "but the Shipping Board, the navy, and every department of the Government is at this hour filling the corridors of the Senate with their agents, lobbying with the Senators to restore every dollar of the estimates, and even in some cases to increase the estimates above those presented to the House.

"If we had followed the dictates and demands of the Administration we would be carrying in these bills at least $2,000,000,000 more than they are now carrying."

WOMAN DEPUTY AIDS IN GUNSON TRIAL

Enright Names Mrs. O'Grady as One of Three to Hear Charges Against Patrolman.

WOMEN TELL THEIR STORIES

Markewich Says He Became Interested Because of Friendship for Kobin Family.

Mayor Hylan's request to Police Commissioner Enright to investigate the arrests by Patrolman John J. Gunson, as a member of the vice squad of the Fourth Inspection District, of Lillian Cohen and Sallie Kobin, whose conviction by Magistrate Mancuso was reversed by Judge Rosalsky in General Sessions, resulted in Gunson being placed on trial at Police Headquarters yesterday on the charge of conduct unbecoming an officer. Since these two women were vindicated by the court several weeks ago the cases of a number of other women convicted on similar charges on the uncorroborated testimony of the arresting officer have been reexamined and the stigma of the crimes charged have been removed in each case by order of the court.

The Commissioner instructed three of his deputies to take the testimony concerning Gunson. In addition to the regular trial officer, First Deputy Commissioner John A. Leach, there were Third Deputy Commissioner Augustus D. Porter and Fifth Deputy Commissioner Mrs. Ellen A. O'Grady, the first woman to officially take part in a police proceeding of this nature here. Gunson was defended by Assistant Corporation Counsel E. C. Mayer. The attorney for the complainants was Mrs. Clarice M. Barright.

A statement of the charge against Gunson read: "That said patrolman did on or about March 4, 1919, arrest Sallie Kobin, of 214 Henry Street, and Lillian Cohen, alias Kahn, of 159 South Second Street, Brooklyn, at Forty-second Street and Seventh Avenue, and charged them with soliciting men, said arrests having been declared illegal by Judge Otto A. Rosalsky in General Sessions Court."

Lillian Cohen, after describing the circumstances preceding the arrest and trial of herself and companion, Sallie Kobin, said that she had lost her place with Benjamin Smith because of her arrest. The delay in appealing to friends and relatives, she testified, was due to mortification she experienced over her arrest. Assistant Corporation Counsel Mayer asked Miss Cohen if she had ever been to the Moulin Rouge, and if she had ever been in a Turkish bath, to which she replied that she had gone to the Moulin Rouge on one occasion with a professional friend, a physician, and had been many times in a Turkish bath on Division Street.

Accosted by Three Men.

In reply to questions from Mrs. O'Grady, Miss Cohen said they had been accosted by three men in the fifteen minutes they were walking from the Hotel Astor to Forty-second Street.

"Why didn't you get out of that district, then?" questioned Mrs. O'Grady. Miss Cohen said that was what they were trying to do when they were arrested.

"If you live in Brooklyn, why do you come to New York?" asked Mrs. O'Grady. Miss Cohen said it was more convenient to go to a theatre here than in Brooklyn because of the convenience of a trolley line near her home.

When the girls were arrested they gave their names as Kahn and Cobin, to protect their families and friends, which explains the word "alias" used in the police charge concerning Miss Cohen. Miss Kobin, who is 24 years old, is employed in the U. S. Quartermaster's Department at 45 Broadway. She declared that she was the main support of her widowed mother and brothers and sisters. Since her arrest, Miss Kobin testified, her salary, which had been $27 a week, had been increased by $200 annually in recognition of her service.

Mayer asked her if she knew Assistant District Attorney Markewich.

"I have known him since I was a child," she testified. "I sent a letter to my mother when I was arrested and, I understand, she showed this letter to Mr. Markewich."

"Did Mr. Markewich interest Judge Rosalsky in your case?"

"Yes."

"Did you tell the Judge you had an influential friend in the District Attorney's office?"

"Yes."

Mayer asked her to identify Officer Mott, an employe in the intelligence service at the Quartermaster's Department. Mayer asked her if she had told Mott that she was married.

"I certainly did," replied Miss Kobin. "I told him I was married and had a daughter 6 years old. The reason I did this was because he was continuously pestering me to go out with him, as were other men in the office, and I thought this would be the best way to stop them. I never accepted the invitation of any employe in the office to go out."

Mentioned Case to Rosalsky.

Assistant District Attorney Markewich testified that he had interested himself in the case because of his friendship for the family of Miss Kobin, whom he had known from infancy. Markewich said he had discussed the case with Magistrate Mancuso, who told him he would willingly rectify any error that may have been made if he had the legal power to do it. Markewich said he had later mentioned the case to Judge Rosalsky in the presence of Magistrate Mancuso. Markewich said he believed both girls were of good character, and that they had as much right on Broadway as any man.

Magistrate Mancuso arose and said that Markewich had been quoted as saying that a grave miscarriage of justice had been committed, and he desired to know if the Assistant District Attorney would retract that statement.

"I will be glad to retract any reflection on Magistrate Mancuso," replied Markewich. "I might have said to the newspaper men that a grave miscarriage of justice had been done. However, I believe now that only an honest mistake was made."

Magistrate Norman J. Marsh said he had known Gunson for a long time, and that he had a very good reputation for truth and veracity. Inspector Dominick Henry of the Fourth District said Gunson had been under his command for eighteen months, and had proved to be an efficient officer, who had been assigned to look after moral conditions, along the upper part of Broadway in particular, after a complaint had been received from the Federal Government to the effect that soldiers were being affected by immoral conditions. Henry said he had then instructed the vice squad members to arrest women found accosting men.

Mrs. Barright announced that she would make an additional charge against Gunson on behalf of Mrs. Margaret Holden of 177 West Twenty-sixth Street, who had been arrested and discharged. Henry said he could not recall a complaint from Mrs. Holden, but that he would prefer charges against any officer who exceeded his authority. Commissioner Leach adjourned the trial to July 2.

BOSTON MEN TO JAIL FOR INCOME TAX FRAUD

Court Estimates Amount Wool Dealers Owe Government Approximates $2,500,000.

BOSTON, June 27.—William A. English and John H. O'Brien, members of the wool firm of English & O'Brien, were fined $10,000 each and sentenced to serve eighteen months in prison today for conspiring to defraud the Government in connection with income tax returns.

Immediately after the decision was announced in the Federal Court, Assistant United States Attorney Lewis Goldberg stated that the Government would institute a civil suit to recover the money of which it was defrauded. The defendants pleaded guilty to frauds involving $1,379,000.

English & O'Brien recently offered to give $1,500,000 to the Government as payment of their income taxes, and the Internal Revenue Department informed the court of its willingness to accept the payments. The defendants said the offer was conditional on their release, as they could not make it good if they were imprisoned.

The Department of Justice in its civil proceedings will seek to collect both the income and excess profits taxes due and a 100 per cent. fine provided by law. The court in his opinion said that "if the Government is approximately right in its computation the amount of money due it for taxes is nearly $2,500,000."

An account of war profits was contained in the opinion of Judge Anderson. It recited that:

"The defendants are wool dealers, each about 40 years old. They started in business as boys, and served in various capacities for many years as employes. In the Spring of 1914 they succeeded to a business built up by others, not then apparently very prosperous. I infer that they put little or no capital of their own into this business. Their books show profits as follows: Year ending March 31, 1915, $6,846; year ending March 31, 1916, $368,528; year ending March 31, 1917, $518,304; 11½ months, ending March 14, 1918, (when the business was incorporated,) $1,241,771. Total, $2,125,950.

"In fact, during the last period of eleven and one-half months their profits were about $550,000 in excess of the above sum, because withdrawal of the partners to that amount were falsely charged as expenses. These profits of over $2,600,000 in three years are not attributable to the business abilities and energies of the defendants. They were typical war profits—money which accrued to individuals in time of war out of the general misery of mankind."

LEGION OF HONOR FOR MAYO

French Government to Decorate 13 American Naval Officers Today.

The superdreadnought Pennsylvania, flagship of the Atlantic Fleet, which is now at anchor off Ninety-sixth Street in the North River, will be used this morning for an impressive ceremony, when representatives of the French Government will decorate with the ribbon of the Legion of Honor thirteen American naval officers who served with distinction in home and foreign waters during the European war. The ceremony will begin at 11 o'clock on the quarterdeck of the flagship and will be attended by all of the division and ship commanders of the Atlantic and Pacific Fleets whose vessels are in the great ironclad column that is now anchored in the North River. The officers who will receive the Legion of Honor are:

Rear Admiral NATHANIEL R. USHER, U. S. N., who commanded the Third or New York Naval District during the war.

Captain W. V. PRATT of the staff of Admiral WILLIAM S. BENSON, the Chief of Naval Operations.

Captain THOMAS P. MAGRUDER, who was in command of the American naval forces based on Lorient, France.

Captain NATHAN C. TWINING, former Chief of Navigation, who during the war was Chief of Staff to Admiral Sims in London.

Captain ORTON P. JACKSON, Chief of Staff of the Atlantic Fleet.

Captain HUTCH I. CONE, who commanded the naval air forces in France.

Captain JOHN H. HALLIGAN, who was Chief of Staff of the naval forces based on Brest, France.

Captain T. R. KURTZ, who was Chief of Operations at Brest.

Commander FRANK P. BALDWIN, former Port Officer at Brest, St. Nazaire, and Bordeaux.

Commander R. P. CRAFT, commanding the U. S. S. Aphrodite.

Commander J. C. JOHNSON of the Port Staff at Bordeaux.

The representatives of the French Government will arrive on board the Pennsylvania at 10:30 o'clock and will be received by Admiral Mayo and the fleet staff, as well as by Admiral Henry B. Wilson, who on Monday assumes command of the Atlantic Fleet. Admiral Rodman, the new Commander in Chief of the Pacific Fleet, and Admiral Sims, President of the Naval War College, are also expected to be present.

Service men will be the guests at two theatrical entertainments tonight under the auspices of the New York War Camp Community Service. On Madison Square Roof the men will be entertained at a program of motion pictures and music. A similar show with change of program will be given on the roof on Sunday night.

At W. C. C. S. Unit No. 5, the Community Service's hotel for enlisted men, 55 West 27th Street, a vaudeville show will be held tonight in the new theatre hall especially arranged for Summer shows.

Mr. Ingersoll was formerly Minister to Siam, having been appointed by President Wilson in 1917, and has lately returned from his post in that country.

ALBERT P. KELLER'S WEDDING A SURPRISE

DOUBLE GREEK CEREMONY

Miss Flora Benas Weds J. D. Stephanidis, and Her Brother, J. D. Benas, the Bridegroom's Sister.

Friends of Albert P. Keller, General Manager of the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, will be surprised to learn today that he was married on Thursday evening, in Greenwich, Conn., to Miss Clara D. Guttman of this city. Mr. Keller kept the event so quiet that not even the departmental heads of the hotel knew until late yesterday that he had been married.

The couple motored to Greenwich, accompanied by several intimate friends, and were married at the Pickwick Inn, by Judge James F. Mead of the Borough Court. Acting as witnesses were Anthony Kupfel, August Silz, Rudolph Schaefer, Emil Newman, manager of the inn, and Henry H. White. Following the ceremony a supper was served, the couple returning later to this city.

To comply with the five-day marriage law, Mr. Keller obtained the marriage license from Town Clerk Wellstood several days in advance. The bride gave her age as 28, and Mr. Keller said he was 38.

Mr. Keller was born in Baden-Baden, Germany, and is an American citizen. After hotel training in Switzerland and England, he became assistant manager at Shepheard's Hotel in Cairo, Egypt. After three years in Rome at the Grand Hotel, he served as manager of the Hotel Savoy in London, entering the service of the Ritz system in 1910, when he came to New York.

Sisters and Brothers in Wedding.

A double wedding ceremony took place on Thursday evening at The Crossways, a Summer hotel at Sound Beach, Conn., when Miss Flora D. Benas married John D. Stephanidis, and her brother, John D. Benas, married the bridegroom's sister, Miss Corrina D. Stephanidis, all of New York City. The ceremony was performed by a priest of the Greek orthodox church, and was witnessed by a large party who motored from New York.

Vernon—Huntington.

Howard W. Vernon of Brooklyn and Miss Susan D. Huntington, a sister of John Petit Huntington of Norwich, Conn., were married quietly yesterday at Northampton, Mass., in the presence of members of the families and a few close friends. Miss Huntington has been a teacher in Smith College. Mr. and Mrs. Vernon will live at 15 South Portland Avenue, Brooklyn.

Bridegroom's Father Officiates.

Miss Margaret Dickson Bridges, a daughter of the late Rev. William J. and Susan Gist Bridges, and the last of her family, was married Thursday to Albert Blakeslee of Cold Spring Harbor, N. Y., by the bridegroom's father, the Rev. Dr. F. D. Blakeslee of Binghamton, N. Y., at the residence of Scott Foster, 175 West Seventy-second Street, New York. There were no attendants and only members of the family present.

Miss George Weds Wm. J. Widman.

Miss Marjorie Harriet George, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. George, and William J. Widman, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Widman of Detroit, Mich., were married last evening at the home of the bride's parents in Woodhaven, L. I. At the same time Mr. George, who is Chief Clerk of the Borough of Queens, and Mrs. George celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. The bride was a yeomanette during the war. Mr. Widman was an aviator with the 100th Aero Squadron. The couple will reside in Detroit.

Harry A. Franck, Author, Marries.

Harry A. Franck, author of "A Vagabond Journey Around the World," and Miss Rachel W. Latta, daughter of William J. Latta of Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia, were married at the home of the bride's father yesterday. Mr. Franck and his bride first met while in France. He was a Lieutenant in the Intelligence Service of the army, and Mrs. Franck was engaged in war work. After his discharge from the army in Coblenz, on April 12, Mr. Franck made a vagabond walking tour of Germany, and is writing up his experiences.

The Rev. Father James J. Hall.

The Rev. Father James J. Hall, pastor for the last seven years of St. Aloysius's Church of Jersey City, died at 10 o'clock last night at the parish house, West Side and Kensington Avenues, that place, after being unconscious since Tuesday, following a second apoplectic stroke suffered in the last ten days.

Father Hall was born in Providence, R. I., sixty-three years ago and was for seventeen years pastor of the Church of Our Lady of Sorrow in South Orange, after which he went to Jersey City. At his bedside when he died was his sister, Sister of Mercy Mary Anna of Hartford, Conn.

John A. Leach.

DENVER, Colo., June 27.—John A. Leach, 76 years old, of Sedalia, Mo., who in 1873 founded the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, at Port Jervis, N. Y., died here last night of pleurisy. Mr. Leach had come here to attend the triennial convention of the brotherhood, resolved to maintain his record of having attended every convention of the organization. At the first meeting, at which eleven men were present, Mr. Leach was elected Grand Master. After many years' service with the Missouri Pacific Railroad, Mr. Leach retired several years ago and had lived in Sedalia since that time. His home was a gift of the brotherhood.

Obituary Notes.

JOHN BENNERS, for several years in the employ of the American Stocking Company in Manhattan in a confidential capacity, died at his home in Bloomfield, N. J., on Thursday. Mr. Benners was born in Brooklyn fifty-three years ago, and was a veteran of the 23d Regiment of Brooklyn.

ANTHONY FABRI, for thirty-three years a resident of Amityville, L. I., and a foreman for the Wood Lumber Company there nearly all of that time, died on Thursday, at the age of 68 years.

THEODORE T. LOW, 56 years old, a compositor on THE NEW YORK TIMES and a member of Typographical Union No. 6 and of St. Cecile Lodge, F. and A. M., died of heart disease on Wednesday at his home, 417 Forty-third Street, Brooklyn. He left a widow and a son, Lieut. Col. John Chambers Low, formerly of the 308th United States Engineers.

DAVID C. SMALLEY, 66 years old, brother of William L. Smalley, Mayor of North Plainfield, N. J., died yesterday at his home in that city.

Mrs. WILMINA KISKADDEN WYLIE, wife of the Rev. Dr. Edmund Melville Wylie, pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church, Montclair, N. J., died Thursday at Valley City, N. D.

Mrs. MARGARET KELLY, 65 years old, wife of John B. Kelly, an old-time New York dry goods merchant, died yesterday. Besides her husband she is survived by two sons and two daughters—James P. Kelly, President of the Kelly, Rafter Company; the Rev. Father John B. Kelly, Secretary of the Catholic Big Brothers League; Mrs. George R. Stuart, wife of Dr. Stuart, and Miss Kathleen Kelly.

SHONTS'S ILLNESS SERIOUS

Dr. Squier Says Condition Has Been the Same for Several Days.

The condition of Theodore P. Shonts, President of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, was said late last night by his attending physician, Dr. J. Bentley Squier, Jr., 49 East Forty-ninth Street, to be virtually the same that it has been for several days. Dr. Squier said that his patient had not suffered any relapse, as had been reported, but that his condition continued to be very serious. However, he thought that Mr. Shonts would recover if no unforeseen complications developed.

Mr. Shonts has been ill for about four weeks at his home, 930 Park Avenue, and last Sunday it was necessary for him to undergo an operation. His condition for a week or more has been such as to give his family and friends grave concern.

Gen. J. P. Hatch's Widow Dies at 93

Mrs. Adelaide G. Bürckle Hatch, widow of General John Porter Hatch, who served in both the Mexican and civil wars with great honors, died yesterday at her home, 203 West 103d Street, in the ninety-fourth year of her age. Mrs. Hatch was born at 25 Courtlandt Street, a daughter of Christian J. Bürckle, a prominent merchant of his day, who built the first house in Washington Square South, when that section of the city was considered far out. During the civil war Mrs. Hatch and two children were captured and taken prisoners by the Texans.

Mrs. Hatch is survived by one daughter, Miss Harriet Adelaide Hatch, and a niece, Mrs. LeBaron Bradford Prince of 20 Broadway, Flushing, wife of former Governor Prince of New Mexico. They will accompany the body on Monday to Washington, where interment will be beside the body of General Hatch in Arlington Cemetery.

William Henry Lowndes.

William Henry Lowdnes, managing director of the Davis, Collamore & Co., Ltd., china and glassware dealers at 595 Fifth Avenue, died yesterday afternoon at his home at Mt. Vernon, N. Y. Mr. Lowndes was born in this city fifty-nine years ago, and had been with the firm of Davis, Collamor & Co. for forty years.

Ex-Congressman John K. Stewart.

John K. Stewart, head of one of the largest knit goods plants in the country and prominent in politics, died yesterday at his home in Amsterdam, N. Y., at the age of 65. He represented Montgomery County in the Assembly and served two terms in Congress from the Thirty-first New York District.

Why You Are Paying War-Prices In Peace Times

The serious concern about the mounting costs of necessities was shown not long ago when twenty-six Democratic members of the Massachusetts legislature cabled to President Wilson that "The citizens of the United States want you home to help reduce the high cost of living which we consider far more important than the League of Nations."

A man's suit of clothes that cost $15.00 in 1914 costs $26.00 to-day; shoes that were $9.00 in 1914 cost $15.50 now; a woman's suit that cost $15.00 in 1914 is $24.00 to-day; every item in both men's and women's wearing apparel has nearly doubled in price, while food, shelter, fuel, heat, and light have soared to equally high levels. This condition prompts the Detroit News to declare that "what the eating, sleeping, and dressing world wants to know is whether the cost of necessities is justified?" The consumer finds it hard to understand, according to the Buffalo Evening News, "why six months after the end of fighting, prices instead of taking a fall, are forever rising."

THE LITERARY DIGEST presents this week in its leading article a comprehensive survey of the elements affecting present living costs; comparative tables showing the difference in prices of many articles in 1914 and to-day, the opinions of bankers, merchants, and manufacturers as to the future outlook, and the observations of editorial writers throughout the country on the situation. This article should be of practical value to every DIGEST reader.

"The Digest" Paves the Way to Prosperity

It goes without saying that you want to succeed in life or, if you are already successful, that you want to make that success greater and more far-reaching. There is no royal road to prosperity, it is reached by all sorts of routes, likely and unlikely, but there is a recipe, which, coupled with plenty of persistent application, is as apt to help you to fortune as anything known to humankind. It may be defined in one word—"education." Now, aside from the college variety, which few of us have had and the rest are too busy to think of, there remains only that obtained from intimate knowledge of men and events. To such knowledge there is no surer, saner guide than THE LITERARY DIGEST, greatest of news-magazines, the weekly upon which more than a million Americans depend for their information on the live issues of the day. This ever-increasing army represents our best and highest citizenship. Be wise and enlist in it to-day

PECORD IS NAMED TO REFEREE BOUT

Dempsey Fells Jamaica Kid with Terrific Blow—Willard Is Satisfied with His Condition.

Special to The New York Times.

TOLEDO, Ohio, June 27.—Tex Rickard received from the Army, Navy and Civilian Boxing Board today a wire announcing that Ollie Pecord would be the referee on July 4. The two judges are Rickard and A. Drexel Biddle. The timekeeper will be Warren Barbour of New York, the former heavyweight amateur boxer. Jack Skelly of Yonkers is the alternate referee. The selections seem to please everybody. Pecord is the man desired by the State boxing officials, while Rickard will satisfy the demands of Champion Willard. Major Biddle has been prominent as an amateur boxer and patron of the sport for many years. The presence of Mr. Biddle and Mr. Barbour as officials gives the bout a distinction no championship bout has ever before received.

Pecord will receive $2,500 as a fee for being the third man in the ring. Toledo is overjoyed at his selection. He is 51 years old, and has been mixed up with the boxing game in one way or another for 24 years. In that time he has refereed more than 400 bouts. His full name is Oliver Thomas Pecord. He used to play professional baseball in the American Association and the Western and Southern leagues.

Jack Dempsey, the Colorado panther, knocked his toughest sparring partner, Jamaica Kid, kicking this afternoon in a hot bout at the challenger's training camp at the Overland Club on Maumee Bay. It was in the second round of their mixup and Dempsey and the Kid were going at it hammer and tongs so that Trainer Jimmy De Forest let the round run along for five minutes.

Dempsey Drops Jamaica Kid.

Jamaica Kid was trying to slam Dempsey for all he was worth. He started a savage right swing and it landed flush on the side of the challenger's face. Dempsey didn't like it. He started to rush the Kid and caught him with a left hook on the jaw. The negro's knees sagged and he went down. De Forest and Dempsey both caught him before he reached the canvas. Jamaica was groggy and staggering. That ended Dempsey's work for the day and it was the hottest pace he has set at boxing this week.

Willard liked the cool weather today and put on his purple full-length trunks while at work in the ring at the Casino. The champion boxed eight rounds, three with Jack Hempel, two with Joe Chip, two with Walter Monahan, and one with Bill Scott. Willard showed real speed against Hempel and Chip and danced around the ring at a lively gait when these two were making a strong play for the champion's face. Willard's smiling face and easy-going confidence have the Dempsey crowd puzzled.

Both camps were jammed with spectators. The crowds have reached such proportions that the camps are not large enough to accommodate them. They come from miles around in automobiles of many vintages. Mothers with babes in arms and girls and their escorts all done out in their Sunday best crowd to the camps to see the boxers in action. It was just like a crowd at the old county fair. They make a holiday of it, and the carnival spirit fills the air. Willard and Dempsey are taking in more cash from the curious who are willing to see them train than some of the old-time heavyweights received for scrapping in a championship fight.

Tommy Ryan, the old-time scrapper, arrived today and saw the fighters work this afternoon. He marveled at Willard's size, and was also surprised at the circus methods the present day fighters use when training. Benny Leonard, the lightweight champion, also joined the ranks of sightseers. There seems to be almost enough boxers and newspaper reporters and experts in town right now to almost fill up Rickard's colossal arena.

Willard Is Satisfied.

Willard is pretty well satisfied with his condition, according to his camp followers. Walter Monahan, his leading sparring partner, who has been with him in all his fights, said after the bouts yesterday:

"I don't care how hard Dempsey can hit. Jack will not hurt Willard with stomach punches. Dempsey will be the most surprised man in the world when he pops the champion in the stomach and doesn't get results. Dempsey will also get a shock when he finds how hard Jess can hit that will be very discouraging to the challenger, to say the least. Jess will be a greatly changed man when he begins to fight in earnest. You can judge very much on the way he acts in his practice bouts. Let me tell you Willard boxing and Willard fighting are two entirely different propositions. I don't think any boxer can inherit the ring blues any more quickly that by discovering that his blows do not harm his opponent and think that this will be the case with Dempsey.

"I figure," concluded Monahan, "that this and Dempsey's fatigue in constantly rushing at Willard, only to be thrown back, will soon undermine the challenger's confidence. In a short time his impunitive nature will be crushed and he will be ready for whatever Jess is pleased to hand him, providing that he isn't knocked out while he is still fresh."

Optimism Everywhere.

That may sound optimistic, but it is nothing compared to the kind of talk that one hears around Dempsey's camp. Jack Kearns, his manager, and Bill McCarney are cock-sure that Dempsey will be the heavyweight champion of the world one week from today. McCarney is one of the several followers of Dempsey who says that Jack will knock Willard cold in the first round. He isn't betting on that proposition, however, but is going to stake everything he has on a bet that Dempsey will win the fight in six rounds.

According to Kearns, Dempsey's manager, the challenger is the greatest scrapper that ever lived, an allegation which would be rather difficult for Mr. Kearns to prove. "He has youth and speed," says Kearns, "and is the hardest hitter and fastest puncher that ever lived. You can't beat that combination."

At Dempsey's camp they do not pay much attention to the arguments about Willard's weight and height and reach. They argue that Jack can overcome these with his speed and bulldog aggressiveness.

When Dempsey was told that Pecord had been appointed referee and that Rickard and Major Biddle would be the two judges, he said that he didn't think that there would be anything for the judges to do. As long as Pecord can count ten seconds that is all that Dempsey cares about. He has absolute confidence in his ability, and says this fight will end just as his other bouts have ended, in a hurry.

Won't Be Overtrained.

Dempsey scoffs at the fear that some of the experts here have that there is a danger of his going stale. Jack says that there is no danger of his being trained too fine. The challenger says that at no time in his fighting career has he ever been what fighters call "on edge." He has been trained right up to the limit, but has never gone over the mark. Jack will taper off his boxing activities next week, and today's bout with the Jamaica Kid was the last real hard scrapping he will do. The cut over his right eye has entirely healed, but the scar is still there, and yesterday when he boxed it was covered with vasoline, so the gloves of his sparring partners would slip off it easily. Big Bill Tate did not go into the ring against Dempsey today. Jack walloped him pretty hard around the stomach yesterday and Bill wasn't feeling any too well after that ordeal.

Dempsey's work at the training camp this afternoon was twice as flashy as the work of Willard. The champion's staff of boxers all act tired and worn out. The daily ordeal of having the champion's heavy arms weighing down on them and the force of his punches has slowed them up. With Dempsey it is just the opposite. Jamaica Kid is a fighter every second. Some of the boxing sharps remarked today that they believed that Jamaica Kid could take all of Willard's sparring partners into the same ring and beat them.

Dempsey was just as active as ever today. He worked harder while he had the gloves on than he has at any time this week. It was his last bout before he goes against Willard, and when he toppled over the Jamaica Kid today the perspiration was pouring off his face. The day's work was short, but it was red hot while it lasted. At times he walloped the Kid and Jock Malone so hard that he sent them staggering across the ring. Dempsey took more punches from his partners today than has been his custom. Both the Kid and Malone smashed him hard on the jaw, and Dempsey didn't seem particular about guarding this vital spot.

Dempsey will have only light work on the first two days next week, and he will rest for the two days before the fight. Willard is about finished, and his work from now on will be just enough to hold him about where he is. Those who back Willard to win are not worrying about his condition. They say it is satisfactory for a twelve-round bout.

RANDALL WIRES GOV. COX.

Prohibitionist Representative Calls Fight "Disgraceful Exhibition."

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Representative Randall, Prohibitionist, California, who yesterday introduced a resolution requesting Governor Cox of Ohio to prevent the Willard-Dempsey fight at Toledo, July 4, telegraphed the Governor today that "the enlightened public sentiment of this country is against this proposed disgraceful exhibition and looks to you to prevent it."

BOUT TO BE REPRODUCED HERE

Fighters in Local Ring to Show Willard-Dempsey Fight.

Charley Harvey has secured the 69th Regiment Armory, Twenty-sixth Street and Lexington Avenue, for the afternoon of July 4th, and has made arrangements to reproduce the Willard-Dempsey contest held at Toledo.

Harvey has engaged two well-known boxers, who will show each blow of the championship match exactly as they are delivered in the ring at Toledo. The different incidents occurring at the Bay View arena will be announced from the ring at the armory.

WAGNER TO START DRIVERS.

Will Officiate in All the Auto Races at Speedway July 4.

Fred J. Wagner will be the official starter for all the automobile races at the Sheepshead Bay Speedway on July Fourth. The veteran official was the unanimous choice of the noted speed merchants who will compete in the 100-mile Derby. Howdy Wilcox, who will meet Ralph De Dalma in a special match race of three ten-mile heats for the championship of America, suggested several western starters for the special race, but quickly withdrew his suggestions in favor of Fred Wagner, who has handled the checkered flag in most of the important contests in the last twenty years.

Jules Goux, the sensational French pilot who finished third in the recent $50,000 Indianapolis classic of 500 miles, arrived in town last night and conferred with Manager James J. Johnston about entering the match with De Palma and Wilcox. Goux has cabled to France for an extension of time on his army furlough in order to flash his speed in the contests of the gasoline land fliers next Friday afternoon.

A large corps of workmen finished putting the Bay track in condition yesterday, and everything is now ready for the tuning up sprints of the drivers. Ralph De Palma, Joe Boyer, Dave Lewis, Eddie O'Donnell, and several stars who have been overhauling their speedsters at the track side garages, will move out on the two-mile oval today.

Up to date thirteen entries have been approved for the 100-mile classic. The Contest Board will pass upon about ten more today, and it is considered certain that the biggest field of speed demons that ever swung into action at Sheepshead Bay will start in the long grind for money and glory. Tickets are now on sale at all the hotel and ticket agencies in New York and Brooklyn.

TIGERS CHASE JIM BAGBY FROM MOUND

Score Easy Victory Over Indians, 7 to 1—Heilman Leads Attack with Home Run.

DETROIT, June 27.—Hughey Jennings's Tigers handed the Cleveland Indians a jolt here this afternoon, and the Fohlmen dropped another half game behind the Yankees, who were kept idle by rain. Today's victory, the second in succession for the Tigers, was an easy one, Detroit doing all its scoring in the first four innnings. In fact, after the home team pushed two runs over the plate in the second inning the visitors did not seriously threaten. It was the third consecutive defeat for the Indians, who were downed by the White Sox Wednesday before opening the series here.

Dauss's great pitching held the Ohioans in check in all except the fourth inning, when the Indians managed to push over the one run that saved them from a shutout. The Detroit veteran held the Indians to five hits, and they were well scattered.

Jim Bagby, pitching for the visitors, was driven from the box in four innings, during which the Tigers got to him for six hits. Uhle, the Cleveland semi-pro pitcher, did not allow a hit in his three innings on the mound, and Tom Phillips pitched the eighth innning without allowing a hit. But the damage was all done before Bagby got away.

Harry Heilman, whose triple proved the deciding blow in yesterday's victory over Cleveland, led the attack on Bagby today with a home run. Young and Bush again starred in the field.

JONES JOINS YANKEES.

New Infielder Reports to Huggins—Two Games Today.

Johnny Jones, an infielder acquired from the Great Lakes Naval Training Station, reported yesterday to Manager Miller Huggins, to strengthen the Yankees. Jones was signed with Fred Hoffman, a catcher, and was ordered to report when he was honorably discharged. Hoffman was also expected to report yesterday but was delayed.

Everything was all set at the Polo Grounds yesterday for the Yankees to begin a tirade against the Boston Red Sox, but the elements knocked the scheduled pastime out of kilter, even before a start could be made. Shortly before noon anxious inquiry at the uptown baseball lot brought forth responses that there was every intention to start the scheduled double-bill at 1:30 o'clock. Then it started to rain and the officials timidly announced that the opening game had been abandoned, but that there was hope of starting the second game, despite the gloomy outlook. This hope flickered and was dissipated, however, when there was no visible break in the overhanging storm clouds.

There will be a double-header this afternoon, the first clash starting at 1:30 o'clock. Tomorrow a single game will be played and Monday the Red Sox's visit here will end with a double attraction, which will start at 1:30 o'clock.

The Yankees' position at the top of the American League column was improved yesterday, through Cleveland's defeat by the Tigers, and the White Sox defeat at the hands of the St. Louis Browns. The defeat to the Indians gave the Yanks a two-game lead on the Cleveland tribe, while the White Sox setback kept the Chicagoans further away from the leadership by one-half a game. The Sox are third, two and one-half games behind the league-leading Yanks.

BROWNS POUND CICOTTE.

AMERICANS DEFEAT ALLIES.

Win Events When Paddock of California Takes Sprints.

PERSHING STADIUM, France, June 26, (Associated Press.)—Better weather, combined with a half holiday in Paris, brought a record crowd to the Inter-Allied games today. The spectators included many school children, who cheered the Yankee contestants as lustily as they did the French entries. American soldiers again filled the east stand of the Stadium and loudly applauded American winners.

C. W. Paddock of Pasadena, Cal., who won the first place in the 100-metre final, ran the distance in 10 4-5 seconds, which is within 1-5 second of the world's record and beat the French record by a fifth of a second. He forged ahead at the 75-metre mark and broke the tape two feet in front of Edward Teschner of Lawrence, Mass.

The American basketball team easily defeated the Italian five by a score of 55 to 17, the Americans showing excellent teamwork.

In the middleweight boxing preliminaries Egan of America knocked out Negri of Italy in the first round. The knockout came thirty-two seconds after the bell for the first round. In the lightweight boxing preliminaries Zoonens, the Belgian champion, beat Martin of Canada.

MANY TO COMPETE AT MEET.

Metropolitan A. A. U. Contest to be Held This Afternoon.

Particular interest will attach to the outcome of the 220-yard dash at the annual Metropolitan A. A. U. junior track and field championships to be held this afternoon at Stevens Tech Field, Hoboken, N. J. Forty-six aspiring sprinters have entered for this race. Because of the heavy entry a number of trial and semi-final heats have been arranged.

The favorites are Gordon Milne, Loughlin Lyceum; J. Tackash, Glencoe A. C.; P. Friedlander, Glencoe A. C.; Arthur Rothschild, Kings County A. A.; W. Frick, Glencoe A. C.; Patrick Feerick, New York A. C.; J. Bonaparte, Salem-Crescent A. C.; Percy Verwayen, Salem-Crescent A. C., and G. A. Burwell, Alpha P. K. C. C.

A field of twenty-seven runners will strive for the two-mile title. Hans Schuster, a veteran distance runner, will make an effort for the title, together with Victor Voteretsas, Millrose A. A.; Alexander W. Feher, Hungarian-American A. C.; Frank Titterton, unattached; J. Wiberg, Swedish-American A. C.; Arthur H. Wilson, New York A. C.; J. Losgar, St. Anselm's A. C.; Al Hulsebosch, Paulist A. C., and Fred Travelena, Mohawk A. C.

Sixteen events are scheduled for decision. The greatest entry in the history of the games has been received. Altogether 287 individuals have sent in entry blanks, representing an entry list of 405. Representatives of thirty-five clubs in the Metropolitan district will vie for the team championship.

NO ACTION ON PROTEST.

Intersectional A. L. Will Render Verdict Monday Night.

A decision in the dispute which resulted when the Paulist A. C. and the Glencoe A. C. tied for the point trophy in the recent Intersectional Athletic League track and field meet will be rendered Monday night, when a meeting of the league officials will be held.

No action has as yet been taken on the protest submitted by the Glencoe A. C. This and other details of the case will be discussed at the coming meeting, when it is expected final disposition of the point trophy will be made.

HITS BY ROUSH WIN GAME.

Outfielder Helps Reds Beat the Pirates, 5 to 2.

PITTSBURGH, June 27.—Cincinnati defeated Pittsburgh today 5 to 2, mainly through the batting of Roush for the visitors. He made two singles and a double off Carlson, and a triple off Mayer. He also made two clever catches in centre field, one of them robbing Stengel of a homer. Luque relieved Fisher in the second, owing to Fisher's wildness, and held the Pirates safe all the way.

A. H. MAN WINS NET TITLE.

Defeats C. G. Gill for West Side Club's Trophy.

Alrick H. Man, Jr., former Captain of the Yale University tennis team, is this season's champion of the West Side Club, his victory in the final round of the Class A tournament having been gained at the expense of Commander C. G. Gill of the United States Navy, whom he defeatde in straight sets, 7—5, 6—4, 6—4. Man's final bracket was won by the defeat of Frank H. Ross, while Commander Gill advanced by winning from John K. Winkler in two out of three sets. The West Side Club doubles title is now held by Ralph J. Gatcomb and Dr. E. W. Davenport, who won three out of four sets from Julian S. Myrick and William Alex Campbell in the final round.

FAVORITES JUSTIFY FAITH OF BACKERS

Four Choices Win on Sloppy Track at Aqueduct—Recount Captures Handicap.

Racing was a semi-amphibious sport at Aqueduct yesterday, yet favorites won in the four best-filled races, and in the two with a scant array of starters, respectively three and two horses, the one at the longest price won, to the glee of a select few who make it a rule to always back the outsider in a race when only a brace or a trio goes to the post.

Rain fell incessantly from a dull, gray sky, and it was raining throughout the morning in town, yet 5,000 gathered for the sport offered by the Queens County Jockey Club. Wet but cheerful, fully 100 layers of odds were on the lawn. The anglers for memory wagers scattered bait in the way of odds and had plenty of nibbles. Only the tuneful strains of the band were bone dry.

However moist, the jockeys finished in clean jackets, for the spongelike sand at Aqueduct absorbs water and the soil is not picked and flung in gobs by the hoofs of the horses as on a clay track. A stretch of water as wide as a trout brook covered the course all around the inner rail and the finishes were in splashes that suggested a swimming race.

A. K. Macomber's Fruit Cake was the mermaid of the second sprint, for mares three years old and upward, and won by five lengths, but the spectacular marked the dash for the place between Ophelia and Quietude, wearing the "Barbarity" scarlet of A. H. Morris, seldom seen in these days, the former getting it by a neck.

Two year olds opened and closed the card. The first race was for fillies of that age, Phantom Fair romping in three lengths in the lead, while Betsinda, second, led Sweet Apple by two lengths. Merry Sinner, a filly of size and substance that dwarfed the others in bulk, was fourth, a length away. In the last race eleven faced the starter. It was a five-furlong dash for maiden two year olds. The damp throng made Brookholt an odds-on favorite. The son of Ballot proved faithful to his trust and won by a length easily, Furlough beating Bucklaide by that distance for the place. Rory o' More was a disappointment to many.

Questionnaire, after his good showing in the Brooklyn Handicap, was the favorite in the third race for three-year-olds. With only three to start, the test revealed that the Zeus colt is none too partial to sloppy going, for the pace throughout was furnished by Crystal Ford and Thunderclap. Off in front, Crystal Ford proved the right one for the winners to follow. Although Thunderclap made a strong finish, he was beaten by a neck. It was a beautiful race between the two throughout, both running in the middle of the track to avoid the water. Questionnaire, when he made his run at the turn into the stretch, was taken up on the far outside and some criticised Rice for not trying to splash through on the rail.

Only Recount and Woodtrap started in the Raceland Handicap, the odds slightly favoring the latter. But Andrew Miller's four-year-old led throughout, gliding through the water as though he had fins instead of hoofs, and captured the verdict by a length, the second of Ballot's get to win. Woodtrap, perhaps, laid too far out of it in the earlier part, for he closed rapidly in the stretch but had too much to do.

The lightweighted three-year-old filly, Dottie Vandiver, made the most of the 87½ pounds she carried and set a stiff pace in the fifth, a mile race with selling allowances. At one time she led by ten lengths, with Nightstick, who was off in front with the filly, always following the pace. Kilts, 2d., off third, and well fancied, dropped back as though he feared wetting his feet. In the stretch Nightstick collared Dottie Vandiver and, in a finish that brought the onlookers to their feet waving umbrellas, he won by a neck. The two were eight lengths in front of Snapdragon, 2d.

Paul Connolly of Philadelphia said at the track that he has sold the three-year-olds, Roi Craig and Wyndover, to Mrs. Payne Whitney, of the Greentree Stables. They will be put to jumping in preparation for the Harbor Hill and the other three-year-old races over the sticks.

OFFER NEW NET PRIZES.

Seabright Bowls to Replace Famous Achelis Cup.

When R. N. Williams, 2d, won the Achelis Cup at the tournament at the Seabright Lawn Tennis and Cricket Club in 1916, one of the most famous trophies in tennis passed out of competition. It had been up for fourteen years, during which time the names of Wright, Larned, Alexander, Little, Clothier, Niles, Long, and Pell had been inscribed upon it, in addition to that of Williams.

Because of the prominence in tennis of the men who had their names on this cup, it achieved an unusual distinction. This the club wishes to maintain and to that end it has put up a new bowl for singles to be known as the Seabright Bowl, and a pair for doubles, these also to be designated as the Seabright Bowls. They represent not only the club's interest in tennis, but the friendly attitude toward the game of the whole community which has enjoyed in the past some of the most thrilling matches played in the East. They will be offered for the first time in this season's tournament starting July 28.

In announcing the decision to put new trophies in competition, Bernon S. Prentice, Chairman of the Tennis Committee, said, "These trophies are given under conditions somewhat similar to those governing the Achelis Cup. They are to be won three times, not necessarily in succession, and the holder in each case is to play through. The club and its friends welcome this opportunity to show their interest in tennis and it is our hope that these bowls may achieve a record as distinguished as that of the Achelis Cup.

"The committee is particularly interested in the doubles bowls because it is our feeling that not enough inducement has been given teams in the past to continue in the game season after season. Looking back over the records there appear only a few teams which played together any number of years—for instance, Ward and Wright, Hackett and Alexander, and McLoughlin and Bundy. When the immense number of players in the country is considered, it would seem as though this number should be much larger. It is our feeling that if there are trophies of some traditional interest, such as we hope the Seabright doubles bowls will acquire, that factor would be an incentive for teams to continue playing doubles year after year, when their members might have stopped tournament play in singles. Every one wants to see the doubles game developed and the Seabright Lawn Tennis and Cricket Club is taking what is sincerely hoped will be a step for improving this branch of tennis."

The prizes will be in play for the first time during the tournament which begins July 28. This is one of the most important grass events in the country, as it always attracted the entry of players who are in line for the championship. Particular effort will be made this season to have a strong field and as the club has eighteen excellent grass courts in use there will be a splendid setting for the tournament. The committee includes Bernon S. Prentice, F. B. Alexander, George Bodman, Holcombe Ward, Hooker Talcott, Ford Johnston and Frederick C. Inman.

Regatta Today for Rowing Club.

The Metropolitan Rowing Club will conduct its thirty-ninth annual regatta on the Harlem River this afternoon. Four events were scheduled, including a novice single gig race, in which there are six entries; a mixed double gig, which has attracted ten pairs, and which will be decided in three heats; a centipede race, with six quartets, which will be run in three heats, and an eight oared shell race, in which three crews will strive for the laurels. In addition to the rowing races, a fifty-yard swimming race will be conducted. Eight members have entered for this race.

DECIDE TO REVIVE TITLE POLO PLAY

National Championships Will Be Played at Philadelphia, Beginning Sept. 15.

Polo has followed the major sports and decided to revive the national championships, which have been a blank since 1916. The game furnished so many players to the war that there was none left behind to play, anyhow, except men too young or too old for active service. At the annual meeting last Winter, the Polo Association voted to start up club tournaments but not to attempt to renew the national championships until the mixups, due to the war, had been straightened out. Now, however, the committee, at a special meeting called by H. L. Herbert and William A. Hazard, has voted to play the championships at the Philadelphia Country Club, Bala, Penn., beginning on Sept. 15.

The action was in accordance with a canvass by mail of the 300 clubs in all parts of the country. Two questions were asked: If it was advisable to revive the championships, and in that contingency should they be played, as has been the case since 1909, at the Point Judith Polo Club, Narragansett Pier, R. I. The ballot favored the taking up of championship play, but not until about the middle of September. The latter request automatically put the Point Judith field out of the running, as the season at Narragansett Pier ends on Labor Day.

The senior championship is now held by the Great Neck Polo Club, the winning team having been Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., J. Watson Webb, Malcolm Stevenson and Louis E. Stoddard. The junior title is held by Meadow Brook Third, which played F. S. von Stade, Raymond Belmont, Thomas Hitchcock, Jr. and Morgan Belmont. There was no finish for the open championship at Point Judith in 1916, rain having forced the final off the cards. The successful semi-finalists were Meadow Brook, F. S. von Stade, J. M. Waterbury, Jr., H. P. Whitney and Devereux Milburn; and Coronado, H. M. Heckscher, Harry East, E. W. Hopping and Malcolm Stevenson. A "rump final" was played at Meadow Brook late in the Fall, with a somewhat different lineup, which Meadow Brook won, but this is not counted on the Polo Association records.

The polo championships were started in 1895, at the Prospect Park parade ground, Brooklyn. There will probably be an invitation club tournament at Narragansett Pier in August, under the direction of P. S. P. Randolph, President of the Point Judith Polo Club.

SCHOONERS IN RACE TODAY.

Will Compete in Open Regatta on Long Island Sound.

OYSTER BAY, L. I., June 27.—For the first time in two years the members of the Seawanhaka-Corinthian Yacht Club will hold an open regatta on Long Island Sound tomorrow. In 1917, when the United States went to war, the Center Island Club managed to hold a few races for its Fish Class. Last Summer there was practically no entertainments at the club, and the organization made no attempt to hold any regattas. So far this Summer the club has held only closed regattas.

The feature of the racing tomorrow will be the first appearance of the big schooners. De Forest Hicks, Chairman of the Regatta Committee, stated today that both Miladi, the property of Captain George W. Scott, Larchmont Yacht Club, and Zahra, which belongs to former Commodore Howard C. Smith, would make their first appearance of the year. The new O yachts of the Larchmont Yacht Club also will sail.

In addition to the classes already announced, Richard Monks, Chairman of the Race Committee of the Indian Harbor Yacht Club sent word yesterday that both the Indian Harbor Arrows and the one design class of the club would be at the starting line. These yachts as a rule never race excepting in the club regattas of the Greenwich Club. E. C. Benedict's steam yacht Oneida will be used as the committee boat.

YACHTS IN DISTANCE RACE.

Only Four Start Cruise to Albany and Return.

Only four yachts came to the starting line for the resumption of the annual long distance motor boat race of the New York Motor Boat Club yesterday, and according to the committee not a single open motor boat would start on the brush today. The yachts that started last night were all in the cruiser class. They were sent away at 7 P. M. The starters and their handicaps were as follows:

MARSTON, GARDNER, WARD, AND PEACOCK SURVIVE IN APAWAMIS GOLF TOURNAMENT

JOHN M. WARD WINS MATCH

Garden City Player Defeats Gwathmey—Grant Peacock Downs Bermingham of Wykagyl.

Greens heavy with moisture, thereby encouraging bold play, in a measure accounted for the unusually low scoring in the first and second match rounds of the invitation golf tournament at the Apawamis Club yesterday. For instance, in the afternoon Max R. Marston of Baltusrol opposed to Charles F. Lima, Jr., of Mahopac moved along at a 72 pace, one better than par. He won, 7 and 6, and as a result will meet W. H. Gardner of Buffalo in the upper semi-final bracket today.

The other winners were John M. Ward of Garden City and Grant Peacock of Princeton, who will fight it out in the lower semi-final bracket. The first named defeated Gaines Gwathmey of the home club, while Peacock took care of T. V. Bermingham, the pride of Wykagyl.

To return to Marston, the Baltusrol golfer began the day by defeating W. F. Ladd of Rockaway, 4 and 3. They had to play through pouring rain, but Marston went out in 39, good enough to place him 3 up at the half-way point. After the match ended on the fifteenth green there was no thought of bye holes.

Marston Plays Well.

Later on, though, with the rain practically over, the golfers entered into their matches with more enthusiasm. Marston, excepting for a lapse on the first green where he had three putts, played rare golf against Lima. The New Jersey man saved a stroke at the third by running down a putt from the green's edge, for a 3, a stroke under par. He reached the turn in 36, where he stood five up.

A second shot to the eleventh left him a fifteen-foot putt which he sank for a "bird" 3, and another 3 at the twelfth ended the match. Marston was going so well that he decided to finish out the bye holes. The only 6 on his card came at the long fourteenth where he fell a few feet short of the green on his third. Max also missed a two-footer at No. 16, but made amends with a "bird" at the 537-yard seventeenth. He had a ten-foot putt for a 3 to get a 71 at the home hole, but the ball hit the back of the cup and stayed out. His round of 72 was carved out as follows:

Out ....................5 4 3 4 3 4 4 4 5—36
In ....................4 3 3 4 6 4 4 4 4—36—72

Gwathmey and C. H. Paul of Gedney Farms had a keen match in the first round despite the rain. The Apawamis man "stole" the fifth hole in 2 with a long putt, but Paul retaliated at the sixth by chipping in with a mashie for a 3. The same player also won the twelfth in 2, laying his tee shot to within five inches of the cup.

Paul thought he had the long fourteenth hole won after his opponent pulled a drive to the rough. The Apawamis golfer finally laid a fourth shot with his mashie, stone dead, and got a half in 5. He won 2 and 1, getting a round in 72 to the other's 75.

Gardner in Fine Form.

Gardner played in his best form all day. In the morning the Buffalo golfer went out in 38 against F. R. Hill of Canoe Brook, while later on the former collegian went at even a faster pace when opposed to B. T. Allen of Fox Hills. Gardner stood 3 up at the turn, having gone out in 38, which included three putts on the first and ninth greens. Allen's putting was also weak, as he missed short ones at the first, third, fourth and ninth.

The match ended at the fourteenth green, where Gardner's card for the five holes showed one under 4's. They cut the fifteenth and sixteenth, playing the last two, and at the rate Gardner was traveling he might have had a 71.

After the fast pace set by Gwathmey in the morning his Apawamis friends rather looked to see him win again, but Ward, always a good match player, managed to wear the younger man down toward the end. At the tenth Gwathmey stood 2 up, but they were level at the sixteenth. He had a chance to square accounts on the home green, but rimmed the cup on a long try for a 3. That left Ward a winner by 1 up.

Peacock, who had gone at a 75 clip in the forenoon against D. W. Sulzberger, another Princeton entrant, went along practically at the same pace against Bermingham. The last-named found it impossible to play in old-time form, not having fully recovered his strength after a recent illness.

The summary follows:

First Sixteen.—First Round—B. T. Allen, Fox Hills, beat A. B. Ashforth, Garden City, 2 up and 1 to play; W. H. Gardner, Buffalo, beat F. R. Hill, Canoe Brook, 3 up and 2 play; Charles F. Lima, Jr., Mahopac, beat F. R. Holland, Wee Burn, 3 up and 2 to play; Max Marston, Baltusrol, beat W. F. Ladd, Rockaway, 4 up and 3 to play; Gaines Gwathmey, Apawamis, beat C. H. ## JONES LOSES TO WHITNEY.

Youthful Golf Champion Defeated in Semi-Final Round.

NEW ORLEANS, June 27.—Nelson Whitney of New Orleans defeated Bobby Jones, Jr., of Atlanta, 7 up and 6, and Louis Jacoby of Dallas defeated Whitney Bouden of New Orleans, 3 up and 2, in the Southern Golf Championship semi-finals here today, and qualified for the final match of 36 holes to be played tomorrow.

The defeat of Jones, 1917 champion, was probably the most thorough he has experienced in championship play. He was a trifle off his game, going out in 40 for the first nine of the afternoon round, while Whitney was out in 35, playing two holes under par. The turning point of the round occurred at the fifth hole, where Whitney made a sensational 20-foot putt for a "birdie" 2, and again at the sixth hole he made a phenomenal recovery out of a ditch on his third shot, and holed out in 4.

Jones was on the green in two, but lost the hole on three putts. From the ninth hole on, it was conceded by the gallery of 700 persons that Whitney had reached the finals.

The Jacoby-Bouden match was hard-fought throughout. Bouden made a gallant attempt to overcome Jacoby's lead of 4 up after the turn. Bouden won the tenth, but lost the eleventh, halved the twelfth, won the thirteenth, halving the fourteenth. Despite the fact that he drove two balls out of bound he halved the fifteenth. The sixteenth was halved in four, the match going to Jacoby. Jacoby shot at 74 in the morning round.

MRS. DALEY WINS TITLE.

Defeats Mrs. Baker for Women's Golf Championship of Boston.

NEWTON, Mass., June 27.—Mrs. E. W. Daley, former Southern champion, defeated Mrs. F. H. Baker, former Philadelphia district champion, today, in the final round for the Women's Golf Association of Boston Championship, at the Braeburn Country Club, 2 up.

Both players are members of the Oakley Country Club.

WILL MEET FOR NET TITLE.

Williams and Tilden in Final at Wilmington.

WILMINGTON, Del., June 27.—By their victories today, R. Norris Williams 2d and William T. Tilden 2d, both of Philadelphia, won the right to meet in the final round tomorrow for the lawn tennis championship of Delaware. The honor will go to the winner of the match, as George Church of Princeton, the champion, is unable to defend his title because of an injury received in an airplane accident.

In the fifth round today Williams defeated H. C. Johnson, Massachusetts champion, 6—4, 6—1, while in the semi-final he eliminated Stanley Pearson, Philadelphia, 6—2, 6—1.

Tilden defeated Carl Fischer in a fifth round match, 6—2, 6—0, and in the semi-final he disposed of Wallace Johnson in a hard fought match, 2—6, 9—7, 6—4. Pearson defeated Rodney Beck in the fifth round, 6—1, 6—1, and Wallace Johnson eliminated Craig Biddle, 6—3, 6—2.

Rain interfered with play in the doubles, only three matches being played. In the third round Harvey Lake and R. L. James defeated F. Thomas and K. Miller, 6—2, 5—7, 6—4. Lake and James were eliminated in the next round by F. E. Dixon and A. D. Baird, 6—2, 5—4, default.

R. Norris Williams 2d and H. C. Johnson entered the semi-final round by defeating Carl Fischer and Rodney Beck in the fourth round, 6—1, 6—2.

WALKER AND DEAN MEET FOR TITLE

Will Decide Individual Intercollegiate Golf Championship Today.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, June 27.—A. L. Walker, Columbia, and J. S. Dean, the young Princeton golfer, will meet tomorrow over the Merion Cricket Club course in a 36 hole match for the individual intercollegiate championship. Princeton won the team title in the 72 hole medal play, and has a better than even chance to capture all the honors by taking the match play crown also.

Walker won his way to the finals this afternoon by defeating T. B. Davis, Yale, in the semi-finals, 5 up and 3 to play, while Dean had little trouble in disposing of R. H. Wales, Harvard, in his semi-final match, 6 up and 5 to play.

In the second sixteen all honors go to Pennsylvania. There were three of the four players in the semi-finals from Pennsylvania, and the outsider, D. Jones of Harvard, was beaten by R. K. Hanson, who had advanced to the ultimate round by drawing byes in the lower half of the bracket.

After Walker had disposed of Davis in the second round played in the morning, interest was largely centred in Dean's match with Wales. Rain fell most of the morning and during the greater part of the afternoon, but in spite of the fact that the fairways and greens were slow, the important matches of the day were both well played and well contested.

Although Dean is better known in Philadelphia because he won the qualifying rounds for the Linnewood Hall Cup at Huntingdon Valley and the medal at the Wilmington Golf Club invitation tournament, Walker has a lot of backers for tomorrow's match in the finals. Walker won the Fox Hills tournament and was runner-up in the Metropolitan tournament. Both of the the golfing achievements have stamped him as a high grade golfer.

When the Dean-Wales match in the semi-finals began this afternoon the rain was falling fast, and only a few followed the players around the course, but those who did saw an excellent match, in which Dean, in spite of the fact that he admittedly played safe, made an excellent medal score and deserved to win.

The summary:

First Sixteen.—Second Round—T. B. Davis, Yale, defeated R. M. Round, Pennsylvania, 3 and 2; A. Walker, Columbia, defeated H. S. Lake, Harvard, 5 and 4; J. S. Dean, Princeton, defeated Sid Scott, Yale, 3 and 2; R. H. Wales, Harvard, defeated F. W. Baker, Harvard, 3 and 2.

Second Sixteen.—Second Round—H. E. Calves, Pennsylvania, defeated E. P. Duncan, Harvard, 5 and 4; Daniel Rhoades, Pennsylvania, defeated Leigh Liggett, Harvard, 6 and 5; D. Jones, Harvard, defeated R. W. Thorington, Princeton, 3 and 2; R. K. Hanson, Pennsylvania, drew a bye in the last bracket and entered the semi-finals.

First Sixteen.—Semi-finals—Walker defeated Davis, 5 and 3; Dean defeated Wales, 6 and 5.

RAIN HALTS NET CONTESTS.

Three Local Tournaments Delayed by Weather.

Even the hardy women tennis players who appeared for their Middle States championship matches at the Orange Lawn Tennis Club on Thursday had to bow to the elements yesterday, and all local courts remained idle, with three important tournaments held up. In the event of clear weather the women's singles are to be played at South Orange this morning, with a full schedule of men's singles and doubles all afternoon, and an effort will be made to complete the entire tournament tomorrow.

At the Kings County Club, Brooklyn, the clay courts have been a lake for the past two days, and a number of singles matches, as well as practically all of the doubles of the Long Island championship, remain to be played over the week-end. The Manhattan Junior Championship at the New York Tennis Club was also brought to a standstill by the rain, with Travers Le Gros the first youngster to reach the semi-finals, through his two hard-won victories of last Wednesday. With the North Side championship beginning at the University Heights Tennis Club today, and the Eastern New York State tournament scheduled to open at Pleasantville July 5, some serious conflicts are likely to occur. The final round and one semi-final of the Harlem doubles also still remain to be played, this event having been delayed by the absence of Ichiya Kumagae and Harold Taylor in the South.

KNOTTY PROBLEMS SOLVED AT TENNIS

National Association Issues Manual to Aid Official Move for Effective Umpiring.

The United States National Lawn Tennis Association has issued an exceedingly useful manual for tennis umpires and other officials, edited by Edward C. Conlin, Chairman of the National Umpires' Association. An endorsement by President George T. Adee of the U. S. N. L. T. A. acts as a preface to the booklet, which contains the laws of the game, with special notes on difficult cases and decisions, full instructions for all officials, rules for conducting tournaments, making a draw, and handicapping, and the regulations covering all national tennis championships, as well as a significant article on "Publicity for Tennis Tournaments," by E. B. Moss of The Associated Press.

Among the "Cases and Decisions" are some points which may prove eye-openers to even the close followers of tennis. For instance, how many players realize that a server who fails to hit the ball but catches it in his hand is penalized with a fault, whereas if he lets the ball drop to the ground he is given another chance to make a fair service? This case is clearly covered by Law 8, which states that "if the server, in attempting to serve, miss the ball altogether, it does not count as a fault; but if the ball be touched, no matter how slightly, by the racket, or by the server, or anything that he wears or carries, a service is thereby delivered, and the laws governing the service at once apply."

An old decision given by James Dwight still stands, to the effect that a ball may be fairly returned by a racquet thrown at it, and entirely out of the hands of the player. This freak episode has actually taken place in tournament tennis.

How many players know that they may legally return a ball that strikes the back-stop or side-stop on the first bound, provided they hit it before it again strikes the ground? This makes possible a species of squash-stroke of no great difficulty under certain conditions, but utterly at variance with the real technique of tennis. It would seem that such a ruling should not remain in the books, for, with stationary back-stops and side-stops many an angle shot is possible on the rebound after a ball has been fairly and squarely killed, so far as the possibility of a return on the real first bound is concerned. The frequency with which such a shot can be made is easily demonstrated by any experienced racquet or squash player.

Law 21, which covers this case, reads: "If a ball in play strike a permanent fixture of the court (other than the net or posts) before it touches the ground, the point is lost; if after it has touched the ground, the point shall be played out." A sample case is then given, as follows: "A drive strikes in court, and on the first bound hits the back-stop. As it bounds back, and before it strikes the ground again, the player returns it into his opponent's court. Is it a good return?" The answer is "Yes," and it is an answer which will astonish every tennis follower who has been in the habit of considering any point as ended the moment the ball strikes the back-stop under any circumstances.

Mr. Conlin's own rules of "Lawn Tennis Etiquette" contain some sentences well worth quoting. The players are advised to "look neat and clean on the court," not to "tell the committee how to run the tournament—just to play in it," to "thank the umpire when the match is finished," and, above all, to "read, study and know the rules." For the gallery he has the following advice: "A tennis ball in play moves very fast, and other moving objects in his range of vision distract a player by making it hard for him to follow the ball's line of flight. Therefore, the ladies particularly should be careful to keep parasols and fans in the background."

"Do not applaud or give vocal expression of your feelings while a rally is on, but wait until the point has been played out and then applaud all you want to."

"Do not applaud errors; by that is meant that your approval should be given to good strokes only. Do not applaud a shot that goes out of court or into the net, even if it gives a point to the player you want to win."

"Do not coach the players. Never call 'Good,' 'Out,' 'Let it go,' 'Hit it,' &c., because thereby you are influencing a player's judgment, which is a factor in the outcome of the match."

"If you do not agree with the decisions as they are given, withhold your disapproval."

"Refrain from talking loudly while a match is on."

"Know your neighbors at a tennis match before you criticise a player; friends and relatives frequently attend."

The baseball fan will probably extract a smile from these suggestions, but to tennis followers, who have for years tried to live up to the unwritten laws of sportsmanship, the "Umpires' Manual" will prove exceedingly welcome and of real, practical help. The officiating in tennis matches is improving each season, although horrible blunders are still committed on occasion. Mr. Conlin's booklet should be a warning to all tennis players that they will be held strictly to the rules in the national tournament of next August, if not before.

ARMY ENLISTMENTS SHOW NO DECREASE

Announcement That Overseas Units Are Filled Has No Effect Upon Recruiting.

APPLICANTS SEEK TRAINING

Totals of All Stations, Officers Say, Exceed Other Peacetime Campaigns.

The announcement by the War Department that no more recruits would be accepted for service with the American Army in France and on the Rhine because sufficient replacements had been obtained to fill up all the units overseas has not reduced the number of applications received throughout the country by the Army Recruiting Service. Totals at all recruiting stations are exceeding all marks set in other peacetime recruiting campaigns.

"No cessation of interest in the campaign of the army to raise a new contingent of 50,000 men for the expanded army and as replacement troops has been reported anywhere in the country," said Major C. B. Howard of the Recruiting Service yesterday. "It was announced last week that the first contingent of 50,000 men had been enlisted, and orders were issued immediately by the War Department for the enrollment of a second quota of 50,000 men.

"The cancellation of the offer of service in the American units on the Rhine has turned so few men away from the stations that the numbers have hardly been noticed. Officers attribute the general response to the educational opportunities offered to the men in all other branches of the service and in all other fields, outside of the armies in France and on the Rhine. It seems to be an indication that the desire to serve in the armies in Europe was only secondary, and that the primary desire of all the men was to take the educational courses offered in all branches of the service.

"The offer of the army to allow any recruit to choose his field of service in this country, or in the Philippines, or any other field where we have units, except France, is still in force. The offer to permit any man to choose his branch of the service also is still in force. That the interest in these offers is still high is shown in the report that, on Thursday, 476 men were enlisted throughout the country, with fifty-one in this city."

Among more than fifty men who applied for enlistment at the recruiting station at 461 Eighth Avenue yesterday were two veterans who had served in the British Army. One was James Fay of 419 West Thirty-first Street, who said that he wished to enlist so that he could see more of the world and learn something of American Army methods. He showed honorable discharge papers from the British forces, issued after the close of the Boer war, and said that he was sorry that he did not enlist for the last war. He was enlisted for cavalry service because he told of giving up a job as a horseshoer at $38 a week so that he could join the army.

Another recruit who enlisted on honorable discharge papers from the British Army was Harry Finkelstein of Boston, Mass., who was mustered out of the Royal Engineers last February. He saw action at Cambrai, Mons, in Flanders, and was in several other battles. "Army life has got it all over being a civilian," remarked Finkelstein, as he signed up in the Coast Artillery Corps. "In addition I want to study mechanics, for I've had some experience as a machinists' helper."

PREFER 3-YEAR AIR COURSE.

40 High School Graduates Chose Service for Technical Training.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The army air service has been chosen by more than forty high-school graduates of Greater New York this year as a technical institution of higher learning in preference to the technical colleges of the country. More than one-half of this number are financially able to attend regular institutions of learning, but all elected the army to gain knowledge that will fit them as aeronautical engineers at the end of a three-year course. The others are students who would be obligated to work their way through college and have chosen the army because their status will be exactly the same as the boys of independent means and completion of the course is assured.

An energetic campaign is being prepared by army officials to present the opportunities for higher education and technical aeronautical instruction to high-school graduates in all parts of the country. A number of aviation officers will be detailed for this work and educational boards will be requested to include such an officer as a speaker in the graduation program of public schools.

WOULD INCORPORATE LEGION

Bill Introduced in the House to Organize Ex-Service Men.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The incorporation of the American Legion is sought in a bill introduced in the House today by Representative Royal Johnson of South Dakota. The incorporators named are:

W. S. Bean, (N. C.,)
C. H. Brent, (N. Y.,)
W. H. Brown, (Conn.,)
G. E. Buxton, Jr., (R. I.,)
B. C. Clark, (Mo.,)
R. Derby, (N. Y.,)
L. H. Everidge, (Tex.,)
M. H. Foreman, (Ill.)
Ruby Garett, (Mo.,)
F. A. Griffith, (Okla.,)
R. S. Haines, (Me.,)
J. F. J. Herbert, (Mass.,)
R. Hoffman, (Okla.,)
F. B. Humphrey, (N. M.,)
J. W. Inser, (Ala.,)
B. S. Jenney, (Md.,)
L. Lea, (Tenn.,)
H. Leonard, (Col.,)
H. D. Lindsley, (Tex.,)
O. Mills, (N. Y.,)
E. Meyers, (Penn.,)
F. D. Oller, (Penn.,)
W. G. Price, Jr., (Penn.,)
O. A. Ritchie, (N. Y.,)
T. Roosevelt, Jr., (N. Y.,)
A. A. Sprague, (Ill.,)
J. J. Sullivan, (Wash.,)
[illegible] Shaw, (Iowa,)
D. [illegible], (Mon.,)
H. J. [illegible], (Ohio,)
G. A. White, (Ore.,)
E. F. Hood, (Penn.,)
G. H. Wood, (Ohio.)

The chief purpose of the legion, according to one section of the bill, is set forth as follows:

"That the purposes of this corporation shall be to uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America; to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom, and democracy for which the members of the military and naval services of the United States contended in the war of 1917-1918; to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate a 100 per cent. Americanism; to inculcate the duty of the citizen to the State and nation, and to preserve and develop equality of right and opportunity in the United States; to promote the social and industrial welfare of the citizens of the United States; to make right the master of might both in domestic and international affairs, and to promote peace nad good will among the people of the United States and the nations of the earth; to cement the ties of comradeship formed in service; to preserve the memories and incidents of the Great War, and to consecrate the comradeship of its members by their devotion to mutual helpfulness and service to the nation."

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Ed Wynn has been added to the cast of "Gaieties of 1919," which will open at the Forty-fourth Street Theatre next Tuesday night.

"At 9:45" will open at the Playhouse tonight, as originally announced.

Peggy Wood will be costarred with Donald Brian and Wallace Eddinger in "Buddies," which will open at Stamford on Aug. 4. Later in the season Miss Wood will be starred in a new play.

There will be no matinee of "La, La, Lucille" at the Henry Miller Theatre on July 4.

AMERICANIZATION CLASS.

Men Get Citizenship Papers for Diplomas at First Commencement.

The first commencement exercises of the Americanization classes connected with the Bayonne public schools were held last evening at Roosevelt School, and the graduates received as diplomas citizenship papers. It was the most unusual graduation ever held in the State, and the ages of the graduates ranged all the way from 21 to 62, and fathers and sons who had studied in the same classes during the two-year term received diplomas together. A number of the graduates were unable two years ago to speak, read or write English, but are now able to do all three. In addition to English they were instructed in civics and history and in how to become citizens.

The speakers were Merton A. Sturgis, chief naturalization examiner; Judge James W. McCarthy of Jersey City; Judge John J. Freschi of New York; Preston H. Smith, Superintendent of Schools, and Lieut. Aaron A. Melniker. In addition to the men who were graduated, a number of women, Italian, Polish, and of other nationalities, received merit certificates. They have been instructed in English, civics, millinery, dressmaking, and sanitation, and in many cases the teachers who visited the homes of the women who could not attend school held the baby while the mother practiced writing.

CHALONER TO VIEW FIGHT.

Leaving for Virginia, He Tells of His Immediate Plans.

John Armstrong Chaloner, who has been adjudged insane by the New York courts, but was allowed by Judge Hand to come to New York, under a writ of prohibition forbidding the authorities to molest him during a trial in the Federal Court, or before or after, leaves today for his Virginia home, as the time of his immunity from commitment has come to an end. Since his escape from Bloomingdale eighteen years ago, Mr. Chaloner has been living on his farm near Charlottesville. The Virginia courts have adjudged him sane, and have given him control of a certain amount of his property. During his stay in New York he has been at the Hotel Brevoort. Mr. Chaloner last night discussed his plans for the immediate future.

"My 'safe conduct' being about to expire," he said, "I start for Virginia tomorrow morning, in my automobile, recently arrived from The Merry Mills, Cobham, Va.—a three days' trip. From The Merry Mills I go to Toledo, and occupy a ringside seat—front row—at the Willard-Dempsey fight. I am a strong believer in the manly art of self-defence, and being such, know that the only way to advance the science is to have finish fights. All this talk about brutality in a fight to a finish is the offspring of ether of two things—ignorance or hypocrisy.

"I know from experience that there is absolutely no pain in being knocked out—one drifts off into a dreamless sleep—that's all. Gillard knocked me out in our encounter in the dining room at The Merry Mills on March 15, 1909, and I recovered before the count was more than half up, and rose and toed the scratch—so I know whereof I speak."

Hoover Distributed 512 Shiploads to 17 Countries in Past Six Months.

The American Relief Administration distributed in the six months that ended May 31 last supplies to the value of $636,175,000 to the seventeen countries covered by its relief program, according to a report by Herbert Hoover, Director General of the Relief Administration, to the Supreme Economic Council and made public yesterday.

The supplies made up 512 shiploads, weighing 2,486,230 metric tons. In May 168 shiploads, weighing 738,000 metric tons, valued at $162,875,000, were delivered, compared with 591,000 tons, worth $147,800,000, in April. Port stocks, the report continues, amounted to 166,777 tons on May 31, and on April 30 to 201,000 tons.

Mr. Hoover further reported that the railway, coal, and inland waterway administrations carried on under the Relief Administration in Central and Eastern Europe are progressing satisfactorily. Exchanges of local surpluses of native food and other commodities arranged by the Relief Administration showed considerable increase during May and represented 100,000 tons not included in the foregoing totals. Four million undernourished children in Europe are now included in the special child-feeding program of the administration.

Referring to the final withdrawal of American agencies from the relief areas, Mr. Hoover said: "I am confident that if we meet no interruption through delay in peace we shall reach completion of this task with the harvest without any preventable loss of life."

SOUGHT TO KILL ALFONSO.

Anarchists Said to Have Plotted His Death at Reopening of the Cortes.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Rumors of an anarchist plot to assassinate King Alfonso of Spain in the course of the procession accompanying the reopening of the Cortes Tuesday were responsible for the sudden change of the scene of the ceremony from the Chamber of Deputies, where it is usually held, to the Senate House adjoining the palace. The State Department today received official dispatches from Madrid to this effect. The anarchist plan is said to have been to attack the King while he was en route from the palace to the Chamber.

Press dispatches from Madrid on Tuesday said that the change in the scene of the ceremony was occasioned by a desire to spare the Queen fatigue, as she was slightly indisposed because of the extremely hot weather.

Elsie Janis Gets Medal from 69th.

In appreciation for the work she did overseas to cheer up the Americans in the firing line, Elsie Janis last night received a gold medal of appreciation by the members of the "Fighting 69th," officially known in the A. E. F. as the 165th United States Infantry. Major George Laurence pinned the medal on the actress just after the performance of the minstrel and entertainment show at the Central Opera House. Miss Janis was the headliner in the performance last night, which was given for the benefit of the wounded of the regiment. The minstrel and entertainment performance was the same show with the same actors that exhibited back of the trenches in France.

MORE FRENCH OFFICERS HONORED BY PERSHING

Distinguished Service Cross Given for Heroism While Serving with American Forces.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The War Department gave out today the following list of citations for the Distinguished Service Cross which contains the following names:

Captain FRANCIS TRIVES, French Army. For extraordinary heroism in action near Haumont, Nov. 2. Captain Trives volunteered to accompany a raiding party of the 28th Division. On reaching the German wire, the patrol became confused and disorganized. Realizing that the party was in great danger of being caught in a heavy barrage, Captain Trives quickly reorganized the patrol, working under heavy fire, and continued to lead the raiding party until he was seriously wounded.

Lieutenant DE MANDAT GRANCEY, (deceased,) French Army, attached to the 107th U. S. Field Artillery. For extraordinary heroism in action near Fismettes, Sept. 6. He went to an advanced observation post, and, when our front line temporarily withdrew, stuck bravely to his position rendering valuable service until he was killed by the intense enemy machine gun fire. His heroism was an inspiration to all near him.

Lieutenant FERNAND MALBE, French Army. For extraordinary heroism in action near Gesnes, Oct. 5. After two of his tanks had been destroyed Lieutenant Malbe continued to lead his tank section in a desperate attack on the machine gun nests at the crest of Hill 255. His entire disregard of personal danger in successfully carrying out his mission under the terrific enemy fire made it possible for our troops to reach the objective and hold the position.

Lieutenant BUISSON, French Army. For extraordinary heroism in action near Massif Blanc Mont, Oct. 3-8. During attacks by the 2d American Division, he continually distinguished himself by acts of courage, and by his devotion to duty. When his Captain was killed he assumed command of the tank company, and with extraordinary heroism in the face of heavy fire accomplished the mission entrusted to him.

JEWEL THEFT MYSTIFIES.

Detectives Find No Clue to Robbery at the Biltmore.

Although more than 100 detectives and lawyers have been working for two weeks in attempts to discover the persons responsible for the disappearance from a safe deposit vault in the Biltmore of jewels valued by Mrs. Clarence Millhiser at more than $250,000, thus far they have been unable even to determine how the jewels were removed from the vault. All theories and suspicions have failed the police and the private detectives, and all admitted yesterday that no person had been detained in connection with the loss.

E. B. Miller, manager of the Biltmore, who had offered $10,000 reward for information that would lead to the recovery of the jewels, would not say yesterday whether any persons had reported to him, but it was learned from other sources that he had received no information of importance. The lawyers in the case would not discuss a report that a legal fight would be made on the point that the liability of the hotel for any loss was limited to $10,000. Denis O. Cohalan of counsel for Mrs. Millhiser, would make no statement yesterday, nor would he give a detailed description of the jewels.

CHURCH 100 YEARS OLD.

Gov. Smith Attends Celebration at Church of Sea and Land.

Governor Alfred E. Smith was the principal speaker last night at the celebration of the centennial of the building of the Church of the Sea and Land at Market and Henry Streets. Dr. H. G. Mendenhall presided and other speakers included Robert L. Moran, President of the Board of Aldermen; the Rev. Dr. Henry Sloane Coffin, of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, and the Rev. Alfred Moore, pastor of the Church of the Sea and Land.

Situated in the most densely populated part of New York the church is antedated only by St. Paul's Chapel. It was first occupied by the Market Street Reformed Protestant Dutch congregation, which disbanded in 1860. The Presbyterians took over the building in 1865. It received its name from the fact that many sailors found a welcome in the old church and for many years have attended services there when their ships happened to be in New York.

FIXES RECTOR'S ALIMONY.

Referee Decides Restaurateur Can Pay Only $100 a Month.

Joseph D. Kelly, who was appointed referee in the Supreme Court to determine the amount of alimony George W. Rector, restaurateur, can pay under a divorce decree obtained last year by Mrs. Bertha E. Rector, reported yesterday that Rector's income is now only $1,500 a year. The report states that in 1913 Rector entered the last restaurant business which bore his name, at 49th Street and Broadway, and got a third interest in the profits for so long as the place bore his name.

His earnings ran from $2,400 to $3,000 in the years to 1916, but in 1917 he got $30,000. The business dropped his name on June 30, 1918, up to which time he received $8,000 for the six months. His income from property valued at $40,000 is only $1,500, and he can pay only $100 a month alimony, the referee decided. He has to drive his own car. Mrs. Rector received $250 a month alimony before the trial.

PESSOA VISITS CANADA.

President-Elect of Brazil Leaves for Toronto and Ottawa.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., June 27.—President-Elect Epitacio Pessoa of Brazil left here at 8:45 o'clock tonight for Toronto, after a day spent in sightseeing at Niagara Falls.

President-Elect Pessoa and his party crossed to the Canadian side this afternoon, escorted by a delegation including Mayor Stephens of Niagara Falls, Ont., and a representative of the Governor General from Toronto. The party will go to Ottowa, the Dominion capital.

Woman of 80 in Airplane Flight.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Mrs. Martha H. O'Neill, 80 years old, of Gettysburg, Penn., today experienced the thrills of her first flight in an airplane. She had won the right to make this flight by selling the largest number of Victory bonds in the recent campaign in her home town. Today she was a passenger in an army airplane piloted over Gettysburg battlefield by Lieut. Fred Nelson of the Aviation Supply Depot staff at Middletown, Penn.

Chief Kenlon Heads Fire Engineers.

KANSAS CITY, June 27.—John Kenlon of New York today was elected President of the International Association of Fire Engineers, in convention here. Other offices elected were: John J. Healy, Denver, First Vice President; Frank G. Reynolds, Augusta, Ga., Second Vice President; Peter J. Carter, Camden, N. J., Treasurer; James McFall of Philadelphia was elected Secretary for the sixteenth time. Toronto was selected as the meeting place in 1920.

CAMELS meet your fondest cigarette fancies in so many new ways—they are so unusual in flavor, so refreshing, so mellow-mild, yet so full-bodied—that you quickly realize their superior quality, and, become a Camel enthusiast!

Camels are unlike any other cigarette you ever smoked. Their expert blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos gives you so many delights. It not only assures that wonderful smoothness and refreshing taste but it eliminates bite and harshness! And, you smoke Camels without any unpleasant cigaretty aftertaste or unpleasant cigaretty odor!

No matter how fond you become of Camels! Smoke them liberally! They never will tire your taste! The blend takes care of that!

Compare Camels with any cigarette in the world at any price!

FAMOUS ACE RETURNS.

Capt. Kindley Brings Home Two Hard-Earned Decorations.

Captain F. E. Kindley, next to "Eddie" Rickenbacken, America's greatest ace, returned yesterday on the transport Tiger, which brought 2,546 troops into port. Captain Kindley, who is officially credited with downing twelve German planes, was in command of the 141st Aero Squadron, which was also on board. He wore the Distinguished Service Cross with oak leaf, and the Croix de Guerre. Although in one encounter his goggles were shot from his face and his plane riddled with bullets, the flier was never injured.

Soldiers who returned yesterday on the Italian steamer Regina d'Italia, which brought 1,770 men, told of troules with coal passers, which delayed the boat. When the soldiers left Marseilles, they fully expected to be home several days ago, but they met their first disappointment at Gibraltar, where the coal passers had struck for a cent a day increase in wages. Learning that there was no likihood of a settlement the soldiers raised a purse and soon engaged enough passers to coal the vessel. At Ponta Delgada, the chief of the coal passers had died, and his comrades refused to work for three days out of respect for his memory. Once more the soldiers collected a purse and lured away enough mourners to coal the Regina. The ship started westward only to develop boiler trouble, which delayed her still more.

Other transports to dock yesterday were the Zeppelin with 4,238, the Mobile with 5,068, and the Santa Clara with 1,554 soldiers on board.

SMASH ALL RECORDS FOR FOREIGN TRADE

Figures for Fiscal Year of 1919 Will Show Highest Mark Attained in Nation's History.

$7,000,000,000 IN EXPORTS

June Shipments May Bring Total to That Figure, While Imports Will Be Almost $3,000,000,000.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Total exports and imports during the fiscal year of 1919 have exceeded all records in the nation's history. It is possible that the exports by June 30 will have reached $7,000,000,000 for the year, and it is certain that the imports will have passed $3,000,000,000 in value by that date, the first time imports have reached that objective.

Exports for the eleven months of the fiscal year 1919 ended on May 31, including foreign merchandise exported to the value of $130,165,013, totalled $6,306,745,405, or $16,697,101 more than the total for the entire fiscal year ended June 30, 1917, the biggest year heretofore, and $387,034,026 greater than for the entire fiscal year ended June 30, 1918.

To reach the total of $7,000,000,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1919, the exports for this month must total $693,254,595. In May, the latest month for which complete figures are available, the total was $606,379,599. Whether the total of $7,000,000,000 is reached or not, it is assured that the exports for the fiscal year 1919 will approximate that sum and will establish a new record.

Imports for the eleven months ended May 31, 1919, reached $2,802,863,071, and with the imports for June added, thus completing the fiscal year, it is assured that the imports for the year will exceed $3,000,000,000. In 1917 the total of imports was $2,659,355,185, and in 1918 it was $2,945,655,403.

The following table shows the exports and imports by groups for the eleven months ended May 31, 1919, and May 31, 1918:

IMPORTS.

COMMODITIES PRICES

Increase in Those of Foodstuffs a Feature of the Week.

In spite of the comparatively small number of changes, Dun's list of wholesale commodities prices this week again showed a considerable excess of advances over declines. Forty-one of the sixty revisions were upward, while last week the same number of advances was shown in a total of fifty-six changes. This week's increases in foodstuffs prices outnumbered the declines by nearly three to one.

The following list gives the minimum wholesale prices quoted on selected standard commodities this week. They are corrected to yesterday, and with them are given comparative prices for last week and the corresponding week a year ago:

| | This Week. | Last Week. | Year Ago. |

*Government maximums. †Nominal.

Flour prices continued steady in the local market for provisions during the week. There was no rise in bacon quotations, either, but hams were held higher. In the Chicago market live sheep produced the only decline. Live hogs and beef were higher, as was Middle Western lard. Mess pork and short ribs did not change.

The best butter and cheese were a little higher in the local dairy products list, but the under grades held steady at last week's levels. Slight increases also took place in the quotations on nearby fancy and the best Western eggs. Each is now 10 cents a dozen higher than at this time in 1918.

For the second week in succession there were no listed fluctuations in the fresh and dried fruits. Also for the second successive week all the revisions in the listed vegetables were downward. Choice medium and choice pea beans were lower. The price of cabbage broke 25 cents a barrel, following a drop of 75 cents a barrel last week. The biggest decline, however, was in rutabagas turnips, which dropped from $4 a barrel to $2.50.

The list for teas was bare of changes, but sharp advances were reported to have taken place in the leading Brazilian coffees. The rise in No. 4 Santos was reported to be 3 cents a pound for the week, but the prices quoted in the list were nominal. All of the changes in the spices were upward, they including black and white Singapore peppers, mace, and nutmegs.

Grain prices were weak. No advances were shown in the list, but corn, oats, rye, malting barley, prime timothy hay, and long rye straw all went down. In the combined lists for drugs, chemicals, dyestuffs, and oils, ten advances contrasted with five declines. Among the few features was the break of $1.50 a pound in jobbing lots of opium. This drug is now held at $9 a pound, compared with $23 at this time a year ago. Save for a drop in tin, all of the changes in the metals were upward. Among the advances were lake and electrolytic coppers, spelter, and lead. In the miscellaneous changes tallow advanced and hemp declined.

While there were no declines in hide prices, the number of advances was smaller this week than for some time. No. 1 country steers and No. 1 kips were the only items to rise. The leather list was also bare of declines, but the only listed advance was in union backs, tannery run. The revisions in the naval stores consisted of a rise in pitch and quite a sharp setback in the price of turpentine. Raw silks were generally higher, with new record prices established by some of them, notably the Japanese varieties.

Price tendencies in the textiles continued upward. A good demand and a lack of ready merchandise boosted burlap values still further during the week, and the re-entrance of first hands into the gray goods market as sellers was in part responsible for the upturn in several constructions of these fabrics. The demand was steady for goods wanted for shipments ranging to the end of the year.

Thanks Navy Purchase Head.

In a letter concluding its business transactions during the war with the Navy Department, note was made by a local woolen house of its appreciation for the prompt, business-like methods of those in charge of the purchases for this branch of the service. Such a tribute from the trade to a Government bureau is considered a rather remarkable thing, owing to the complicated methods employed in other branches and the dissatisfaction which they cause. A system was built up by the Navy during peace time, however, which worked just as smoothly when the war greatly increased the amounts to be bought.

In Favor of Collar Increase.

The report that the collar manufacturers were considering an increase in the price of their product finds, it seems, a favorable response in the retail trade. One furnisher stated yesterday that the increase would be welcomed by the retailers, who at present do not feel they are getting a sufficient margin when they sell them at 20 cents. This retailer pointed to the expense of handling and laundering of soiled collars and other items that cut down the net profit. He mentioned as typical the case of one customer who, in selecting a shirt priced at $2, wanted to take the pins out to "see how it looked."

Gray Goods Still Going Up.

Higher prices and active buying of print cloths were again the features of the local gray goods market yesterday. Liberal sales of 38½-inch 64-60s were reported at 16¾ cents for deliveries running to the end of the year, and late in the afternoon nothing was to be had under 17 cents. For shipment in July, August, and September 39-inch 68-72s sold at 19½ cents, but toward the close the mills showed the asking price up half a cent. For the same delivery 39-inch 72-76s were sold at 22 cents, and 38½-inch 60-48s brought 14¼ cents. In other quarters of the market prices also tended upward, with the demand ranging from fair to good.

Knitting Yarns the Cheaper.

Comment was made in the local market yesterday concerning the relative price weakness of cotton knitting yarns, as compared with those used for weaving, in spite of the recent improvement in the wholesale demand for cotton underwear and hosiery. It was further asserted that, on the basis of cotton cost, knitting yarns are lower than they should be—as much as 4 or 5 cents a pound in some instances. It was pointed out that while spot cotton closed at 34.95 cents a pound on Thursday, No. 12 single knitting yarn was quoted at 54 cents a pound. A year ago Thursday spot cotton was quoted at 32.95 cents, yet No. 12 yarn was held at 56 cents a pound at that time.

Helping Out a Beginner.

The corset trade is rather noted for the good spirit of co-operation among its members, both buyers and sellers, but there is one salesman who is regarded as the best example of this spirit. The story goes that, whenever he runs across a beginner in the selling game offering a competitive line, he introduces himself, and then asks the buyer, as a favor to himself, to look over his rival's line, which he will always describe as "a good one and worthy of your attention." In the trade it is said he possesses more loving cups and similar bits of silverware than an Olympic champion.

Exports of Woolens.

Representatives of the woolen trade who have studied the chance for exporting some of their product report that the opportunities were never greater than at the present time. In the South American countries, it is explained, the demand is good and would be greater only shipping facilities at the present time are not the best. With improvement in this direction, exports ought to grow to respectable proportions. Houses selling Summer cloths are especially interested in what Latin America offers as a field for their products. One of the leading figures in the industry just returned from Europe expresses the opinion that if domestic business here was not so big, efforts to sell the various countries, and even England, would be rewarded with very satisfactory results.

Make Claims for Silk Hose.

An executive of a local house that does a big export business with South Africa said yesterday that numerous claims are being received from that market as a result of the poor merchandise delivered on orders placed in this country. Especially numerous have been the "kicks" regarding the silk hosiery received and, according to the executive in question, it is probable that this branch of the export trade has received a permanent setback in South Africa as a result of the attempts of unscrupulous firms in this country to "put something over" on their customers. A sample complaint, received from an importing concern in Johannesburg, said that not only had the goods shipped to them not been up to sample, but that many pairs of hose had been received in so damaged a condition that they could not be sold. Practically the entire shipment complained of was made up of stockings of second quality or worse.

Likes Five-Day Week Idea.

Apropos of the movement recently begun by the Associated Dress Industries of America to have the dress manufacturers close their places of business all day on Saturday during July and August, the suggestion was made here yesterday that the industry might benefit from a five-day week all the year around. While the suggestion applied chiefly to the shops, no reason was advanced as to why offices and showrooms could not be closed as well. The contention was advanced that the manufacturers would find their employes more efficient were a permanent five-day week adopted. The number of hours worked a week would not be changed under that arrangement, and it was contended that the production on a five-day week basis would exceed that now turned out in five and one-half days. Objection to Saturday work appears to be based on the allegation that many of the workers, more particularly the women, come late and "quit" early on that day, and that during the few hours they are in the shops their attention is so diverted by thoughts of what they are going to do later that their efficiency is lessened and production suffers.

Against Opening New Accounts.

While there is some shifting around of business in the local clothing trade owing to the difficulty which buyers are finding to place their full orders with their customary sources of supply, some of the representative houses are not committed to the usual policy of taking on new accounts. The reason for this is that the time is thought very inopportune to deal with newcomers in the way they believe they ought to be dealt with. For example, the new account that understands all its needs will be attended to is apt to have that impression corrected when deliveries are late and the full percentage of business placed fails to show up. At the basis of the contention that only the old accounts should be supplied, is the thought that the best policy under present conditions is service to the customary trade.

Dry Goods Export Demand Better.

Despite the fact that some of the South American countries are a bit slow with orders, quite a little improvement in the demand for American dry goods for export was told of here yesterday. Brazil was reported to be buying considerable quantities of 40-inch voiles, both in plain colors and figured patterns, but mostly from second hands. The call from the Argentine is improving, but it is expected that a month or two will still be required to get commercial matters straightened out there. The high prices asked for goods by first hands here, coupled with the amount of merchandise still to be had from second hands, are said also to be holding back trade with Argentina. Colombia is at present regarded as "the gem of the ocean" among Latin American markets. A number of buyers from that country are now here, and among other things they are buying sheetings, drills, and a general assortment of cotton wash goods.

THE CONDITION OF TRADE.

The trade reviews of the week continue to report increasing retail distribution, with the demand for certain commodities almost passing the supply.

Dun's says:

> With the signing of the peace treaty, which is now imminent after months of waiting, gateways of commerce that have long been closed will be reopened and broader international trade relations permitted. Behind the domestic business revival that is vigorously in progress there is not only the practical assurance of another year of agricultural prosperity and the present exceptional retail distribution in this country, but also Europe's dependence upon American markets for products needed during the reconstruction era, and it is significant that the export call is already expanding in many quarters.
> The result of the enlarging home and foreign demands is clearly seen in the increasing scarcity of supplies of various articles, notwithstanding the rising tide of production, and reports of goods being virtually withdrawn from sale are becoming more common as manufacturing capacity is engaged farther ahead and still higher prices appear inevitable. Remarkably heavy bank clearings continue the rule in almost all parts of the country, the total this week at sixteen of the principal cities in the United States amounting to $6,903,659,627, an increase of 18.1 per cent. over those of this week last year and of 42.3 per cent. as compared with the same week in 1917.

Bradstreet's says:

> Trade currents are very strong—broader and deeper, indeed, than at any time since this country entered the war—collections leave very little to be desired, and crop prospects, taken as a whole, are better than a year ago. Manufacturing and industry, it is true, lack the appearance of feverish activity of a year ago, when war demand was supreme; but with allowance made for the fact that demand today is purely for peaceful purposes, the industrial situation, barring some sporadic strike symptoms, is really excellent. There are, indeed, evidences that in wearing apparel (including shoes), jewelry, furniture and household furnishings, agricultural implements, lumber, and a long list of other products used in everyday life, demand is treading close upon, if not actually passing, supply.

BUSINESS RECORDS

In Town.

ED. REMUS & CO., INC., importers and exporters at 25 Church Street.—Judge A. N. Hand appointed Einar Chrystie receiver on the application of Zalkin & Cohen, attorneys for Charles M. Riedell, a stockholder, and Secretary of the Creditors' Committee. Liabilities are $187,710, and assets, $215,178; surplus, $17,468. The company claims to be solvent, but unable at present to meet maturing obligations. A committee of creditors was appointed recently by banks to protect the company. It owes $173,630 to twelve different banks, which hold as collateral $192,005. Ed. Remus, the President, went to France in February to straighten out affairs in that country and to obtain further business, and expects to sail for New York on July 5. His brother said that sufficient capital will be brought in to pay off all obligations and to continue business. Later in the day a petition in bankruptcy was filed against the company by these creditors: Mart Waterman & Co., Inc., $2,000; Gerhard & Hay, Inc., $10, and Norwegian-American Securities Corp., $10.

KLEIN LEGGING CO.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Samuel and Joseph Klein, doing business as the Klein Legging Company at 822 Broadway, by these creditors: J. E. Murgett & Co., $547; S. Meltzer, $400, and Moe Heller, $100. Liabilities are $20,000 and assets $8,000.

BENJAMIN SCHILLER, jobber in woolen goods at 123 Hester Street.—Two petitions in bankruptcy have been filed against him, one by these creditors: George Schinberg, $500; Harry Brinn, $500, and J. Einhard, $500. The other by these creditors: Daniel Getz, $526; C. Conowitz, $1,152, and F. Neider, $750. It was alleged that on June 20 he made an assignment to Maurice L. Shaine for the benefit of several creditors and to Solomon Brinn for the benefit of all the creditors, the true facts of the assignment being unknown to the petitioning creditors. Liabilities are $60,000 and assets $20,000.

SIDNEY MARKS, a salesman, of 580 West 172d Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $1,100 and no assets. Of the liabilities $900 is to Julius Baskin on notes given for the purchase of a moving picture house at 1,045 Westchester Avenue.

ARTHUR BEREL, Jr., a salesman, of 630 West 172d Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $5,625 and no assets. The largest creditors are Hill Brothers of Norwich, Conn., $5,000.

PHILIP ATKINS of Hunter, N. Y., manager of a restaurant, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $2,494 and no assets. There are six creditors in New York City.

LOUIS GOLDSTEIN, dealer in plate glass and mirrors at 231 and 233 Bowery, has filed schedules showing liabilities of $15,004 and assets of $23,487, consisting of stock, $2,520; accounts, $20,633; trucks, $150; cash in bank, $127, and cash on hand, $7.

NATIONAL SECURITIES CORPORATION.—Deputy Sheriff Murray sold at auction yesterday the right, title, and interest in securities of the par value of $18,398,400 under an execution against the National Securities Corporation in favor of the Bankers Trust Company. The purchaser was the Power Securities Corporation. The sale included 149,984 shares of the common stock of the Idaho Power Company, par value $14,988,400; 1,500 shares of preferred stock of the same company, and 500 shares of the Electric Investment Company, $50,000.

Weekly Failure Report.

Bradstreet's reports 112 failures in the United States during the week, against 91 for the previous week, and 180, 290, 248, and 292 for the corresponding weeks of 1918 to 1915. The Middle States had 20, New England 15, Southern 20, Western 36, Northwestern 10, and Far Western 11. Canada had 5, against 11 for the preceding week. About 89 per cent. of the failures had less than $5,000 capital, and 7 per cent. had from $5,000 to $20,000 capital.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Trading Expands and Prices Rise When Call Money Rates Go Lower.

Money rates on the Stock Exchange came down yesterday, and the stock market, possibly in celebration of this fact, improved both as to volume and the movement of prices. Trading quickened so much that the total turnover amounted to 1,208,000 shares, as compared with only 832,000 shares the day before, and the market developed some good advances, which, however, were mostly confined to the popular industrial specialties, a dozen or so of which scored gains ranging anywhere from 3 to 8 points. The market was what professional traders call "spotty," for the great bulk of the activity was held within a rather narrow list, and while there were times when stocks looked particularly strong, there were others when conditions did not appear so favorable. Perhaps it might have pleased the general run of brokers more if interest had been more diversified, with fewer evidences of organized action in particular stocks and more signs of public interest.

As for the ease in money rates, that was explained by bankers, who pointed out that the banks had put themselves in funds to meet the month-end requirements on Monday and were simply allowing the money to find occupation over Sunday by lending it in the demand market. If that proves to be the case then money rates on Monday should be high, or at least higher than they were yesterday, and it is doubtful if the supply at the beginning of next week is as large as it was yesterday. The idea that all possible money stringency has been averted is not generally entertained by those who should know most about the situation, and, in fact, there are many who are convinced that the era of cheap money on the Stock Exchange has passed, not to return for some little time.

There is a chance, of course, that there will be some easing directly after the first of the month. The corporate requirements for June 30 and July 1 will be only temporary and within a very few days most of this money should be back in the banks, whether it is respent by those who receive it or is deposited by them and redeposited by others. Also it is pretty well established that the Railroad Administration will meet its July 1 obligations in cash instead of in warrants, and it is also believed that the administration will liquidate some of its back debts, too. This should make for more plentiful money stocks in the banks because the railroads are very apt to pay off bank loans as soon as they are put in funds. But whether all this will operate to lower materially collateral demand loan rates is another matter. Many bankers believe it will not, that collateral loans will not again be negotiated at low rates for some time, or until a rather long list of other demands are satisfied.

News developments included numerous highly favorable crop reports from unofficial sources. The crop situation is likely to attract more attention for the next month or so than it has been receiving thus far this season. The important Government reports will be out early next week, and it is possible that the stock market may receive some stimulation from these displays, although it would be somewhat unusual for it to do so this early. However, with the heroic speculation beginning to lag the professional accelerators may endeavor to make use of prospective bumper crops to revive the popular demand for stocks.

The weekly reviews of trade were again very enthusiastic, using even more glowing terms of description than were used last week and predicting a tremendous wave of activity as soon as the Peace Treaty is signed.

Exchanges moved more in favor of the Allies yesterday after several days of movements against them. This probably reflected only the shifting technical position, just as it has been doing recently. The neutral exchanges also improved slightly, but not enough to cause comment and hardly enough to make noticeable quotable differences.

Trading Calm on Paris Bourse.

PARIS, June 27.—Trading was calm on the Bourse today. Three-per-cent. rentes were quoted at 62 francs 40 centimes, exchange on London at 29 francs 79 centimes, and the five-per-cent. loan at 88 francs 45 centimes. The dollar was quoted at from 6 francs 45 centimes to 6 francs 50 centimes.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Ford Stock Being Sought.

Reports from Detroit are to the effect that there is inquiry for minority shares of the Ford Motor Company, the statement that this is true being attributed to one of the Directors. There have been many rumors here that General Motors had been endeavoring to purchase the Ford Company. Each time, however, the rumor has been denied. If there is an endeavor to accumulate minority stock it may mean that the step is paving the way for a purchase of a controlling interest or perhaps absolute ownership. Henry Ford is at present the majority stockholder while among the minority holders are several who broke away from the Ford Company several years ago. General Motors is looked upon as a logical purchaser of the company, and the reports of negotiations persist despite denials. The increase in the capital of General Motors, it is pointed out, could not have been undertaken with any other end in view than increasing the scope of the organization.

Easier Money Rates.

The easing in money rates yesterday was sufficient to demonstrate that the buying power of the market has not yet been exhausted. Prices were run up quickly, some stocks, such as Tobacco Products, attaining new high levels. There was a disposition to consider that the easing of money rates indicated that retrenchment for the July 1 requirements had been completed, and that from now on there would be no return to the 10 and 15 per cent. rates. It was quite overlooked that the warning against wild speculation by the Federal Reserve Board was still a market factor. The first money stringency was termed artificial and if that be true it proves beyond question that the Federal Reserve Board is in position to enforce its recommndations as related to the money market.

Du Pont Investments.

Ever since the acquisition of a large block of General Motors stock there have been rumors that the du Ponts were associating themselves with other companies. Yesterday United States Rubber was mentioned as one of these. This was apparently for no other reason than that the movement of the stock to as high as 132 is explainable by no ordinary formula. Good earnings and large assets behind the common would presumably long since have lost their efficacy as market influences. Rubber as yet pays no dividend, and the initial one, whenever that is declared, will have to be large to warrant a price of more than 130. There seems to be no definite information on the subject of whether the du Ponts are buying United States Rubber. It is not illogical on the other hand, to consider that some of their surplus funds might find their way into this issue.

Copper Shares Strong.

Nearly all of the copper issues were in demand yesterday with Cerro de Pasco the leader. This issue has been quite in the limelight for the last three days, the gain having amounted to something in the neighborhood of ten points, which is quite a substantial move considering the relatively quiet tone that has prevailed throughout the copper group. The chief interest in Cerro de Pasco is that it is a low cost producer because of the high content of silver in the ore, which it is said almost pays for the cost of mining operations. The improved price for copper has been the signal for some buying of the copper stocks. Memory does not always recall that there is a big stock of metal on hand, taken out of the ground at high cost, which must be disposed of before there can be an increase in production from the present level.

A Future Possibility.

Local shipping men received the report from Washington that the deliveries of vessels to the United States Shipping Board in this month neared the 100 mark without particular surprise. This, they say, is an indication of the actual productive power of the shipyards of the country, and should result in the United States Merchant Marine assuming the future leadership of the world. At the same time, they assert that remedial legislation, which will allow a fair return on the money put into ships, is vital to allow the expansion of the American Merchant fleet on a proper scale.

This Port Gains Trade.

The lifting of shipping restrictions, and the return to more normal port conditions in New York Harbor, are showing their effect in the recovery by this port of a fair share of the losses it suffered last year in the handling of foreign commerce because of the war. In 1917 about half of the total foreign commerce of the country was handled through the Port of New York, but this fell off considerably in 1918 when the Government diverted a large tonnage to other Atlantic Ports in order to prevent a general tieup here, as well as to meet the labor troubles of last Winter. That diverted traffic is apparently returning to New York, and it is estimated conservatively that half of the foreign commerce of the country is now being handled through New York Harbor.

A Prosperity Indicator.

That the American shipping world sees prosperity ahead and believes that the Government will adopt a policy which will allow continued expansion of our merchant marine, and that shipping is prosperous is indicated by the fact that for the first time since the membership of the New York Maritime Exchange has been limited to 1,200 members premiums are now being paid to obtain memberships. Applicants have to bid against each other and the membership price now has been established at the $200 mark.

The Equipment Trust Plan.

The Car Allocation Committee of the Association of Railway Executives met yesterday and decided to mail copies of the plan presented to them by the special committee of bankers, of which Jerome J. Hanauer of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., is Chairman, to all of the member roads. It is understood that Director General of Railroads Walker D. Hines has received a copy also and that the text will be made public as soon as the Railroad Administration reaches a decision upon the matter.

Back to 1,000,000 Shares.

In the early trading in yesterday's stock market it appeared as if most of the activity was for the professionals, but later on the public came back again and the closing hours were sufficiently busy to swell the total sales for the day to more than 1,208,000 shares as compared with considerably less than 1,000,000 shares on the two preceding days. The resumption of trading on a broad scale was attributed in some quarters to easier money, but others who have recently been in the Middle West and the South were inclined to believe that a great deal of the buying power is out of town. They say that the Middle West particularly is especially interested, and that when the farmers begin to market their crops the supply of funds will be increased. One man who has just returned from a trip through Iowa, Indiana, Illinois, and Ohio said yesterday that in those States the speculating fever was continuing to grow.

Railroad Shares Dull.

With the exception of a continuation of the selling in Baltimore & Ohio which forced the issue down for a further net loss of more than 2 points yesterday and an advance of more than a point by both New Haven and Texas & Pacific, the railroad shares were very dull throughout the trading session. Gains and losses were mostly fractional and individual turnovers with few exceptions were for only a part of the usual volume of business.

TO WORK TEXAS OIL LAND.

Incorporation of Simms Petroleum Company of Delaware Announced.

The incorporation of the Simms Petroleum Company of Delaware was announced in the financial district yesterday. The new concern will have a capital of 500,000 shares of stock, of no par value, of which 425,000 shares will be issued immediately. It has no bonds nor preferred stock. The company owns the entire capital stock, excepting Directors' qualifying shares, of the Simms Oil Company of Texas, which owns more than 420,000 acres of oil lands in that State, many of which are located in the Ranger oil field. Knauth, Nachod & Kuhne have formed a syndicate to underwrite 144,000 shares of stock of the new company, and the proceeds of the sale will be used for development purposes.

Harry Bronner, President of the Missouri Pacific Railroad, will be the Chairman of the board of the new concern and E. F. Simms, Vice President of the Sinclair Gulf Corporation, will be its President. Mr. Simms obtained the leases held by the Texas corporation. Both he and Mr. Bronner will also be Directors in the company. Other members of the board will be Frank H. Bethell, Vice President of the New York Telephone Company; Edward Cornell, O. L. Gubelman, S. T. Morgan, Henry Oliver, William H. Reid, Frederick W. Scott, John T. Scott, Finley J. Shepard, Ernest Stauffen, and John J. Watson.

Mr. Simms has been identified with the development of Texas oil fields for more than twenty years, and was the organizer and President of the Freeport and Tampico Fuel Oil Corporation, which was later merged into the Sinclair Gulf Corporation. He is also President of the Freeport Sulphur Company and the Universal Sulphur Products Company.

The leases owned by the Texas Corporation are located in twenty counties in that State and were acquired chiefly in 1917 and 1918. Geologists' reports on the property are stated to be favorable.

BIG WHEAT CROP IN KANSAS.

State Secretary of Agriculture Puts It at 229,665,000 Bushels.

TOPEKA, Kan., June 27.—The Kansas Winter wheat crop, now being harvested, was estimated at 229,217,000 bushels in the monthly report issued today by J. C. Mohler, Secretary of the State Board of Agriculture. This is an increase of more than 11,000,000 bushels over Mohler's May report, and it is approximately 33,000,000 bushels greater than the last Federal monthly report.

Today's report on conditions found on June 21 forecasts an acre yield of 19.8 bushels as compared with 20.1 bushels, the May estimate.

For the first time an estimate is placed on the 1919 Spring wheat in Kansas, which is estimated to yield 448,000 bushels, bringing the total all wheat yield of the State this year up to 229,665,000 bushels. The report adds:

"The total production promised this year is nearly equal to the State's three wheat crops of 1916, 1917, and 1918, combined, and is 48,292,000 bushels in excess of the State's yield of 1914, which has stood until now as the record crop of any State in the United States."

The condition of the crop based on 100 per cent. of normal is given as 92.4 per cent., a decrease of 5.6 per cent. during the past month, due to excessively hot weather.

COTTON AT NEW HIGH LEVELS FOR SEASON

BIG BUYING AT THE START

Prices in Orderly Decline Toward the Close—Weather News in Favor of the Bulls.

Another big bulge in the cotton market yesterday morning carried the list up to new high levels for the season and took every option as far distant as January up to or above the 34 cent price. This is the first time this year that futures have sold as high as 34 cents, although New York spot, which reacted 20 points yesterday, sold within 5 points of 35 cents on Thursday. In the afternoon, after the high records had been established, profit-taking on rather a large scale brought about a reaction which took the new crop months back to about Thursday's closing and at the end of the day these contracts were 5 points down to 2 points up. July finished down 25 points on the day.

Big buying set in at the start and quotations on the first call showed advances ranging from 5 points in July to 23 in January. After that throughout the morning the market continued to advance, going up for net gains of 62 to 73 points for the new crop months, while July, of the old crop, lagged behind. There were few if any notices against July moving, but the option held back on the morning rise, being crossed for the first time by October, while December sold within 10 points of the July high.

In the afternoon the high prices attracted a good deal of profit-taking, and some sales were reported for Liverpool account. Between the two the market was forced down to about Thursday's closing level, but the decline was very orderly and did not affect the market's undertone. The close was at or very close to the low prices of the day.

The weather news was again all in favor of the bulls. There were heavy rains over Georgia and Texas and unfavorable weather elsewhere. Publication of three private crop reports also helped the bulls. The Jay report made the condition 69.9, while the Norden report placed it at 71.6, the highest of any of the unofficial reports. The Southern Products Company, which came so extremely close to the Government figures last month, made the condition 69.5, the lowest of any thus far, and gave rise to a general revision of the estimates of what the Government report will show on Tuesday. At the close last night, most trade and market authorities were predicting a figure of anywhere from 69 to 70.

Exports for the week were large, totaling 110,360 bales from all ports. This is below the total for last week, when 157,741 bales went forward, but was considered an entirely satisfactory total.

Yesterday's quotations follow:

Receiver of New York Railways Company Files Application with Service Commissioner.

ASKS FOR PROMPT ACTION

Charge Would Be Made at 99 Points, with Estimated Revenue of $900,000.

The expected application of Job E. Hedges, receiver of the New York Railways Company, to the Public Service Commission for authority to charge 3 cents for transfers was received by the commission late yesterday. At the hearing before Federal Judge Mayer on Wednesday on the question of separating the Eighth and Ninth Avenue lines from the system because of failure to pay the rentals, the statement was made that if Public Service Commissioner Lewis Nixon granted the company permission to charge 3 cents for transfers the revenues of the company would be increased about $900,000 a year. This, it was asserted, would go a long way toward solving the problem of operating the company's lines at a profit instead of at a loss.

It was also said that Mr. Nixon had written to Mr. Hedges to the effect that hearings would be given on an application for permission to charge for transfers, and explained the delay of the former commission in acting on the matter to the unusual conditions caused by the war. While Mr. Nixon has not expressly said that he would grant such an application, the intimation has been that he would rather help the various railroad corporations in the city to earn enough to pay operating expenses than to see them fall below the point of being able to provide adequate service to the public through lack of means to keep the property in good condition.

In his application, Mr. Hedges asks for the privilege of charging 3 cents for transfers at ninety-nine transfer points, which would leave only fourteen points where free transfers would be given. These fourteen are those prescribed in the franchises and cannot be abrogated without the consent of the Board of Estimate.

Mr. Nixon set the first hearing on the application at 2:30 o'clock on Monday afternoon. In his application Mr. Hedges says:

"The statement of earnings for the past six months, now in the hands of the Receiver, shows the existence of an emergency which is likely to entirely disintegrate the property unless some relief is at once afforded. The whole purpose of the application would be defeated unless the relief requested be given without the delay attendant upon such proceedings in the past."

The brief accompanying the application says that the Commission has power to grant the authority asked for, and then it reads:

"If a charge of 3 cents were made at these ninety-nine points, it would produce a revenue approximating, but not exceeding, $900,000. * * * If this additional maximum of $900,000 were obtained, the total income of the New York Railways System above operating expenses and taxes, and disregarding all reserves for surplus or contingencies, and disregarding all fixed charges, would amount to not exceeding $1,300,000 per annum."

Figures in the application show that the average rate of fare actually received by the company during the four years up to the close of 1916, owing to the fiving of free transfers, had been materially reduced, and from the standpoint of cash each individual line of the system represented a cash fare of only 3.49 cents received from each passenger.

For the six months ended March 31, 1919, the system earned only $180,000 above its operating expenses, the application says, without any allowance for reserve or fixed charges. It also says that while there has been an appreciable increase in passenger traffic in recent months, this increase has been more than offset by increases in operating expenses. On its constituent lines, the application says, the company has fallen many thousands of dollars short of earning its fixed charges.

Defer Interest Payment.

Interest due July 1 on the bonds and mortgages of the surface lines of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company's system will be deferred for an indefinite period, it was said yesterday. The interest, totaling something more than $900,000, would probably be paid in three months, it was stated, or the payment might be deferred for a longer period. The surface companies which will defer the interest payments are the Brooklyn Heights and the Brooklyn City, which will owe about $450,000 on July 1, and the Nassau Electric, the Brooklyn, Queens County, and Suburban, and the Coney Island and Brooklyn, which will owe about the same amount of interest.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE

There was a heavy demand for the industrial issues on the Consolidated Stock Exchange yesterday. A further rise in the metal price brought brisk bidding for all the copper properties, on which Cerro de Pasco moved up 4¼, Utah 2¼, American Smelting and Refining 2¼, Inspiration 1⅛, and Anaconda 1. Steel trade advices brought material advances to those issues. Crucible moved up 3¼, Colorado Fuel and Iron 1¾, Republic Iron and Steel 2½, and Bethlehem Steel B 1¼. Tobacco Products, on a rise of 5½ to 112¾, entered new high ground for this year, as did United Cigar Stores at 169¾. Studebaker improved 3⅞ and General Motors 3, while Pierce-Arrow was offered down 3¼, with a later rally. Texas & Pacific advanced 2¼, Brooklyn Rapid Transit 1¼, and Third Avenue 1¼, while Baltimore & Ohio receded 1⅛. Mexican Petroleum, among the oils, rose 3¾, while Royal Dutch of New York was bid up 1¼.

The meaning in United Retail Stores CORPORATION

In May and June, 1912, Dow, Jones & Co. in its financial news bulletins and The Wall Street Journal expounded the principles under the UNITED CIGAR STORES CO.

Retail Stores as Investments

(From The Wall Street Journal and Dow, Jones & Co. Bulletins, May 20, 1912.)

Until recently railroad transportation was the expanding business of the United States, absorbing the major portion of the accumulating investment funds of the country. Now capital is turning steadily to industrial enterprises.

President Whelan, of the United Cigar Stores Co., to which the Supreme Court has just given a clean bill of health by forcing out the American Tobacco Co. and twenty-eight codefendants from ownership therein, tells his friends that manufacturing and retailing are the only lines left for profitable enterprise.

He has backed his opinion with his fortune and purchased from the defendant litigants all their remaining United Cigar Stores Co. shares at under $200 per share, thus assuring himself practical control of the business he has been all his life developing.

What his profit in the future may be is not of such general interest as is a valuation of the business principles which enable this company to cut the prices of standard goods 15 to 20 per cent., proclaim that a nickel in the dollar is all the retail profits it seeks, and yet maintain the faith that retailing is to be in this country one of the great bases for investments.

United Retail Stores

"Retail business is the biggest business in the world," said George J. Whelan in May, 1912, as he landed from the Lusitania after a four-months trip in England. During this trip the cables were kept warm and his interests in United Cigar Stores were very much increased as the decision of the Supreme Court dissolved its conection with the American Tobacco Co.

In June, 1912, Dow, Jones & Co. and The Wall Street Journal and their allied financial publications expounded the principles underlying the organization of the United Cigar Stores Co. The stock was then selling at under $210 per share. Soon after it sold at $260. Later each stockholder received in reorganization three shares for one.

The quotation of United Cigar Stores made this month of $167 per share means $501 per share for the old stock upon which present stockholders are receiving $27 per share as formerly held. Through peace and war it has maintained and increased its dividends.

The proposal now under consideration is to enlarge the scope of the organization, give two shares for each present share outstanding and still further solidify the investment base under the concern.

To this end, United Retail Stores Corporation has been organized, and George J. Whelan, James B. Duke and their associates have initially paid in $70 per share in cash for the first 50,000 shares of the new company. The capital is to be expanded by the issue of two shares for each of the 270,000 shares of United Cigar Stores stock and possibly later the holders of $4,500,000 United Cigar Stores 7% preferred stock will be glad to exchange for Retail Stores share for share.

The new stock will have no par value. There will also be issued founders' stock to take the place of the present bonus plan in operation in the management of United Cigar Stores.

This plan is novel and is destined to attract wide attention. It is in effect a profit-sharing plan for those who are expected to build up and expand the organization and continue with it. The stock will be sold to such at $5 per share and it will receive the regular dividends paid upon the other shares. But employes can not sell this stock except to the company, which will buy the same in the event of the death of the beneficiary, paying therefore the market price of the regular stock and also for any value shown in such shares above the market price.

This plan gives the beneficiary immediate insurance valuable to his family or his estate. It is in effect his contract and bonus. If he received this stock under contract and paid therefor $5 per share and died the next day, his family or estate would immediately receive for each share $100, if that was the market price for the vendable shares.

His incentive is therefore to upbuild the trade and goodwill of this company and give value to these shares quoted this week at $84 and which are expected to be in the future steadily appreciating premium certificates.

United Cigar Stores will keep its trade-mark and organization and as such will seek to secure more than its present $65,000,000 gross of the $1,200,000,000 tobacco business in this country.

But the interesting feature of the new organization is that the United Cigar Stores becomes only one branch in the general plan of the Retail Stores organization, which proposes unlimited expansion in the general retail business.

United Retail Stores Corporation is organized to hold and develop companies with valuable going trade-marks.

The fundamental principle of the new concern is that it will never buy a business without the men, the organization and value in the same with trade-marked and popular articles.

It will also have the same principles as those underlying the success of the United Cigar Stores. It will not be a promotion to be floated. It is to be directed and managed by the men who have their fortunes and their future in it.

It has been the life ambition of George J. Whelan to expand into a larger retail organization. It is the present ambition of James B. Duke—for whom increment of wealth can hold little attraction—to wrestle with the problem of distribution of goods with reduced cost to the consumer.

Mr. Whelan and his family propose to turn into the new company 65,000 shares of United Cigar Stores stock and take 130,000 shares of the new Retail Stores Corporation, and he believes in so doing he is perpetuating and enlarging his life work and giving continuity to the same upon an investment basis.

Indeed, he has expressed a desire that as United Cigar Stores disappears from Wall Street, so in time may the shares of the Retail Stores Corporation disappear from Wall Street and represent entirely a business investment proposition managed by the workers and largely owned by them.

The United Cigar Stores never had a director that was not a worker in the concern and Whelan and Duke will be the leading workers in the new Retail Stores Corporation.

The United States offers no sport for rich men like that of business development and the expanding of industrial and merchandising organizations building for the workers, the consumers and the investors.

The real estate department, with its success in selection of locations, was fundamental in the success of United Cigars. Business location, trade-marks and brain organizations are expected to continue its success in the new United Retail Stores Corporation.

It is just such careful financial news presentations and studies in values—and the business principles that make values—that have advanced the Dow, Jones & Co. financial bulletins and The Wall Street Journal to their present commanding position as the leading collectors and distributers of financial news in the United States.

While the Dow, Jones Electric Page Printer flashes the news by which financial centres all over the country are quickly informed on passing events, sound finance is not built from flashes, but from steady reading of the Dow, Jones & Co. bulletins, which go to make up The Wall Street Journal and constitute the investors' guide in finance.

The Dow, Jones & Co. bulletins and The Wall Street Journal should be daily read and studied by every man who hopes to be an intelligent investor.

These give all the facts and factors upon which fortunes are founded, and where these facts and factors are ignored, overlooked, forgotten, or not studied, fortunes are lost.

REAL ESTATE FIELD

Edward Margolies has purchased from Lewis Cass Ledyard, Jr., and the United States Trust Company, as trustees for the Livingston estate, the property at 309-311 Fifth Avenue, on plot 56 by 150 feet. It is on the east side of the avenue, south of Thirty-second Street. The transaction foreshadows the erection of a sixteen story loft building. Herbert A. Krapp, as architect, is preparing plans. The building is expected to be ready for occupancy next Spring.

The property is assessed at $450,000, and the selling price was close to that figure. It was an all cash transaction. The plot was assembled by the late Johnstone Livingston, who acquired it in 1899. Jay A. Lee and Pease & Elliman were the brokers.

Jay A. Lee and Pease & Elliman were the brokers.

Sale on Broad Street.

An important purchase involving about $250,000 in the financial district, where there has been a strong investment market for several months past owing to the lack of office room, was made yesterday by Frederick Brown, operator.

The property, which was sold by the United States Trust Company, as trustee for the Stevens estate, is known as 62 Broad Street. It consists of a four-story building, on a plot containing 8,650 square feet, located just north of the Morris Building, at the northwest corner of Broad and Beaver Streets. A resale of the property is reported to be pending to a well-known Stock Exchange firm. The Charles F. Noyes Company negotiated the sale.

St. Bartholomew's Church Sold for $1,500,000.

The Fifth Church of Christ, Scientist, has purchased St. Bartholomew's Church, at the southeast corner of Madison Avenue and Forty-third Street, for a consideration said to be about $1,500,000.

Albert G. Milbank, as counsel to the Vestrymen of St. Bartholomew's, closed the transaction. The church structure, which is one of the most famous on the east side, has been on the market for many months, and has been reported sold on several occasions.

It is understood that the buyers will improve the site with a handsome new church edifice.

A Partner in Two Deals.

Harris and Maurice Mandelbaum resold the Hague dwellings, a seven-story apartment house, 100 by 100, renting for $22,000, at 547 Riverside Drive, opposite Grant's Tomb, which they purchased a month ago, to Samuel Wacht. The buyer immediately resold to an investor. Both transactions were negotiated by William S. Baker, and involved about $500,000.

Downtown Transactions.

The Burden Realty Company, Kenneth C. Newman, President, bought through Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown Company, from Samuel Wolverton, President of the Hanover National Bank, the four-story loft building at 32 East Tenth Street, size 27 by 100. Through the same brokers they bought the six-story loft building, 32 by 100, at 32 West Twenty-second Street, from the Seamen's Bank for Savings.

The estate of Isaac Stern sold the three-story building at the northwest corner of Sixth Avenue and Sixteenth Street to William Breit, the tenant in the store. Spear & Co. negotiated the deal.

The Westfall estate sold the loft building at 5 to 9 James Slip to a client for occupancy. A. W. J. Pohl negotiated the sale.

Morgenstern Brothers Buy Drive Corner.

Morgenstern Brothers Syndicate purchased from the Langhorne Realty Company, Joseph Axelrod, President, the six-story elevator apartment house at the southeast corner of Riverside Drive and 149th Street, 148 by 100, renting for $45,000 and held at $375,000. The seller took back a second mortgage of $80,000 for ten years. This is the first sale of property since completion. Henry J. Kantrowitz was the broker.

Two 190th Street Apartments Sold.

Joseph Shenk sold the five-story apartment house, on plot 80 by 100, held at $110,000 and renting for $17,000, at 607 West 190th Street, to Max Cohen & Sons, through George Goldblatt Company and Kaplan & Blackner. The last-named brokers also resold for the Benenson Realty Company, 601 West 190th Street, northwest corner of St. Nicholas Avenue, a six-story elevator structure, renting for $33,000, and held at $280,000. The building is on a plot 120 by 87, and contains seven stores. The buyer is an investor.

Brown in Three Deals.

The Rockville, a six-story elevator apartment house, on plot 107 by 100, at 247 Audubon Avenue, northeast corner of 177th Street, was resold by Frederick Brown to a client of A. Arkin. The property rents for $24,198, and was held at $225,000.

Mr. Brown purchased from Francis Hubert and Christian Denhard 206, 208, 210, and 216 Edgecombe Avenue, near 145th Street, four three-story private houses, each on lot 18 by 72. W. J. Huston & Son negotiated the sale. He sold to Morris Goldstein 1,172 and 1,174 Hoe Avenue, near Home Street, a five-story flat, on plot 50 by 100, held at $65,000.

Buys Factory Site.

Ernest Adler bought from Herman Asher, attorney for Michael Goldsmith, a vacant plot, 135 by 102.2, at 515 to 529 East Seventy-ninth Street. The erection of a factory on the premises is contemplated.

Private Dwellings.

divided approximately between Grounds and Woods about 300 acres. Arable and Pasture Land about 500 acres, and rough land near the Foreshore about 300 acres.

The Estate is situate nearly midway between Kinsale and Cape Clear, and has a coast line of 2¼ miles.

The Castle is a fine building occupying a bold situation and commanding magnificent views over the Atlantic. The main part was partly rebuilt about eight years ago and the whole thoroughly modernized in all respects, with bathrooms, central heating and electric light, while the offices are complete, and the gardens and grounds inexpensive to maintain.

The Home Farm is well equipped, the engine in connection with the electric light installation driving also the Farm machinery.

The Estate is well timbered, no trees having been cut or sold during the war.

Good Wildfowl Shooting. Excellent Yachting and Fishing Facilities.

Solicitors: Messrs. WALDFORDS, 27 Bolton Street, Piccadilly, London, W. 1.

Auctioneers: Messrs. KNIGHT, FRANK & RUTLEY, 20 Hanover Square, London, W. 1.

Instruction.

TRY FOR JUNIOR ACCOUNTANCY

OCTOBER, 1919.

AND FOR SENIOR ACCOUNTANT,

OCTOBER, 1920.

October 15 to November 15 is the period during which one-fourth of the year's business changes, readjustments and building up of staffs are made.

If you have a faculty for figures and the crude stuff for the making of an accountant, there is just about time between now and October 15th this year for you, thru suitable intensive training—during your spare hours at home—to qualify for a Junior Accountancy position that will pay at least $35 a week.

And ample time to qualify before October, 1920, for position of Senior Accountant, Auditor, or Income Tax Expert, at a salary of at least $75 a week—with possibilities of more than twice that amount.

It is only a question of raw ability and industry, a resolute purpose to devote five spare home hours a week to intensive training in accordance with the most successful business-training system ever devised, under the tutelage of a corps of eminent Certified Public Accountants who are renowned as practical teachers.

We have given hundreds of ambitious, earnest men and women the start that has put them over the top, and have their records to point to with just pride. We can do as much for you if you are made of the right stuff. It is worth your while to investigate.

WRITE OR TELEPHONE FOR AN OFFICE APPOINTMENT.

Education Notes.

The Committee of the Whole of the Board of Education held a private session yesterday at which it considered the case of George J. Smith, a member of the Board of Examiners, who at the Walt Whitman Festival celebration at the Hotel Brevoort recently, introduced George S. Viereck as one of the speakers and made complimentary remarks about Emma Goldman in reading a telegram from her. The evidence in the case included the statements of two newspaper men and a speaker, and Mr. Smith's statement. President Prall will conduct a further inquiry into the facts. The case will come before the Board of Education on July 9.

Israel A. Ennis, graduating class teacher of P. S. 27, Brooklyn, has been assigned to the office of the Director of Evening Schools to assist in the organization, administration, and supervision of compulsory continuation classes under the Lockwood law. She will receive $1,000 extra pay per annum, per session, to be terminated at the discretion of the City Superintendent.

The Local School Board of District 35 reported the trial of charges of conduct unbecoming a teacher preferred against Sarah Levitch, a teacher in P. S. 145, Brooklyn, and recommended that she be dismissed from the school service. The matter was referred to Arthur S. Somers and the City Superintendent to make a report.

The Secretary of the National Education Association has asked that the Teachers' Council of this city send a representative to the Milwaukee meeting of the association, there being a desire to form a National Association of Teachers' Councils. The request was referred to the City Superintendent.

Grace Schermerhorn, Director of Cooking, has been appointed as Supervisor of Domestic Science in Vacation Schools at $8 a day for fifty days.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Pressure is low throughout the Atlantic States, and general showers occurred over this area. There were also light local showers in the lower lake region, the Ohio Valley, the Gulf States, and the Southern Rocky Mountain region. Elsewhere the weather was fair, but with general low pressure and high temperatures, except in the lake region, which is covered by high pressure and considerably lower temperatures, the fall in temperature extending into the Upper Mississippi and Ohio Valleys. With the exception of showers Saturday in the South Atlantic and East Gulf States, fair weather will prevail Saturday and Sunday east of the Mississippi River, although with considerable cloudiness Saturday in New England and the Middle Atlantic States. It will be somewhat warmer Sunday from the Ohio Valley northward and eastward except along the Atlantic Coast.

Winds for Saturday and Sunday: North of Sandy Hook, moderate to fresh northwest winds, with clearing and cooler weather; Sandy Hook to Hatteras, fresh northwest to north winds, cloudy Saturday, fair Sunday; Hatteras to Florida Straits, moderate to fresh shifting winds, with thunder showers; East Gulf Coast, gentle to moderate west winds, becoming variable, with occasional showers.

FORECASTS FOR TODAY AND SUNDAY.

Western Pennsylvania and Western New York—Fair Saturday; Sunday fair, warmer.

Eastern New York—Fair Saturday; Sunday fair, slightly warmer in interior.

Southern New England—Partly cloudy Saturday, with moderate temperature; Sunday fair, warmer in interior.

New Jersey and Delaware—Cloudy Saturday; Sunday fair, slightly warmer in interior.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at midnight, taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

United States.

The commission announces for July 17 an examination for foreman of forge shop, for men only. A vacancy at the Naval Ordnance Plant, South Charleston, W. Va., at $12.56 a day, will be filled from this examination. As an insufficient number of applications was received as the result of the examination of May 28, it is urged that parties possessing the required qualifications file applications for this examination. Competitors will not be required to report for examination at any place, but will be rated on physical ability, 10; training and experience, 90. Applicants must have had at least seven years' experience in forge shops manufacturing projectiles and minor-calibre guns, at least one year of which must have been as Superintendent or Assistant Superintendent in such shop. Applicants must show that they have had experience in selecting ingots for forging, calculating the size of ingots and weights, laying out operations of the forging of particular pieces, the designing of V blocks, enlarging bars, swedges, and special dies, and in the maintenance of steam hydraulic and hydraulic presses with a capacity of from 200 to 3,000 tons. Additional credit will be given for demonstrated experience in thermodynamics, metallurgy, and the testing of metals. Successful completion of each year of a mechanical or metallurgical engineering course in a college or university of recognized standing will be accepted as equivalent to one year of the required experience. Applicants must have reached their twenty-fifth but not their fiftieth birthday on the date of the examination.

HYLAN CRITICISES PURCHASE OF BATH

WAS SOLD FOR $200

Aldermen Approve Plan to Appoint Ten More Policewomen at $1,200 Salary.

In the discussion over purchasing a floating bath in Brooklyn at the Board of Estimate meeting yesterday, Mayor Hylan commented on the late Mayor Mitchel's administration and incidentally the Citizens Union. The former he referred to as extravagant and the latter as letting the extravagance pass unnoticed. The matter came up when Borough President Riegelmann of Brooklyn sought $7,000 in corporate stock to buy and refit a bath, $2,500 of which sum was to be used to buy the bath. President Riegelmann said that the bath in question had formerly been owned by the city but had been sold by the preceding administration for $200.

"What," said the Mayor, "Do you mean to say that we are asked to pay $2,500 for a floating bath that once belonged to the city and was sold by the last administration for $200?"

"That is exactly the situation," said President Riegelmann.

"Why didn't they give it away," inquired the Mayor. "I hope that Mr. Wallstein and the Citizens Union will take notice that the floating bath was sold by the city for $200. I wonder Mr. Wallstein, the then Commissioner of Accounts, didn't investigate the sale?"

The matter was referred to the Committee on Finance and Budget. Borough President Dowling of Manhattan, who was a member of the last administration, explained that the bath was probably sold with others because the Board of Health had forbidden bathing in certain parts of the rivers surrounding the city.

A delegation of marketmen from Washington Market and the West Washington Market appeared before the board to protest against the new rules and regulations promulgated by Jonathan C. Day, Commissioner of Public Markets. According to the new ruels permits are only granted for two weeks and rents must be paid every two weeks.. The permits may be revoked if, in the opinion of the Commissioner, public interests require such action. The matter was referred to the Committee on Finance and Budget.

On the recommendation of the same committee the board approved the request of Police Commissioner Enright for the establishment of the grade of policewomen at $1,200 a year for ten additional incumbents.

The board adjourned to meet again on July 11. "The board may meet any time it wants to," said Mayor Hylan. "I will be here all Summer. I had my vacation last February."

"Yes, I read about it in the papers," said President Frank L. Dowling.

FOCH IN JULY 4 PARADE.

Pollus Will Also Carry Flags of Regiments That Fought in America.

PARIS, June 27, (Associated Press.)—Flags of all the French regiments which participated in the American Revolution will be carried by French soldiers in the Fourth of July parade here.

The parade, in which Marshal Foch, General Pershing, and Rear Admiral Harry S. Knapp of the American peace delegation will take part, will take place in the morning. It will pass along the Champs Elysées to the Place de la Concorde. Special games will be held in the afternoon at Pershing Stadium.

On the evening of July 3 General Pershing and Rear Admiral Knapp will be the guests of honor at a dinner and reception at the Hôtel de Ville.

Sulphur Showers in the Yukon.

DAWSON, Y. T., June 27.—A sulphur-laden shower of rain, a rare phenomenon, fell over Dawson and the surrounding country last night. A 30-minute downpour left pools and sidewalks streaked with a yellow substance which chemists said was sulphur and which they believed was carried in the upper atmospheric currents from some distant volcanic eruption. A similar precipitation has been reported at Eagle, 100 miles north of Dawson, and also in Northern British Columbia.

OPPOSES FEDERAL EMPLOYMENT WORK

National Association of Managers Votes Against Present System, 371 to 34.

TO ADOPT OFFICE SYSTEM

Will Name Committee to Standardize Occupations Along Labor Department's Lines.

The Board of Directors of the National Association of Employment Managers, representing employers of 7,000,000 men and women, met yesterday at the Hotel Pennsylvania for the election of officers and the adoption of a policy. The result of a referendum among the membership as to the desirability of retaining the United States Employment Service, as now organized and operated, was announced as being overwhelmingly in the negative, the vote being 34 in favor and 371 against.

The directors indorsed the work of the Inter-racial Council, which is bending its efforts toward the amalgamation of the various races among the employes. The President was authorized to appoint a committee to standardize office employment work, and as a step in the direction of general standardization the directors adopted the descriptions of occupations as developed by the United States Department of Labor for the selection of workers during the war. These standard descriptions will be used by employment managers for the same purpose in times of peace. Another committee will be appointed to establish co-operative relations with the National Association of Industrial Physicians, the National Association of Corporation Schools, and the National Safety Council.

While the Association of Employment Managers voted against the continuation of the Federal Employment Service, it split even on the proposition that State systems of employment services be continued without direct or indirect Federal control.

The association declared itself in favor of excepting Federal Directors of Employment in each State from civil service in case employes of the Employment Service are placed under either national or State civil service regulations, and of having employes of National Employment Service selected and promoted through the use of special tests and individual efficiency and not subject to civil service.

The officers elected for the ensuing year were: President, Philip J. Reilly, Dennison Manufacturing Company, Framingham, Mass.; Vice President, John C. Bower, Westinghouse Manufacturing Company, Pittsburgh, Penn.; Secretary, F. C. W. Parker, Central Y. M. C. A., Chicago, Ill; Professor Joseph C. Willets, University of Pennsylvania; Executive Secretary, Mark M. Jones, Edison Industries, Orange, N. J.

FINISH CONFERENCE PLANS.

Community Councils to Meet at Mrs. Vanderlip's Home July 12.

Final arrangements for the peace time conference of the Community Councils, to be held on July 12 at the home of Mrs. Frank A. Vanderlip, Scarborough, were completed yesterday at a luncheon given at the Bankers Club by George Gordon Battle, Chairman of Community Councils, and William C. Breed, Treasurer, of the same organization. At the luncheon Judge Morgan J. O'Brien, Mrs. Charles Cary Rumsey, Dr. John Hillis Slaughter and Felix M. Warburg participated in the discussion. Former Attorney General George W. Wickersham will be the chief speaker at this conference, which will take up problems of reconstruction along democratic lines.

"Agitators are trying to line up the people of this country into two camps, the rich and the poor," said George Gordon Battle. "They have apparently forgotten that, so far, the greater number of people belong to the middle class, who will not line up with either the rich or the poor. As a result of this persistent class agitation this great body of human beings has suffered. It has become a buffer between two opposing factions.

"It is this vast number of men and women that community councils are now reaching and bringing into co-operative relations with the two extremes. The quiet, self-respecting and thoughtful resident of every type of neighborhood is joining with ever growing avidity the one organization that has to offer a vehicle through which local interests can be pushed on thoroughly democratic lines. It has been owing to the nature of the councils in that they form a meeting without regard to sex, class, or creed, that their success has been so great. As a result there are now eighty-two councils in New York, and new ones are in process of organization."

MAY ASK BORAH TO TESTIFY.

Creel and Others Likely to be Called in the Townley Trial.

JACKSON, Minn., June 27.—James E. Gillespie, a banker from Stillwater, Minn., testifying today at the trial of A. C. Townley and Joseph Gilbert, Non-Partisan League leaders, charged with seditious conspiracy, declared that Townley in a political speech at Stillwater on Feb. 19 of this year defended the red flag and declared that it was the emblem of the oppressed.

"He said there was a bill in Minnesota to prohibit the use of the red flag," testified Mr. Gillespie, "and he said he knew only one animal that took exception to the flag, and that animal was inclosed in a fence. He said that the Russian administration was being carried on successfully and that that was their flag.

"At this point a Russian Jew, Isadore Lott, interrupted. Lott said he took exception to the red flag statement and declared that the American flag was good enough for him. Townley replied:

"'Gentlemen, look at this man here. Is he a Russian Jew?'

"The Mayor interrupted and said: 'Yes, he is, but he is an American citizen. He has two boys in the war.'

"Lott then asked Townley: 'How many boys have you in the war?'

"Townley got off the platform and that ended the meeting."

Gillespie admitted on cross-examination that he had been a close friend of the candidate who opposed the Non-Partisan nominee at the special election.

J. W. Foley testified along similar lines.

"Townley also declared," Foley testified, "that a red flag bill had been defeated in North Dakota, where Non-Partisan League majorities are in both houses. He said that Townley stated in his speech: 'We in North Dakota are not afraid of the red flag.'"

Attorneys for the defense announced this afternoon that they had decided to subpoena W. B. Colver, formerly of St. Paul, Chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, to testify regarding the war profits of several corporations and that they are considering calling Senator Borah of Idaho, former Representative Jeanette Rankin of Montana, George Creel and Senator McLaurin of North Carolina, who heard Townley's address at St. Paul in 1917.

United States Spruce Production Corporation

SALE

TWO EXTENSIVE LUMBER DEVELOPMENTS, PACIFIC NORTHWEST, U. S. A.

A Permanent Railway System Tapping Large Virgin Areas of Timber and a Well Located Modern Sawmill of Large Capacity

The War Department, through the above corporation, organized under Act of Congress, entitled "An Act making Appropriation for the Support of the Army, etc.", approved July 9, 1918, on account of war time necessity, built railways and prepared milling facilities for the timber from two of the largest hitherto undeveloped timber areas of the Pacific Northwest, namely, Olympic Peninsula, State of Washington, and Lincoln County, adjoining Yaquina Bay, State of Oregon, including the famous Siletz Basin.

Development, at date of Armistice was advanced to such a stage that either of these properties can now be placed in complete operation, including milling and logging, in sixty to ninety days.

All facilities and structures are of highest grade, machinery of latest type and all work performed under the supervision of experienced and practical engineers, contractors, lumbermen and loggers.

Admirable climatic conditions for year around operation.

Supplemental equipment for logging and railway operation, owned by the corporation, can be acquired subject to prior sale.

Every facility for detailed inspection will be offered. Detailed plans, descriptions, etc., are available in pamphlet form with terms of sale.

Cruises, profiles, maps, ownership data, complete working specifications and master index of mill properties and machinery are available for inspection at offices of corporation at Yeon Bldg., Portland, Ore., U. S. A.

These properties will not be sacrificed nor will bids be considered for less than reproduction values.
